Vedrine Breaks the World's Record in the First Stage of the Paris-Madrid Race.

PREMIER MONIS IMPROVING

PARIS, May 22.—Notwithstanding the tragic accident that ushered in the opening of the Paris-to-Madrid aviation race yesterday, which caused the death of Henri N. Berteaux, the Minister of War, and in which Antoine Monis, the Premier, received serious injuries, the contest was continued to-day by four of the competitors.

Emile Train, whose machine was the direct cause of the disaster, retired from the race, saying he had not the heart to continue, but MM. Gibert, Vedrine, Frey, and Garros decided to continue their flights.

Pierre Vedrine arrived at Angoulême, 279 miles from the aviation field of Issy-les-Molineux, in the remarkable time of 3 hours 43 minutes, breaking the world's record for distance in a cross-country flight. The running time for the Paris-Angoulême express train is 5 hours 18 minutes.

Frey began his flight from the aviation field at 2:06 o'clock this afternoon, but only succeeded in reaching Etampes, where his machine turned turtle in a squall and plunged to the ground. Frey was not hurt. At first he had intended to retire from the contest after yesterday's disaster.

Gibert, on leaving Pontlevoy for Angoulême, lost his way and landed at Brizay, but later resumed his flight on the first leg of the course and reached Angoulême.

Garros, the first contestant to reach Angoulême, is repairing his machine for the second stage of the flight—from Angoulême to San Sebastian.

No further starters have appeared for the race, and a provisional classification has been made for the first stage of the flight to Angoulême. Vedrine is placed first, in 3 hours and 43 minutes; Garros second, 5 hours and 1 minute, and Gibert third, 8 hours and 55 minutes.

Vedrine, undismayed by his accident yesterday, when, just prior to the disaster in which the Minister of War was killed, his machine suddenly capsized and was wrecked, started again early this morning. A thick haze covered the Issy-les-Moulineaux aviation field and comparatively few spectators were on hand to witness the resumption of the race. The field looked desolate.

Vedrine at 3:30 A. M. took a preliminary flight around the field for the purpose of testing his motor, and then, at 4:11 o'clock rose high in the air and disappeared swiftly in the fog toward Angoulême. There were no acclamations when the aviator started on his flight, the people seemingly being stunned by the accident attending the opening of the event. The spectators and the judges, however, remained on the aviation field throughout the morning and received telegrams from the official timekeeprs along the route of the flight.

The judges announced that Vedrine had broken the record for the long distance cross-country flight. His time was all the more extraordinary when it was considered that the airman had made a stop at Etampes, 35 miles from Paris, to regulate his motor. Vedrine arrived at Angoulême in good condition, though he suffered considerably from the cold.

M. Garros was the only contestant, out of yesterday's four starters, to reach Angoulême that day. Gibert reached Pontlevoy, but learning of the catastrophe on the Issy field decided to proceed no further yesterday. Le Lasseur landed near Cosne, having lost his way in a fog. Beaumont descended at Azay-sur-Imbre, and on attempting to resume his flight damaged the left wing of his aeroplane by dashing against a tree.

ANGOULEME, May 22.—Vedrine, who made a record-breaking flight from Issy-les-Moulineaux to this place to-day in the Paris-to-Madrid race, brought out his machine this evening to give an exhibition for the benefit of a vast throng of persons who had gathered to witness the arrival of the aviators.

He was not successful in rising and the crowd became unruly and demanded their money back. Rioters broke the barriers and attempted to wreck the official buildings and Vedrine's machine.

It was necessary to call out the troops to rescue the members of the local Aero Club's committee, which had charge of the affair.

PREMIER MONIS RECOVERING.

News of the Death of War Minister Berteaux Still Kept from Him.

PARIS, May 22.—Premier Monis, who was seriously injured yesterday when an aeroplane, piloted by M. Train, dashed into a group of Government officials who had gathered at Issy-les-Moulineaux to witness the start of the Paris-to-Madrid race, killing Minister of War Berteaux and injuring two other men, passed a quiet night last night.

Although the Premier, who was buried beneath the wreckage of the monoplane, suffered compound fractures of two bones in the right leg, had his nose broken, and his face badly contused, and received bruises on the chest and abdomen, his condition at noon to-day was stated to be satisfactory, while the bulletin issued to-night says simply:

"M. Monis's condition continues satisfactory."

The Premier was permitted to take light nourishment to-day, and Prof. Lannelongue, at the close of a consultation, said there was no longer fear of complications.

The Premier persistently asks for news of M. Berteaux. The physicians told him this evening that the Minister of War was unconscious, and that there was no hope. The Premier was so deeply affected that it was deemed best not to inform him of the death of M. Berteanx until to-morrow.

There was a pathetic scene at the bedside of the injured Prime Minister this morning, when he received Emile Constant, Under Secretary of the Interior, and the members of his own family, all of whom extended their birthday wishes to the Premier, who was 65 years old today. M. Monis first asked for news concerning M. Berteaux. M. Constant replied that the condition of the Minister of War was grave, whereupon M. Monis murmured:

"Oh, poor fellow; we both had a narrow escape."

The disaster of yesterday has plunged the whole nation into grief, and the death of Minister Berteaux is mourned, without political distinction, throughout the republic as a National loss.

To-day the body of the Minister is ly-

THOMAS FOR NEW THEATRE?

Proposal to Become Manager Said to Have Been Made by Otto Kahn.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 22.—Augustus Thomas, the playwright, who sailed from Cherbourg for New York on the George Washington, is understood to have been offered by Otto Kahn, whom he saw in Paris, the management of the new theatre which is to be built in West Forty-fourth Street, in the neighborhood of Times Square, by the Directorate of The New Theatre, Central Park West, which was recently taken over by the Liebler Company.

Mr. Thomas is believed to have intimated his willingness to accept the present offer.

Augustus Thomas sailed for Europe a few weeks ago to take a short rest and to arrange for a London production of his latest play, "As a Man Thinks," in which John Mason is starring here. His name has not been mentioned publicly in connection with the new New Theatre heretofore.

Mr. Thomas is known in the theatrical world as an excellent stage director as well as a dramatist. He always attends to the staging of his own plays as well as to the selection of the actors. He has had comparatively few failures, especially in his later plays, and several of them, notably "Arizona," "The Earl of Pawtucket," "The Witching Hour," and this season "As a Man Thinks," have been great successes.

When The New Theatre closed at the end of the season, and the project to build a smaller house in the Times Square neighborhood was announced, nothing was told about a possible change in the active Directorate. Winthrop Ames, the Director since the Central Park West playhouse opened, has continued as manager of that part of the repertoire company that went on tour this Spring in some of The New Theatre plays.

An effort was made last night to find Clarence H. Mackay, William B. Osgood Field, Paul D. Cravath, and others of the officers and founders, but none of them could be reached. Otto H. Kahn is, of course, in France.

PORTUGUESE CRISIS NEAR.

Secret Directorate Is Said to be Arming the Monarchists.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 23.—Grave news was received in London last night from Portugal. The unrest in Lisbon and Oporto is coming to a head, and the climax is expected at any moment.

According to The Daily Mail, which has had practically a monopoly of the news of the reported plans for a Portuguese counter-revolution, the fact that there have been many arrests of important personages both in Lisbon and Oporto confirms the information received by Portuguese in London and Paris to the effect that a storm is about to burst in Portugal.

In the opinion of Portuguese official representatives in London, however, the country shows no sign of antagonism toward the republican Government. It is pointed out that the public credit of Portugal is indicated by the facts that exchange has improved and that the revenues have increased by $200,000 in the last six months, despite great remissions of taxation.

PARIS, May 22.—Private letters received in Paris from Lisbon contain the prediction that an attempt to restore the monarchy will soon be made in Portugal, probably before the elections are held.

It is asserted that the movement will be started at Oporto, the second city of Portugal in population and importance, where business is at a standstill as a result of the dockmen's strike.

While trying an accident case yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Delany Lawyer John Vernon Bouvier, Jr., had just examined Michael Graham, who was suing his clients, Graham & Chisholm. After receiving answers which seemed to satisfy him that the plaintiff had been guilty of contributory negligence, Lawyer Bouvier said, "That's all," and sat down, but immediately leaped to his feet and paced up and down the courtroom, clutching the back of his trousers.

"I object!" he said.

"To what do you object?" asked Justice Delany.

"It seems to me," said Lawyer Bouvier, "the Court House Board might spend less money on elevators and more on chairs that are fit to sit on," and he pointed to a large tack on which he had caught his trousers.

Justice Delany sustained his objection and permitted the stenographer to read the minutes of what had transpired during his first moments of discomfiture. A few minutes later, when the complaint had been dismissed, Lawyer Bouvier borrowed a raincoat and hurried from the Court House.

FAVORS GOV. WILSON FOR 1912

Gov. Shafroth of Colorado Says He Found Him Strong East and West.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22.—John F. Shafroth, Governor of Colorado, stopped over in Kansas City on his way home from Washington and New York.

"I was more than surprised to learn the real strength of Gov. Wilson," he said. "I found the sentiment drifting toward him, not only in the Middle West, which is regarded as ultra progressive, but I found he was taken seriously as a candidate in the East. The impetus of party sentiment, I should say, is certainly toward New Jersey's Governor.

"We're at a critical time in our party's history. There's a feeling of unrest over the entire country. The people want a change, and it's up to the Democrats to give them that change. That is why I say the next Democratic candidate for President will be a progressive.

"This man Wilson is a new figure in politics. They don't know just where to put him now; that is, the politicians don't. But he is getting a remarkable hold on the people. Before I left for the East I introduced him to an audience of 12,000 in Denver. That shows how seriously the West is taking him. The way he handled that rambunctious Legislature of his shows him to be a man of real ability."

CHARGE DR. GRANT RIDICULED MIRACLES

SAID MOSES HAD THE BLUES

Ananias and Sapphira Died of Apoplexy, and Abraham, Jacob, and Peter Were Liars, He Writes.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 22.—Extraordinary interpretation of the Scripture was heard to-day by the Judicial Commission of the Presbyterian General Assembly in the trial of the Rev. Dr. William D. Grant, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northumberland, Penn. Testimony taken by the Judicial Committee of the Northumberland Presbytery, which acquitted Dr. Grant of heresy, showed the minister scoffed at the idea of the whale swallowing Jonah and proposed that a prayer service be transformed into a debate upon the topic "Did Jonah swallow the whale?"

While the commission was in session the General Assembly, after hearing a report by the Board of Ministerial Relief, heard the Rev. Francis Irwin of Louisville, Ky., denounce their pension system. He said:

"It would be more charitable to take old ministers and knock them on the head when they become disabled than to starve them with the small pittance that the Board of Ministerial Relief has been giving them."

In his former trial, witnesses alleged that Dr. Grant laughed at the Biblical story of Adam and Eve, that he spoke of the story of the serpent as a fable, saying that Eve could not be tempted by the devil since no devil existed. Witnesses said Dr. Grant believes that Eve was not tempted by a serpent but by the evil within her.

That it was a "physical impossibility for Christ to have stood on the pinnacle of the temple at Jerusalem and been tempted by Satan," as related in the New Testament, was another of his statements. He is charged with having declared the topmost pinnacle was entirely too small for any one to stand on.

In commenting on the death of Uzziah, who, as told in the Old Testament, was struck dead for daring to put his hand on the Ark of the Covenant while that precious relic was being taken from the floor of Hebron to the temple at Jerusalem, Dr. Grant is alleged to have said:

> This man Uzziah must have had an aneurism of the heart or have burst a blood vessel in his head. It is not reasonable to suppose that God struck him dead under such circumstances. All Uzziah was trying to do was to prevent the sacred ark from slipping from the wagon or sledge on which it was being carried. Evidently the weight of the ark was too much of a strain and the man dropped dead.

The passage of the Red Sea by the Israelites was held by the accused minister to be no miracle, because, it is said, he held that the waters of the Red Sea part in the natural course of events every year.

Another count charges that Dr. Grant said Moses had a severe attack of the blues, when he wrote the Ninetieth Psalm, and that he would "allow no man under the spell of the blues" to influence his views of God.

In an essay entitled "Did God Almighty Strike Ananias and Sapphira Dead Because They Lied?" the minister is alleged to have written that God had nothing to do with the taking off of the liars, whose demise he explained thus in The Sunbury Daily:

> Ananias and Sapphira sold a piece of property at a price, say $500; of this they brought $350 to add to the common fund of the infant Church of Jerusalem. They wished to be credited, however, with bringing the entire $500.
> To represent Almighty God as being in a retributive way responsible for the sudden death of Aannias and Sapphira is, in my judgment, to be guilty of a sin against the Divine character greater far than the sin of falsehood with which they were charged. I would rather save the character of God than accept the judgment of Peter, Luke, and the rest.
> Thus we conclude, the deaths, occurring under such circumstances referred to, were simply ordinary cases of apoplexy or heart failure, due to the unexpected discovery of their guilt. The whole truth is, that the twain dropped dead because they were caught in a premeditated, barefaced lie.
>
> Lying! Did not Abraham, the friend of God, lie most grievously and inexcusably? Did not the patriarch Jacob lie in a manner far more heinously than did Ananias and Sapphira? Did he not willfully deceive his poor, blind father—who was God's representative—to possess himself of a paltry bit of property?
>
> And what shall we say of Peter? Whoever lied with less reason and more profanity to make his assertions appear true than this same leading apostle? If it is claimed that the infant Church needed to have been taught a lesson on the vice of lying, might it not have been enough had Peter related his own experience?

In another newspaper contribution, Exhibit B., Dr. Grant gives this explanation of his position:

> But some of those who have taken exception to my teachings are greatly exercised because it is their belief that I am preaching Unitarian doctrine in a Presbyterian pulpit. I am free to admit here in black and white, that I have indeed been preaching Unitarian doctrine, and we would be sorry representatives of the teachings of Jesus Christ if we did not do so. It has either been forgotten, or overlooked, that a good nine-tenths or more of the Unitarian doctrine is identical with Presbyterian doctrine. So, you see, I could not very well preach Presbyterian doctrine without preaching Unitarian doctrine.

The testimony of the lower court occupied 300 typewritten pages, and its reading by the Rev. Dr. Robert Hunter of Philadelphia, Secretary of the commission, required the entire day.

Among other things Dr. Grant was accused of saying that "a better Bible could be written to-day," and that "Christ was crucified in a perfectly natural manner by a mob of fanatic Jews, and did not plan his own crucifixion." Dr. Grant was accused also of denying that the walls of Jericho fell because of any intervention of God.

Another witness asserted that in making a plea in behalf of amusements for Sunday school children, he said that Mary, Martha, and Jesus "doubtless played games and danced around a little." His alleged assertion in connection with the miracle wrought at Cana that "Jesus was a liquor maker" was stricken from the records.

The General Assembly, in session on the steel pier, took most important action in regard to the overtures from the Presbyterians of Iowa and West Jersey in regard to the alleged heresy of the Rev. Drs. Francis and William Adams Brown.

Vigorous protests against having the likeness of Brigham Young appear on a silver piece that will be presented to the battleship Utah was forwarded to President Taft and to the Chairman of the House of Representatives.

A plan for the union in 1914 of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches was indorsed by unanimous vote. The plan will be submitted to the Presbyteries, and when two-thirds take favorable action it will be adopted.

COHALAN CONFIRMED BY VOTE OF 28 TO 9

Two Republicans and Insurgent Senators Support Him for Supreme Court Justice.

COL. SCOTT FOR PRISON HEAD

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—Without debate the Senate to-night confirmed, by a vote of 28 to 9, the nomination of Daniel F. Cohalan to be Justice of the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James A. O'Gorman, who was elected United States Senator. The Democratic Senators present voted for Mr. Cohalan without exception. In addition he received the votes of Senators Ormrod and Argetsinger, Republicans, who represent Monroe County in which George W. Aldridge is leader. The votes in opposition to confirmation were those of eight Republicans and Senator Duhamel, the Independence League member.

The confirmation of Mr. Cohalan was the only matter considered to-night in the Senate, where on account of the intense heat the air was stifling. After the roll had been called at the request of Senator Wagner, Senator Frawley presented the report of the Finance Committee in favor of the confirmation of Mr. Cohalan. Senator Brackett insisted that the roll should be called and the Senators were recorded as follows:

In favor—Senators Bayne, Black, Cronin, Cullen, Ferris, Fiero, Farwley, Gittins, Grady, Griffin, Harte, Long, Loomis, McClelland, McManus, Murtagh, O'Brien, Pollock, Ramsperger, Roosevelt, Saxe, Stilwell, C. D. Sullivan, T. D. Sullivan, Wagner, White, Democrats, and Argetsinger and Ormrod, Republicans—28.

There was some surprise when Senator Roosevelt, leader of the insurgents during the Senatorial fight, voted for confirmation. It had been reported that the Dutchess County representative had attempted to rally enough Democrats to defeat the appointment. Senators Stilwell and Griffin of the Bronx said they had no idea of refusing to vote for Mr. Cohalan on account of their hostility toward Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany, who is holding up the Bronx County bill. One of the Buffalo insurgents was absent, and the other voted in favor of confirmation.

The Republican Senators were disappointed over the turn of events. They had hoped the Democrats would divide on the question and that the Republicans could muster votes enough to defeat the nomination.

Early in the day Gov. Dix indicated his belief that there would be no trouble over confirmation. He declared that the indorsements of Mr. Cohalan, both from Justices of the Supreme Court and from the Bar Associations, were of an exceptional character.

"If I had never had personal acquaintance with Mr. Cohalan," said the Governor, "the quality and fervor of his recommendations and indorsements would have required attention and recognition."

The Governor to-night sent to the Senate the nomination of Col. Joseph F. Scott of Elmira to be State Superintendent of Prisons, to take the place of Cornelius V. Collins, who resigned a short time ago. The nomination, which is regarded as a good choice, was referred by the Senate to the Finance Committee.

Col. Scott is one of the most efficient prison managers in the United States. He was State Manager of Reformatories, in charge of the reformatories at Elmira and Napanoch. Since 1903 he has been in charge of the Elmira institution, and his administration has been characterized by humane, efficient, and economical management. His long experience as a prison manager has given him an international reputation. It is said that the nomination is satisfactory to the Democratic organization. Eugene A. Philbin, Jacob H. Schiff, ex-Senator W. J. Tully, and Mornay Williams of New York are among those who indorsed Col. Scott's candidacy.

Sidney Fuller Rawson of Port Richmond was nominated to-night by Gov. Dix to be County Judge and Surrogate of Richmond County to fill a vacancy. On account of the delay in filling the place Senator Bayne asked for the immediate confirmation of Mr. Rawson. The Senate rule was broken and the nomination was unanimously confirmed.

Other nominations made to-night by the Governor included that of Richard V. Lindabury of Bernardsville, N. J., to succeed William B. Dana, deceased, as Commissioner of the Palisades Inter-State Park, and George W. Perkins of Riverdale, whose term of office as a member of the same board has expired.

AGAINST DIRECT ELECTION.

No Popular Demand, Says Republican Minority in Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—No popular demand exists for a change in the Constitution so as to deprive Congress of the right to supervise the election of United States Senators. So asserted a minority of the members of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in a report filed to-day. The report opposed the withdrawal of such right of supervision from Congress as is contemplated in the plan for the selection of Senators by direct vote of the people. It was signed by Senators Clark, (Wyoming,) Nelson, Dillingham, Sutherland, Brandegee, and Root, all Republicans.

The report ignores the question of direct elections and deals entirely with that of supervision, which is declared to be the more important feature of the House election resolution which is now before the Senate on a report from the majority of the Judiciary Committee.

"The exercise of National power over the popular election of representatives meets now," it is argued, "with no objection and, under the proposed amendment, is to continue. The proposed change from legislative election of Senators to popular election of Senators furnishes no reason whatever for destroying the ultimate power of control over the election of Senators which the National Congress now has under the Constitution."

SAYS PSYCHIC PLOT SWAYED MRS. BULL

Special to The New York Times.

ALFRED, Me., May 22.—In this, one of the oldest towns in New England, one of the strangest cases in the history of will contests in this country is being fought out in the County Court.

The will of the widow of the world-famed violinist, Ole Bill, is being contested by a number of persons for a new division of the $500,000 estate. Sherman L. Whipple, a prominent lawyer in Massachusetts, who was nominated against Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, is conducting the case for those who wish to break the will. He declared to-day, in outlining his case in court, that the late Mrs. Bull was the subject of "a psychic conspiracy" for some time prior to her death last January.

Mr. Whipple declared that Miss Margaret Noble, an Englishwoman converted to the Hindu religion and now living in Calcutta, was, in his estimation, the chief factor in this conspiracy. Others in the circle, he asserted, were Dr. Boss of Indiana, a Dr. Coulter, and Mrs. Marion Daniels Briggs of Waltham. He also produced a letter in which one of the members of the "Mystic meditation ring" had written to another member, alluding to Mrs. Bull as the subject of a psychic conspiracy.

The name of Dr. Joseph Goodwin Thorp, son-in-law of the poet Longfellow and brother of Mrs. Bull, was brought into the case by Mr. Whipple, who said that Dr. Thorp knew of the conditions in his sister's household.

Mr. Whipple then asserted that a Miss Farmer lost her reason and had to be sent to an asylum because of physic over-indulgence. That several members of the circle were dropped because they had too much power, and that Swami Vivekananda, a Hindu philospher, lecturer and writer, author of "Rajah Yoga," died from excessive participation in the mysteries of the chamber of meditation. These and other beliefs and practices weakened Mrs. Bull's mind he said.

Dr. Vivekananda, to-day's testimony showed, exploited a system of breathing which if practiced regularly was alleged to lift those who used it above their fellows by increasing their occult powers. This finally entitled them to become Yogis. The evidence showed that Mrs. Bull had undergone sufficient breathing culture to rank as a Yogi and to be called "Senti Sara."

Many letters from Indiana followers of the cult were found among Mrs. Bull's papers, according to the evidence to-day, and it was said she corresponded with Hindu converts in all parts of the world. The so-called "Studio House" of Mrs. Bull at Cambridge figured largely in to-day's testimony. Many of the "mystic meditations" were held there, according to the witnesses. Dr. Thorp testified that it took ten days to overhaul and classify Mrs. Bull's private papers.

"We found papers and letters all over the house, in baskets and boxes, upstairs and downstairs," he said.

Mr. Whipple asserted that two women lived in Mrs. Bull's house in the capacity of mediums, but Dr. Thorp said he had no knowledge of it. He did admit, though, that Miss Noble called Mrs. Bull "Senti Sara." It was also learned that another member of the household was called "Yum."

FIFTH AVENUE AUTO MYSTERY

Woman Reported Run Over and Carried Away—No Trace of Her.

Two men ran up to Sergt. Rice of Traffic Squad C just as he reached Fifty-third Street and Fifth Avenue on his patrol late yesterday afternoon and told him that an automobile had run over a woman on that corner and that the occupants had picked up the unconscious woman and carried her off in the automobile.

Sergt. Rice took the men's names and addresses and got a story of the accident, which lacked all the details. They gave the number of the automobile as 19,499, N. Y.

The Sergeant reported the case to the East Fifty-first Street Police Station, and Lieut. Frank immediately telephoned to all the hospitals in the district to ask whether a woman had been taken there. None knew of the case. From Police Headquarters all the hospitals in the city were communicated with and nothing was learned.

The authorities at the Information Bureau in the meantime were looking up the car record, and they could not find such a number.

One of the informants said he was William Luts of 650 West Thirty-fourth Street. That is the address of the Theodore F. Huffman & Co. feed stable, and no one lived there. A driver from an adjoining stable said that he had heard of a man by the name of Lutz. The other man told Sergt. Rice that he was William White of 1 West 168th Street, and inquiry showed that there is no such address.

MRS. W. H. DRAYTON DIVORCED

Report That Mr. Drayton Is to Marry Mrs. Wiederseim Is Denied.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 22.—Mrs. Phoebe Drayton, daughter of Theodore Voorhees, Vice President of the Reading Railway, obtained a divorce from her husband, W. Heyward Drayton, 3d, in the Common Pleas Court to-day. The granting of the final decree follows a separation for more than two years, the grounds being desertion. Both parties are free to marry again.

Following the formal action of the court it was reported that Mr. Drayton would shortly marry Mrs. Grace Gebbie Wiederseim, the artist, who is well known by her quaint drawings of children. Mrs. Wiederseim obtained a divorce from her husband several months ago, and it is understood that the grounds in that case were also desertion. When Mrs. Weiderseim was asked about the report to-day she said:

"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that I am soon to be married. Of course, you will hear that I am from many sources, for every one knows more about my affairs than I do myself. In fact, so many persons have decided my future and have married me off that the whole thing has got to be in the nature of a joke. I have made no plans."

Mr. Drayton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drayton of Pennlyn. He and Miss Voorhees were married about eleven years ago, the event attracting much attention in the social world. They lived at Pennlyn until the separation took place, when Mr. Drayton, who up to that time had been a partner in the brokerage business with William Elkins, went to New York as the representative of the firm of Penington, Colket & Co.

PACKERS GAIN MORE TIME.

Attorneys Plead That Tobacco Decision May Help Their Case.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Judge George A. Carpenter in the United States District Court to-day granted an extension of time to attorneys for the indicted Chicago beef packers to file briefs in the latest attempt to void the Sherman anti-trust statute as to their cases.

The extension was granted after Attorneys John S. Miller and Levy Mayer pleaded that the Federal Supreme Court in its expected decision in the tobacco case might give new light on the packers' attack on the statute.

CLEVELAND, May 22.—Mrs. Tom L. Johnson, widow of the late single taxer and champion of three-cent fare, made application in the Probate Court to-day to be appointed administratrix of the local estate of her husband.

In her application Mrs. Johnson stated that there is no real estate, but that the personal property is valued at $135,000.

IRENE OSGOOD SUES HUSBAND

LONDON, May 22.—The American authoress known as "Irene Osgood," who was formerly Mrs. Charles Pigott Harvey, née De Belot, was the central figure at the Divorce Court here to-day in a suit for a judicial separation from her husband, Robert Harborough Sherard, the English author.

Mrs. Sherard testified to various acts of cruelty on the part of her husband, as well as to his intemperate habits.

The proceedings were adjourned until to-morrow.

AUSTRIANS NOT REASSURED.

Official Reports as to Emperor's Condition Questioned.

GOEDOELLOE, Hungary, May 22.—Prof. Neusser, whose arrival at the royal château here, in which Emperor Francis Joseph is sojourning, caused some alarm, is so well satisfied with the Emperor's condition that he to-day left here for the Austrian capital. His Majesty took a three hours' walk in the park surrounding the château this morning.

VIENNA, May 22.—Notwithstanding the reassuring official reports concerning the Emperor's health, there is a widespread feeling that his condition is less satisfactory than is represented.

The news that Prof. Neusser had paid a professional visit to the Emperor resulted to-day in weakness on the Börse.

NEW YORK-CHICAGO BY AUTO.

Bi-Weekly Passenger Service to be Started at Chicago To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 22.—From Chicago to New York and return by automobile is the latest transportation wrinkle. The first car of a regular bi-weekly passenger service is to leave here to-morrow morning with officials and guests of the International Motor Car Transportation Company.

The "Honeymoon Special" will be the name of one of the cars to be run to New York, and the company has high hopes of its popularity. Thirty Halliday cars have been ordered. The trip will require fifteen days, traveling on a schedule of 150 miles a day, and the fare will be $100. Arrangements have been made at the best hotels to accommodate the passengers over night, the cost being about $40.

MUST SMILE AS THEY MEET.

SIOUX FALLS, N. D., May 22.—The business men of Blunt have organized the "Happy Consolation Club," its chief purpose being to gather up and radiate sunshine and good cheer and dispel sorrow and trouble. A set of by-laws has been adopted and one rule requires members to greet other members on the street with a smile. If this rule is violated by a member he will receive nothing but an icy stare.

The club has a Worrying Committee, the members of which must do such worrying as may be necessary for the other members. A member who violates the rule in regard to meeting other members with a smile on the streets will be punished by being made a member of the Worrying Committee, and this will release from that committee one of the original members.

MEXICAN CATHOLICS PLAN TO RULE NATION

DIAZ STILL SERIOUSLY ILL

Tabasco Rejects Federal Election Law —Figueroa Still a Peril to Madero —Bandits Cause Much Trouble.

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—The six-months-old revolution in Mexico is over. It has been crowned with a complete success which even as late as six weeks ago, when I arrived here, few believed would attend it.

What was foreseen has been accomplished with great thoroughness and dispatch. What was unforeseen, the completeness of the victory and the collapse of the Federal Government, has made the work of reorganization very difficult and has placed unexpected obstacles in the way of maintenance of law and order, which it would be unwise to overlook or even to minimize. That the provisional President should not do this is a hopeful sign. To-day in a public utterance Señor de la Barra repeated what he said for THE NEW YORK TIMES several days ago: "No law-abiding citizen has anything to fear from this Government, but we will prosecute transgressors to the full extent of the law."

A sign of the times that is variously interpreted is the tremendous activity in preparation for the electoral campaign that is to follow the retirement of President Diaz and Vice President Corral and the temporary installation of Señor de la Barra as President. On all sides now are to be seen broadsides addressed to the people by would-be or actual leaders. They are widely circulated and receive attention equal to that given to the belated war news.

Enrique Delos Rios is calling the radicals of all parties to rally about him. He says that he wants in Mexico a republic so advanced that it will make the United States look mediaeval by comparison.

Catholics Working for Control.

The organization of the Catholic Party, of which Gen. Diaz always said he was afraid, is proceeding, and it is extending its ramifications to the most distant sections of the country. Gabriel Somellera, a wealthy capitalist, is the organizer of record and the nominal leader of the party. Directly behind him, however, are the prelates of the Church and the landed aristocracy—in so far as they have not gone abroad—and they have an immense following of willing or unwilling peons, who are under the influence of the bread giver and the parish priest. Another fact is that the Catholic Church in Mexico has a capital of at least $200,000,000—a larger sum than the capitalization of all the Government banks—which escaped confiscation in the days of Benito Juarez or has since been amassed. This, of course, would give the Church party a very strong position either in business or politics.

While the Maderistas—or Progressives, as their self-effacing leader would have the party called—are not resting on their laurels, their campaign organization is still rudimentary as compared with that of the Catholics. Many keen observers of this new trend of affairs to-day expressed the opinion to me that any election held in the next few months under the broader franchise and the Australian ballot, would, if fair, result in the defeat of Madero and the justification of the judgment of Diaz, who always excused delay in the extension of the suffrage by saying that he could not hand the country over to the Church party which he had fought so long.

Diaz's Condition Still Bad.

Gen. Diaz continues far from well with an ulcerated jaw and a high temperature. His deafness has so increased that it is almost impossible to communicate with him. This is by no means an insignificant phase of the situation. The Council of Ministers, held to-day, decided when his formal act of resignation should take place; also that in case he should continue to be physically incapacitated, the ceremonies would be private in his house and in the presence of a committee of Congress, law officers of the Government, and perhaps the Diplomatic Corps.

The diplomatic representatives here have held a meeting under the present Doyen, Ambassador Wilson, and measures are being concerted with Señor de la Barra so that a fitting opportunity may be given to them to express to the resigning Chief Magistrate their feelings of personal esteem and their appreciation of the consideration they have invariably received at his hands.

Bandits May Cause Protest.

The representatives of the powers are also discussing the advisability of making representations to the Foreign Office in protest against the reign of terror undoubtedly existing in some sections of the country because the banditti have shown an increase both as to numbers and audacity.

Perhaps a committee of the Diplomatic Corps will wait on the Foreign Minister, as was done when a protest was registered against the insecurity of life and property in the capital. However, as each group of Nationals is in a different situation, the representations which may be found necessary will doubtless be made singly but along harmonious lines.

News of the destructive work of bandits or revolutionists out of control comes from many quarters. For instance, fifty-six cars of the National Railway were burned at Durango, and almost as many on the Salinas branch, near San Luis Potosi. All passengers on an Interoceanic Railway train from Mexico City to Vera Cruz yesterday were robbed and allowed to proceed unhurt. This was the work of bandits.

The sensational stories with regard to the killing of Chinese and others at the taking of Torreon by the rebels are not accepted here, but information is yet scanty as to what really occurred.

The American Consul at Salina Cruz, Oaxaca, the Pacific port of the Tehuantepec Railroad, reports that the situation there is grave, but gives no details.

Cuernavaca is quite orderly under the rebels, and foreigners are reassured. As an advance on wireless telegraphy I would state that the revolutionary authorities in this city reported to me the capture of Cuernavaca five hours before they took the place, but they made good their word.

TABASCO NULLIFIES A LAW.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From Another Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—Danger to the pacification of the country has put in an appearance from an unexpected quarter in the assertion that the new election law, passed with the intention of meeting the demand for reform, is a radical violation of the rights of the States.

The Legislature of the State of Tabasco is the first body formally to set forth this idea. It has refused to ratify the bill recently passed by the national Congress. It bases its attitude on the provisions for popular election of Governors, but reserves the right to question other sections when this point shall be disposed of. This challenge of the Federal authority by Tabasco is likely to be the signal for similar action on the part of other States. Since the foundation of the republic public men have recognized that the question of the rights of the States has offered a grave danger to the stability of the nation, even under the strong centralization of power that has characterized the Administration of Gen. Diaz. There have been occasional rumblings that have warned those in power that when the question came up in earnest Mexico would be in grave danger of losing her unity. With the prevailing ideas of political freedom and exaggerated demands for reforms now permeating every class of society, the action of Tabasco offers serious possibilities.

Word has been received here that the peace agreement has been signed at Juarez, but it can be said that such an arrangement is now regarded here as having little meaning. Four months ago it is possible that it would have satisfied the country. To-day the personal factor has entered so strongly into the situation that it probably will be a case of the survival of the strongest. Hostilities may be suspended temporarily—and even that is doubtful—but, according to students of the situation, whose familiarity with the people of the country makes their opinions bear great weight, the fighting must continue among the rival leaders until it develops some strong military dictator, who, as Diaz did thirty years ago, will grasp the situation and have strength enough to force the restoration of order.

Gen. Bernardo Reyes might have been such a man two years ago; but in view of what is commonly called his "flight to Europe" he has lost the confidence of a great portion of the people. That he holds Presidential aspirations is not doubted. Even now rumors are afloat that he plans a trip across Central America and up the Pacific to the Mexican coast at a point where he will meet Felix Diaz.

Figueroa's Star Is Rising Fast.

So rapid are the changes under the new order of things that many persons are saying that the Government finds itself in the peculiar position of having signed an agreement for peace with a man who already seems to have moved from the centre of the stage, a man supposedly at the head of the revolution in Mexico, but whose efforts in the last five days to call off his warriors have been marked by a disregard that does not augur well for the peace and prosperity of the nation.

The star of Francisco I. Madero has risen rapidly, but out of the wilds of Guerrero has come another in the person of Ambrosio Figueroa, which, mounting higher and higher, threatens to eclipse the orb in the North.

When Figueroa and his army were separated from the capital by 200 miles of mountains, whose passes were guarded by numerous garrisons of Federal soldiers, it is said that Señor de la Barra was not inclined to give much consideration to the peace envoys he sent to the capital. There seems to have been no effort on the part of the Premier to conceal his lack of respect for the rather high-sounding title of "The Army of Liberty of the South."

Consequently the doughty leader, Cuernavaca, whose advance guard occupies within striking distance of the capital, is said not to look with favor on the Madero-Diaz choice of de la Barra for President ad interim. There is also in circulation a disagreeable rumor that Figueroa's peace envoys heard while in the capital whispers of proposed payments to rebel leaders who would make terms with the Government, and this talk has not set well with the mountaineers of Guerrero.

Catholics Working Quietly.

An element in the campaign, which the newspapers have already begun to discuss openly, working more quietly, but not a whit less ambitiously than any claimant for the throne of Diaz, is the Catholic Church. The only step in the open that it has been necessary to take has been accomplished in the formation of the Catholic Party and the publication of a platform providing for the closer union of Church and State. Mexico offers a great field for such a party.

In addition each day sees another political party in the field with a platform promising anything that is likely to appeal to any considerable portion of the people. Herein lies danger of continued fighting. Once promised a following, the leaders of factions may feel called upon to take up arms for their ideals of what is best for the country.

That Señor Madero has not hesitated to use his influence in governmental affairs, now that he holds the upper hand, is said to be demonstrated by the removal as Sub-Secretary of Foreign Affairs of Victoriano Solado Alvarez and his assignment to the diplomatic graveyard in Guatemala, while a strong friend of Madero, Bartholome Carbajal y Rosas, has been named for Sub-Secretary, which, under the change about to be made in the Cabinet, will practically make him the Premier.

Despite the fact that the General Amnesty bill has not yet been passed by Congress, the doors of Belem Prison and other such institutions are daily opening outward to political prisoners.

The National Bank of Mexico, in explaining its heavy shipments of specie to New York, has issued a circular in which it declares that on account of the heavy business in drafts, these shipments have been necessary.

Rebels Possess Cuernavaca.

Cuernavaca, the last stronghold of the Federal Government guarding the Valley of Mexico to the south, is now completely in the hands of Gen. Figueroa's insurrectos. The property owners, merchants, and residents generally are exceedingly relieved, for the beautiful city, with its handsome homes and splendid gardens, has been saved from disastrous assault, in which dynamite bombs undoubtedly would have played a more prominent part than rifles, with consequent havoc.

Full details of the taking of Cuernavaca reached this city to-day. A Federal garrison of almost 1,000 men, without the sound of a bugle on the roll of a drum, retreated from the capital of Morelos yesterday morning before daybreak bound for the capital. Not a policeman was left to guard the city, not an official to direct the preservation of order. Due to the peaceable tendencies of the inhabitants or the lack of general information that the soldiers had gone, however, there was no rise of hoodlums in a riot of loot.

When breakfast time came at the jail the prisoners realized that something had happened. Their noisy clamor for food did not bring forth the usual torrent of abuse. Finally a realization of truth came over them and then a riot within the jail began.

Despite the desperate efforts of the inmates, however, the bars of the prison held, and when the aroused town people, fearing the worst, brought great quantities of food to the barred windows, they perhaps saved the city from an experience such as visited Pachuca or Uruapam, for already a mob was formed outside to help force the iron doors.

Rebels Prevent Disorder in City.

While the prisoners were enjoying the best meal they had had while in jail, a messenger on a swift horse was galloping to rebels with the keys of the jail. He met the advance guard of Gen. Figueroa's army under Col. Azunzolo, who detached thirty cavalrymen and sent them on ahead to guard the jail until the others should come up. Their arrival was most timely, for a breach had been made in the wall of one department of the jail and some prisoners had escaped. Azunzolo's determined cavalrymen put a stop to an embryo riot, and order has since been preserved.

When Azunzolo himself came up an hour later with the main body of Figueroa's vanguard, the people welcomed him most ostentatiously. They packed the streets to see the rebels march by and take up their places in the barracks from which the Federals had fled a few hours before.

When Azunzolo and his staff reached the State Palace one of the first orders of the rebel chieftain was to lower the white flag the Federals had left flying from the flagstaff. As an insurrecto Captain pulled down the emblem of defeat, Azunzolo tore it from the ropes with his sword and gave its place to the national banner, which was hoisted to the head of the staff, while the people that crowded the square below went wild with excitement.

Madero Disobeyed in Coahuila.

It is reported here that Madero has had trouble in his own State of Coahuila in enforcing the armistice he arranged. Leaders Falcon and Rojas are said to have refused to observe it.

Evidence of brutality on the part of mobs who have risen at various places is coming in with alarming frequency. Federal troops are moving in several sections to prevent brigandage. Foreign lives and property generally are being respected even by the disorderly elements, but the Spaniards have suffered greatly. Although it has recovered from its first outburst of indignation, the Spanish colony here is working quietly and determinedly in an effort to influence the mother country to administer a lesson to Mexico that will make Latin-Americans respect Spaniards as much as they do Englishmen.

Garcia Topeta has been elected Governor temporarily by the Legislature of the State of Colima, which, almost to a man, has turned Maderist.

The increasing number of rebels in the vicinity of the port of Vera Cruz has caused the stationing of forces of defenders in church towers and other points of vantage.

It is reported that the garrison of Chilpanzingo, State of Guerrero, tried to escape from a force of rebels that threatened the town, but was caught at Tonalapa by its pursuers and annihilated.

Search Train for Reyes.

Passengers coming from Puebla on last night's trains were delayed on the journey long enough to hand over their valuables to a band that held up the train about midnight.

Last night the train from Vera Cruz, which would have carried Gen. Reyes had he come directly to Mexico, was stopped and searched several times by rebels, who plainly stated that he was the object of their quest. No robberies or overt acts were committed. The leaders stated that their intention was to carry Reyes into the mountains if he were found, and hold him subject to the orders of Madero.

KILLED IN TORREON NUMBER HUNDREDS

TWELVE HOURS OF LOOTING

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—Incomplete reports of conditions in Torreon are beginning to reach this city. A desperate situation is described.

The Federals defended the place with great valor for two days and nights until their ammunition was exhausted, when they evacuated the town. This was followed by twelve hours of loot and rapine before the insurrecto leaders got the situation under control.

The death list in the fighting and rioting is said to be several hundred, while the property loss will reach $1,000,000.

Great fear is entertained here for American interests at Teziutlan, Del Oro, and El Alpujahua, three highly developed mining camps which were taken yesterday by rebels. At El Alpujahua much English capital is invested in some of the richest mines in Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, May 22.—Official reports received here to-day by couriers traveling the devious trails of the plains and mountains before arriving at a telegraph station tell the story of a massacre of 206 Chinese at Torreon, following the rebel occupation of that city last week. Upon receipt of the news at the Chinese Legation the Chargé d'Affaires immediately made formal representations to the Mexican Government.

The story, as received, of the three-day battle and sacking of the city of Torreon is replete with incidents of cruelty and indicates that the rebel leaders did not hold their men in control, or that they turned them loose to prey on conquered and defenseless people. The official advices do not give the number of dead, but taking the 206 Chinese as a basis it is probable that the number is larger.

The last day of the Torreon battle was May 15. On that day Gen. Lejero retired with his Federal forces and the rebels entered the city. Citizens found themselves utterly unable to control the mob, and reports received to-day indicate that scores of innocent residents were added to the list of victims.

Always antagonistic to the yellow race, the rebels and the Federals engaged in a race riot. Part of the business of Torreon is conducted by Chinese, some of whom are wealthy, and, according to reports received, the rioters shot down or stabbed without mercy every Oriental they encountered.

That the Chinese Chargé d'Affaires will be able to get indemnity for many of the victims is doubted here, for since Sir Chentung Liang Cheng visited this country five years ago and advised his countrymen to become Mexican citizens, almost all have taken out naturalization papers.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 22.—In a desperate fight between Mexican insurrectos and Chinese at Torreon, 225 Chinese were killed, according to information received here to-day by Sam Wah, owner of the International Hotel, at Porfirio Diaz, across the river from here.

Among the Chinamen reported killed were fifty of Wah's ranchmen.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—As soon as the outrages on Chinese subjects at Torreon are officially reported to the Chinese Minister at Washington, who is also accredited to the Mexican Government, he will take steps to protest to Mexico. The Minister has already instructed his Chargé d'Affaires at Mexico City to make vigorous representations in regard to the reported murdering of eight and wounding of three Chinese at Imures, Sonora. The gardens and stores of the Chinese there were looted.

The matter was called to the attention of the Minister by Chinese residents of Nogales, Ariz., who were in communication with refugees from the scene of the butchery. They pleaded for protection for their countrymen.

No word has yet been received by the legation in regard to the reported massacre at Torreon. The State Department likewise is without advices on the subject.

Sigmund Sternau, a manufacturer, of 195 Plymouth Street, Brooklyn, in a communication to THE NEW YORK TIMES says that the Sternau who, according to press dispatches was hanged by Mexican rebels after the capture of Torreon, was one of his cousins. Two brothers, Julius and Carlos Sternau, were hotel proprietors in Torreon.

> My dear Sieg: I have not heard from you lately, but as I promised to send you some news once in a while, I am writing. The town directly across the river from where Sieg and Helene live is in danger of being attacked. From what we can learn, the forces on both sides are more or less equal. It is a good thing that the forces are a good distance from us. So far they are not near enough to affect us personally, and business has been better than usual, as people from the country, not feeling any too safe, have come in to trade with us. Then, considering that this year's crop will be good, we have no kick coming. We are in good health.
>
> Though ranches get robbed quite often, our town has been quiet as usual. Foreigners, and Americans especially, are never molested. The rebels have come with money to the stores belonging to foreigners, and have paid cash for what they needed. The constitutional Government is the same as usual, so we do not complain. Those mountaineers are great sharpshooters, and the number of their victims is said to be horrible. That is all for to-day. With my kindest regards for all of the folks, and yourself in particular, I am, yours,
>
> JULIUS.

Mr. Sternau has asked THE NEW YORK TIMES to obtain, if possible, further particulars regarding the reported murder.

MADERO IS NOW WAITING.

When Diaz and Corral Go, He Will Consider Trip to Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 22.—Francisco I. Madero, Jr., received scores of telegrams to-day from all parts of Mexico congratulating him on the signing of the peace agreement with the Mexican Government last night. He is now quietly awaiting the promised resignation of President Diaz and Vice President Corral, and as soon as these become effective he will be ready to definitely set the date for his departure for Mexico City.

Señor Madero says that he wishes it to be understood that when he does go to the capital it will be as a private citizen anxious to do all within his power to re-establish peace in his country. Whatever he does to aid Señor de la Barra in the political reorganization of the republic will be as a citizen. The so-called point regency of himself and Señor de la Barra he declares to be impossible, because it would be unconstitutional, and because "no good Mexican" would tolerate it.

According to officials of the Provisional Government, the peace agreement is being accepted by all the insurrecto chiefs in Mexico, with the possible exception of the Socialist rebels in Lower California.

Six of the men chosen for Cabinet places in the new Administration have accepted. They are Ernesto Madero, an uncle of Mr. Madero, for Minister of Finance; Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez for Minister of Public Instruction, Manuel Bonilla for Minister of Communications, Manuel Calero for Minister of Colonization and Industry, Emilio Vasquez Gomez for Minister of Interior Administration, and Vasquez Tagle, if his health permits, Minister of Justice.

Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez left for San Antonio to-night and will go on to the capital. Judge Carbajal, the Federal peace envoy, was on the same train.

Señor Madero this afternoon received a telegram from Minister de la Barra at Mexico City indicating that harmony will prevail in the establishment of the new Government. It said

> I thank you for your congratulations. I sincerely hope that with the help of all sons of Mexico, now united in the same sentiment of patriotism, the definite re-establishment of peace will proceed rapidly. I appreciate the value of your offer to co-operate with me in this great work, to which I shall dedicate my energy. It will give me pleasure to receive Senor Alfredo Robles Dominguez.

Dr. Gomez denied to-day that the insurgent leader Figueroa cannot be depended upon to carry out safeely the peace arrangement. He asserted that Figueroa was one of the best disciplined Generals in the army of the rebellion, and that Madero had assurance of his absolute fidelity and obedience.

The only disquieting reports to-day were private advices from Mexico City that members of the Cientifico party—of which Señor Limantour was the founder fifteen years ago, and Señor Corral one of the leaders—were thinking of starting a revolution. Trouble from the Cientifico element, it is admitted here, is expected, but whether it will take the form of armed revolt after Madero assumes power is not yet clear. It is not thought that the Mexican people will rally to any revolutionary movement for some time, and the opposition from the Cientificos, it is believed, really will be in the nature of vigorous political activity.

The insurrecto troops may be kept at the various garrisons in Mexico for a few months in readiness for trouble, but no definite plans along that line have been formed by Señor Madero. He intends to see that the guarantees are carried out by the installation of good Governors, and his intention at present is to keep the troops mobilized merely until complete order be restored.

DE LA BARRA THANKS REYES.

Mme. Reyes Shows Improvement, but Is Still Seriously Ill.

HAVANA, May 22.—Gen. M. Bernardo Reyes, whose journey from Europe to Mexico was interrupted here on instructions from the Mexican Government pending further developments in the Mexican revolutionary situation, to-day received a cablegram from Francisco de la Barra, as Provisional President of the Mexican Republic. Señor de la Barra extended his warmest thanks and congratulations on the excellent effect which was created throughout the Republic by the utterances of Gen. Reyes contained in the manifesto given out by the ex-Secretary of War on Saturday.

Gen. Reyes is much gratified by the success of the peace negotiations, but declined further to discuss Mexican affairs beyond saying that he recognized the authority of Señor de la Barra.

PARIS, May 22.—Señora Reyes, wife of Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Mexican ex-Secretary of War, is seriously ill at her home in Neuilly-sur-Seine, a suburb of Paris, and despite the fact that the physician, who calls twice daily, reported a slight improvement in her condition this morning, her son and daughter are apprehensive and send cablegrams frequently to their father, whose journey to the Mexican capital has been interrupted at Havana pending developments in the Mexican revolutionary situation. The malady from which Señora Reyes is suffering is diagnosed as inflammation of the liver.

The three members of the Reyes family had planned to follow the General to Mexico, but the sudden aggravation of the condition of Señora Reyes, after the departure of the General, changed their plans.

TEHUANAS RISE AT PORT.

Drive Out Officials of Tehuantepec—Salina Cruz May Be Attacked.

SALINA CRUZ, Oaxaca, Mexico, May 22.—The river port of Tehuantepec has risen in popular revolt. The jefe politico arrived at Salina Cruz to-day on foot. The other Government officials escaped. There was much shooting before the revolutionaries succeeded in getting control of the city, but the casualties were few if any.

The officers and soldiers here are on the lookout for trouble.

Tehuantepec is a river port on the River Tehuantepec, in the State of Oaxaca, and has a population exceeding 10,000, mostly descendants of Indians. It is about 350 miles to the south of Mexico City.

FIXED LUMBER PRICES.

Output Also Curtailed on Orders, Admits Secretary in Ouster Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 22.—That the big lumber companies agreed on the curtailment of production, the prices were fixed by a committee, and that printed price lists were sent to all the firms, as a means of controlling the market, were facts established to-day in the hearing of the State's ouster suit against the lumber trust. Taking of depositions in the suit began in the Southern Hotel.

The suit was filed on July 30, 1908, by Attorney General Hadley, now Governor.

George K. Smith, Secretary of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association, was asked about the world's fair meeting of the Southern Lumber Manufacturers' Association, the former name of the Yellow Pine men. The meeting, he testified, went into executive session, and the Secretary's minutes showed that "it was thought advisable to recommend to all manufacturers a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. in the output of all sawmills until such time as the demand should more nearly absorb the supply."

Mr. Smith then said he had sent out notice to all the members to reduce their output for ninety days. He said that before the expiration of the ninety-day period he sent out a notice that the curtailment should continue for ninety days more. From output of 3,500,000,000 to 4,000,000,000 feet, he said, a reduction of 5,000,000 feet was shown between June, 1904, and January, 1905.

"How many meetings of the association's price commission were held between June, 1904, and January, 1905? Were there not seven meetings held to raise prices?" he was asked.

"There were that many meetings of the commission," he replied, "at which the commission gave its opinion as to what prices ought to be."

ASKS $50,000 FOR SON'S DEATH

Edward Seaman's suit to recover $50,000 for the killing of his son, Millard Seaman, on Aug. 6, 1909, at Far Rockaway, was begun yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Goff and a jury. Jesse Ullman and Eugene Hirsch are the defendants.

Both Ullman and Seaman have Summer homes at Far Rockaway. On the evening in question young Seaman was crossing through the yard of the Ullman home and was shot. He died four days later. Ullman said he mistook the young man for a burglar. A Coroner's jury acquitted Ullman and District Attorney De Witt refused to present the case to the Grand Jury.

A petition presented to Gov. Hughes asked an investigation and as a result Ullman was indicted for manslaughter. Justice Humphries directed his acquittal when he was placed on trial. Hirsch, who is Ullman's uncle, was with him at the time of the shooting.

PENITENTIARY FOR ROWDIES.

Two Who Annoyed Passengers in Brooklyn Get Six Months' Sentences.

With the opening of the season Magistrate Geismar, in the Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn, yesterday dealt rowdyism a blow by sending two offenders to Blackwell's Island for six months each, instead of imposing the usual fines.

The prisoners were James Invetta and Samuel Lorenzo, who were arrested for insulting girls and causing a disturbance in an East New York tram car.

PARIS RUNAWAYS CAUGHT BY WIRELESS

THE MAN FEIGNED SUICIDE

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, May 22.—Leaving his hat and coat and visiting cards on a Seine bridge to make his family believe that he had committed suicide, Jean Abbadie d'Arrast, a member of one of the ancient and noble families of France, fled with Hélène Benoit, the governess of his children, and the couple were detained at Quebec on Saturday by the immigration authorities. To-morrow the authorities will decide whether the arrivals will be deported as undesirables, which, it is probable, will be the case.

The couple came to Canada on the steamship Lake Manitoba. They traveled as Mr. and Mrs. Wye, bound for Saskatoon.

When the couple disappeared the police of Paris and London were put to work by the Abbadie family. The elopers were traced to Liverpool and to the Lake Manitoba. Then wireless telegraphy made the capture certain.

Their transatlantic flight in some respects resembled that of Dr. Crippen with Ethel Clare Leneve. It was the Lake Manitoba that took Crippen and Miss Leneve back for the trial in London. The same pilot, Goudreau, who brought the Lake Manitoba up on this trip brought up the Montrose with Crippen on board.

And, as in the Crippen case, it was wireless telegraphy that settled the fate of the fugitives. They were under the surveillance of the Captain days before they landed.

Relatives of both parties are in Quebec to-day, awaiting the decision of the Immigration Department. Camille Abbadie d'Arrast is at his brother Jean's side. He has been in Canada for some years. The two brothers of Mlle. Benoit, who arrived last week in Montreal, interrupted their Western journey to meet their sister.

Mlle. Benoit is a prepossessing young woman 23 years old. She was smartly gowned in a well-fitting tailor-made costume of light brown.

Abbadie is a tall man of ungainly build, clean shaven, somewhat weak of feature, and nervous in all his movements. He has invariably worn an ill-fitting Norfolk suit and knockabout hat. The couple held themselves aloof from everybody else on board the ship throughout the voyage. Whenever they apepared on deck they drew their chairs close together and conversed in whispers. They occupied one of the best cabins on the ship.

In the immigration shed the couple were separated, and soon afterward the self-styled Mr. Wye admitted that he was Jean Abbadie d'Arrast, and that he had eloped with Mlle. Benoit, deserting his wife and seven children after depositing his hat, coat, and cards on one of the Seine bridges in order that they should believe him dead.

Abbadie on Saturday asked Mr. Hignett, the Purser of the Lake Manitoba, if he would oblige him by cashing a check for $3,000. Hignett declined to do so. The couple brought three trunks.

CHATEAUGAY AFTER ALL.

Canadians to Include the Scene in the Festival of Empire Pageant.

LONDON, May 22.—The Canadian Pageant Committee has arranged to include in the Festival of the Empire Pageant, at the Crystal Palace, the scene depicting the Battle of Châteaugay, the withdrawal of which has been much resented by Canadians.

It was announced in April that the Canadian Committee, of which Lord Strathcona is President, had decided to eliminate from the coronation programme Canada's principal contribution to the Festival of Empire pageant. This piece, which had been in course of preparation, was entitled "Châteaugay, Where Canada was Held for the Empire," and represented the defeat, through strategy, of an invading American force in the Autumn of 1813, by a handful of Canadians.

It was thought that the pageant might wound the susceptibilities of American visitors, and that it might cause feeling which would endanger the conclusion of the proposed Anglo-American arbitration treaty.

Opposition to the withdrawal of the scene was strong in Canada, and the matter was made the subject of discussion in the Dominion Parliament.

LEGLESS HEN IN COURT.

Young Woman Produces a Cackler as a Sort of Character Exhibit.

A legless hen was brought into a murder trial in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Jersey City, yesterday to serve as a character witness that a young woman in the case had blue blood.

The case, on trial before Justice Robert Carey, was that of Rosario Cinamella of 413 Jefferson Street, Hoboken, charged with the murder of Antonio Accordin of Danville, Penn., who was found dead with a fractured skull in Jefferson Street, Hoboken, on the morning of Feb. 18. Accordina had come to Hoboken in pursuit of his sister, Antonetta Accordina, who ran away from her home at Danville with Cinamella. When Accordina was found dead, Cinamella, according to the police, said to the girl:

"You will talk with your brother no more. He is dead on the street."

Hearing this, the police say, Antonetta, thinking only of the young man and how to shield him, would not go out to look at her brother.

Cinamella was arrested on suspicion, and when his case came up for trial Carmella Accordina, another sister of the dead man, was subpoenaed from Danville to give testimony. At Hoboken she learned that Antonetta had made no effort to find her brother when his death was reported to her.

When Carmella entered the courtroom yesterday she carried a small wicker basket, which she took with her to the stand when she was called to testify. There, to the surprise of all and the no small discomfiture of the learned Justice, the basket gave forth a series of loud, hysterical, and undiminishing cackles.

"Why have you brought that chicken into this courtroom?" demanded Justice Carey, angrily.

Carmella essayed to explain in Italian, but her gestures and shrill words only merged harmoniously with the cackling. An interpreter was called in to relieve the situation, and to him the girl explained.

First, though, she opened the basket and drew forth a small, legless gray hen. She explained that she had found the chicken frozen in ice and snow on the morning her brother was found murdered. She thawed it out, and thereafter, she said, she nursed it tenderly, and now it lays eggs like any other hen.

"But why did you bring it here?" asked Justice Carey.

"To show you," cried the witness at the top of her voice, "that I had real blue blood in my body when I rescued that chicken, and that my sister has nothing but white blood in her veins, as she showed when she would not go to help my poor brother when he was dying in the street!"

The character witness was removed, by order of the court. The trial will close to-day.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

TOKIO, May 22.—Mayor Ozaka to-night gave a dinner on behalf of the City of Tokio to Rear Admirals Hubbard and Murdock. The banquet was part of the programme which the Japanese authorities had prepared in connection with the turning over of the command of the American Asiatic fleet by Admiral Hubbard to Admiral Murdock.

MUENSTER, Westphalia, May 22.—A lock-out in the textile manufacturing district was declared to-day. Ten thousand operatives are affected.

MANY DIE FROM HEAT.

Pittsburg Has Thirty in Four Days and Philadelphia Five Yesterday.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 22.—All heat records for this year and for May 22 in the records of the Weather Bureau were broken at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when the mercury reached 92 degrees. The previous high mark this year was 91 degrees, on May 18. The hottest May 22 in weather records was 87 degrees, in 1884.

The high humidity and the heat caused the death of five persons, according to the Coroner's record. It was fine at 6 o'clock this morning, although a trifle muggy, but the mercury began to climb perseveringly until it had covered 21 extra degrees in six hours. In one hour, from 8 to 9 o'clock, the temperature jumped 8 degrees. In the next hour it rose only 3 degrees. Between 10 and 12 o'clock the mercury gained another 8 degrees.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—The stretch of two weeks of torrid heat was broken in Pittsburg at 6 o'clock to-night, when an electrical storm brought relief, after the official thermometer had registered 92 degrees late this afternoon for the third successive day.

The record for continuous maximum temperature for all months for five years was broken, and all records known, extending forty years back, for May heat are shattered.

The thirtieth death from heat in four days was reported this afternoon when Gustave Yenney, a jeweler, dropped dead in the Criminal Court room, the third person to topple over in the same court since last Friday, though the other two courtroom victims are recovering. Following the fatality, two branches of court adjourned to await cooler weather. Business offices all over the city closed for the afternoon.

There were scores of prostrations. Two suicides are charged to the heat, the victims in both cases being insane.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 22.—All heat records for the month of May in thirty-eight years were broken to-day. The mercury soured steadily until 5 o'clock, when it reached 96.9 degrees, nearly the limit of the recording instruments in the United States Weather Bureau office. The humidity was 81 per cent. this morning, but it decreased during the day. No prostrations were reported. The street thermometers went as high as 112 in the sun.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 22.—With the thermometer approaching 90 degrees, intense humidity, and not a breath of air stirring, two heat prostrations were reported here before 9:30 to-day.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., May 22.—This section of the Berkshires experienced the hottest and most humid day in the memory of its oldest inhabitants to-day. Thermometers in the shade indicated a temperature exceeding 90 degrees.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 22.—With the mercury registering 92 to 96 degrees, Northern Vermont to-day experienced unusually high temperature for this time of year. It has been uncomfortably warm here for the past four days.

LEWISTON, Me., May 22.—Not since the local Weather Bureau was established in 1885 has such extreme heat been experienced in this city as was recorded to-day, when the official thermometer registered 101. Unofficial instruments in the street, partly touched by the sun, showed the mercury climbing to 120.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 22.—Hot weather was still with Cleveland to-day, the official temperature being 88. Thermometers on business streets, however, registered almost 10 degrees higher.

FIVE ACES LEAD TO MURDER.

Miner Kills Three Companions in Poker Game and Wounds a Fourth.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 22.—Sheriff Springer, a squad of mounted State Constabulary, and scores of miners are to-night hunting for Dick Sendric, a foreign miner, who shot to death three men and mortally wounded a fourth early this morning at Kaylor, a mining hamlet, after a card game that closed with five aces on the table, of which Sendric held four.

The first man to meet death from Sendric's bullet was his own brother Charles, who kept "bachelors' hall" with him. The game had lasted all night, in a miner's shack. The men drank freely. On the fatal hand, Charles Sendric dealt the cards, and his brother Dick showed four aces. Another player had a fifth. One of Dick Sendric's aces did not match the deck, and the four set on the man and gave him a fearful beating.

Bleeding from the mouth and badly cut across the face and scalp the injured man fled to his cottage, reappearing just at the break of day with an automatic pistol. He stood across the creek and, in the dim morning light, picked off the four men, one by one, as they came out of the shack. They fell in a heap, all too badly wounded to give the alarm, and there the neighbors found them two hours later. Three had died almost instantly. The fourth, a miner named Spilish, is lingering between life and death in the hospital to-night. He recovered sufficiently to give the name of the assassin, and tell the incidents leading up to the tragedy.

Still bleeding from the wounds inflicted by his comrades, the fugitive was tracked by the blood stains left at frequent resting places. He has apparently taken refuge in an abandoned mine. The Sheriff and town constables called for volunteers in vain, the neighbors being awed by the man's reputation as a dead shot. Finally the constabulary were sent for. To-night they have the abandoned mine surrounded, but have not attempted to explore its several miles of workings. Scores of miners came to their assistance when the day's work was over and are guarding the mine.

ing in state at the Ministry of War. The funeral, which is to take place on Friday, will be conducted with full National honors. The army will go into mourning for thirty days.

Henri Deutsch de la Meurthe, the veteran patron of aeronautics and automobiling, and Antoine Monis, son of the Premier, both of whom were struck by M. Train's machine when it plunged into the group of official spectators, were not seriously injured.

Although various versions are given of the cause of the accident, which occurred with such frightful rapidity as to make it impossible to follow the lightning changes in the aviator's course just before the monoplane dashed into the Premier's party, it appears to be the general opinion to-day that the disaster was caused by a defective motor, superinduced by an air flurry, created probably by the galloping of a troop of Cuirassiers across the field directly under the moving aeroplane.

The ministerial party was hidden from the pilot's view by the detachment of troops, and, in avoiding the soldiers Train crashed into the group of officials as though shot from a catapult.

There was great confusion after the fall of the monoplane. Cries of alarm and dismay arose from all parts of the field, and tens of thousands of persons broke through the lines formed by the gendarmes and crushed toward the scene of the accident. It was with great difficulty that the cavalry, by repeatedly charging the crowds, succeeded in clearing the field.

M. Berteaux, who was directly in the path of the aeroplane, was knocked for a distance of ten feet, and lay badly mangled in a pool of blood. Premier Monis, his son, and Mr. Deutsche de la Meurthe were pinned down by the wreckage of the machine. M. Train and M. Bounier, a pasesnger in the monoplane, emerged from the wreck uninjured.

It is the general belief that as a result of the catastrophe the rule prohibiting spectators, even though they be members of the Government, on aviation fields will be carefully enforced in the future.

President Fallières to-day received, through Ambassador Jusserand, a message from President Taft expressing his heartfelt condolences for the loss which France has sustained by the death of Minister Berteaux and expressing his sympathy for the injured Premier. Messages of sympathy also have been received from the heads of state of practically every nation.

MYSTERIOUS BRITISH AIRSHIP LAUNCHED

CAN BE MOORED ON WATER

Vessel Said to be 512 Feet Long—Is Expected to Take Part in the Coronation Review.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, May 22.—Great Britain's first naval airship, the construction of which has been surrounded by much secrecy, was successfully launched here to-day and is now anchored behind wind sreens erected in the harbor. The airship was named the Mayfly.

The airship is of the rigid type, with a blunt nose tapering to a pointed stern. A feature of the construction is the provision for two separate gondolas for the engines. The airship is specially designed for naval purposes and can be moored on the water.

The outer covering of the upper half of the dirigible consists of silk treated with a special waterproof dressing, over which aluminium dust has been sprinkled. The lower part of the bag is of yellow silk, treated with the same waterproofing material, but without the aluminium.

The airship has been built under the rules of the Official Secrets act, and the great shed in which it has been housed has been guarded night and day by sentries, consisting of Marines from the warship Hermione. A large inclosed sheet of water, approximately half a mile long on each side, was selected at the Cavendish Dock here for the shed for the housing of the dirigible. The building is 600 feet long, 100 feet wide, and nearly 70 feet high. The foundations for one side were built in the sloping pitching of the dock embankment, and the other side was founded on the actual dock bottom.

The vessel is said to be 512 feet in length and 48 feet in diameter. Inside the framework are eighteen bags for hydrogen. The dirigible was designed and constructed for Messrs. Vickers by Francis Morton & Co. of Liverpool. No less than 500 tons of steelwork was used.

The airship will, it is understood, take part in the coronation naval review.

The great Lebaudy dirigible, belonging to the British Army, came to an untimely end a few days ago on the occasion of its first trial flight since the accidental ripping up of its gasbag on its arrival at Farnborough last October. It had completed four circles of Farnborough Common, and its engine had been shut off, when a gust of wind struck it and it drifted low. The waiting men of the balloon section tried to catch the guide-ropes, but failed. Then the engines were started again and ballast was thrown out. A few moments later the dirigible had reached Woodlands Cottage, its envelope had been pierced by chimneys and fir trees, and it had broken its back across the roof. None of the occupants of the car was hurt. Among them was Major Sir Alexander Bannerman, Commandant of the Air Battalion. Salvage work began almost immediately.

GERMAN RELIABILITY FLIGHT.

Hirth the First of Four Aviators to Reach Strassburg.

STRASSBURG, May 22.—Herr Hirth, one of the four aviators competing in the Upper Rhine reliability flight, was the first contestant to reach this city from Mülhausen. He was greeted by Prince Regent Leopold of Bavaria and Prince Henry of Prussia.

The three other aviators, Jeannin, Brumhaber, and Witterstaetter, the last named carrying his wife as a pasesnger, are flying toward this city, but are meeting with difficult winds in the Rhine Valley.

The reliability flight, which covers a total distance of 360 miles, includes the cities of Freiburg, Mannheim, and Frankfort-on-Main.

AIRMAN FALLS AT RHEIMS.

RHEIMS, May 22.—The airman Bardot, while making a flight over the aviation field here to-day, fell to the ground. His shoulder was broken and he suffered many contusions about the body.

The aeroplane was reduced to splinters.

Wins Bennett Elimination Contest.

BRESLAU, May 22.—The German balloon Pegnitz has been declared the winner of the elimination contest for the international race for the James Gordon Bennett Trophy, to be contested this year from Kansas City. The Pegnitz, which ascended at Breslau, made a landing near Pressburg, Hungary, covering a distance of something over 200 miles.

ONE MORE HEARING FOR SUBWAY RIVALS

McAneny Committee in Doubt on a Few Points, but Won't Delay Report.

OFFERS AGAIN COMPARED

The McAneny Committee of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission held another conference on the two pending subway offers last evening, and the two bodies have now reached a point where they are ready to have brief final talks with President T. S. Williams of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and President T. P. Shonts of the Interborough. These talks, according to information obtained yesterday, are to be sought for the purpose of clearing up one or two points developed in the talks between the commission and the McAneny Committee, and are not regarded by the conferees as a resumption of the subway negotiations looking to possible modifications of the two rival bids.

On behalf of Mr. McAneny's Committee it was asserted yesterday that suggestions to reopen the negotiations would not be allowed to delay the committee's report, which will contain a definite recommendation of the course which the committee believes the city should follow in the subway matter, together with an analysis of the evidence supporting the recommendation.

Statements came yesterday from both sides of the controversy each containing an analysis of the financial aspects of the matter. A Director of the Interborough Company said:

> In the development of a single comprehensive system the duty of the city's representatives is to start with the city's present property, in which $53,000,000 is invested by the city, and which is carrying 1,000,000 a day. The normal extensions of the city's property will give the city the most complete plant and will give the citizens the most transportation for the least money.
> The Interborough proposition will leave the city with $10,000,000 after July 1 this year, and with its apportionments applicable to subway construction in each succeeding year, free for the building of other subway lines or other needed city improvements, such as water, schools, Court Houses, and street repairs.
>
> The Interborough proposition furnishes the only hope of early relief for present congested conditions; the Bronx extensions, the Queens extensions, and the Times Square-Pennsylvania terminal extension can all be done in two years, beating any other possible plan by at least three years. The elevated improvements also help Washington Heights.
>
> The extension of the city's own subway is the only possible way of permanently establishing a single five-cent fare for all citizens.
>
> The Interborough proposition is the only one which physically cross-connects the east and west sides of Manhattan Island, and for the benefit of the people of all boroughs.
> Notwithstanding all these advantages, the Interborough offers to contribute $88,000,000 for construction, as against $21,000,000 by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit, and will require but $68,000,000 of city money, as against $158,000,000 to $168,000,000 in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit offer of city money.

From the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company this statement was obtained:

> There are misleading statements as indicated on the maps published by the Interborough in the New York press in reference to the two propositions. We call your attention to the following comparative summary of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Interborough proposals:
>
> Under the Interborough proposition the total expenditure they claim is $203,545,000, which, as per their proposal, is apparently distributed as follows:

City part	$69,720,500
Elevated improvements by railroad company	25,800,000
Belmont Tunnel by railroad company	8,500,000

> (The $25,800,000 for construction and equipment on elevated lines we understand has no direct connection with the subway proposition proper, and the city receives only 2 per cent. of the additional revenue from certain stations constructed under the proposition of June 10, 1910.)
> Under the Interborough's proposal to expend $203,545,000 (of which the city contributes $69,720,500) the city receives fifty-four miles of new line in which it participates in the net earnings. The city does not, however, participate in the earnings of the elevated lines as a whole or the present Subway.

City's part	$73,500,000
Construction by railroad company	33,000,000
Equipment by railroad company	42,000,000

> Under the Brooklyn Rapid Transit proposal to expend approximately $148,500,000 (of which the city contributes $73,500,000) the city receives a system of ninety-eight miles, of which the city can take over in ten years fifty-six miles and during the period of the contract have the use of forty-two miles of existing rapid transit lines—the income of this entire ninety-eight miles being participated in by the city. For an expenditure of $55,000,000 less money under the Brooklyn Rapid Transit proposition—with consequent less fixed charges—the city participates in the net earnings of 82 per cent. more mileage.
>
> The city is interested in: (1) What facilities are offered for the expenditures; (2) What privilege the passenger will have; (3) The greatest extent of territory served; (4) The amount of net the city will receive.

END DEEP SEA HONEYMOON.

Skipper Downs and His Bride Return—Tell of Meeting Chinese Pirates.

After one year of married life, most of which was spent at sea, Mrs. Frank Downs has returned to her native land. Until her marriage a year ago to Frank Downs, Skipper of the big British bark Juteopolis, which arrived yesterday from the Far East, Mrs. Downs was Miss Nellie Carter of Baltimore. She made her first deep-sea voyage and her honeymoon trip in the bark, and the log of the vessel shows it was a lively honeymoon, including an attack by Chinese pirates at Whampoa, near Canton.

The day the vessel came to anchor in the Canton River the pirates appeared just at dusk in two sampans. Capt. Downs, being wise to the ways of pirates in that part of the world, did not allow his men to go on shore, and, according to Mate Harold J. Symons, who is a poker player, they were welcomed by a full house. There were thirty pirates in each sampan, all intent upon murder or loot.

As the Chinamen glided alongside, the crew was waiting with fire hose. The first sampan was directly alongside when the Captain gave the word to start the water, and in an instant ten pirates were spluttering and dodging. Some of the men in the other sampan were clambering up the side before the water reached them. They showed a disposition to linger, but were sent scurrying over the side by the discharge of small arms.

Word of the encounter reached Canton, and a few days afterward Capt. Downs, his wife, and the crew received an invitation from the city authorities to witness the execution of ten pirates. The invitation was declined.

It was Mate Harold J. Symons who was the subject of the next entry of note in the log. When the bark was off Whampoa he saw a child fall overboard from a sampan and dived after it. With it he swam toward the sampan, only to be warned away. As he persisted, he was driven off by the crew with bamboo poles.

When he got back on the Juteopolis the crew wanted to adopt the baby for a ship's mascot. Capt. Downs outvoted them, however, and the baby was turned over to the Captain of an oil tank, who promised to see that it was turned over to the proper authorities.

Mrs. Downs, who is handy with a rifle, shot many sharks, and Capt. Downs showed pictures of her standing between two big fellows she had "brought down."

ALBANY BOAT AGAIN ASHORE.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 22.—The Central Hudson, owned by the Central Hudson Steamboat Company of this city and leased to the Manhattan Navigation Line for the Albany-New York traffic, and which on Saturday night went ashore in the fog at Grassy Point, near Haverstraw, finally got off and ran to New York.

On the return trip last night she took no passengers, but filled up with freight and started for up-river points. As she approached West Point in the early morning a heavy fog prevailed and vessels were traveling under whistles and bells. Capt. Taylor thought it best to hug the shore, and in doing so the boat ran on a clay bank near the lighthouse at West Point and has been there all day. The boat went on with high tide, and as the tide went down the boat sank deeper into the clay. When the tide was out the side wheels of the steamer were high and dry, and several tugs were unable to pull her off.

Capt. Taylor has sent to New York for tugs and will try again to-night, when the tide is in. The boat is about midway between the Government dock at West Point and the lighthouse on Geese Point.

It was discovered that the stern of the vessel was rapidly filling with water, which probably worked its way into the boat at some point near the side wheels. It is considered dangerous to float the vessel until the water has been pumped out.

DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE WOULD OUST MURPHY

TO MAKE A PROTEST TO DIX

Want the Platform Pledges Carried Out at Albany Without Further Quibbling or Delay.

The first gun in the fight of the independent Democrats of the State against the domination of the party and State organization by Tammany Hall and Charles F. Murphy was fired yesterday when the leaders of the Democratic League met at the Hotel Belmont and put themselves on record against the Democratic Legislature. They agreed that it had so far failed to carry out the party pledges made at the Rochester Convention.

The meeting was a session of the Executive Committee of the league, which was organized two years ago to further the interests of the party throughout the State. It was voted to take the organization's complaint directly to Gov. Dix and the Legislature and make a protest to them against the situation at Albany and demand that there be no further delay in the carrying out of the party pledges.

Those present at the meeting were Thomas M. Osborne, Chairman of the league who recently resigned as State Fish, Forest, and Game Commissioner; Mayor Sague of Poughkeepsie, Vice Chairman of the league; Edward M. Shepard, Robert Grier Monroe, Montgomery Hare, who managed Mr. Shepard's campaign for the United States Senatorship; S. Stanwood Menken, Francis C. Williard of Oneida County, Charles F. Rattigan of Auburn, and Congressman Charles P. Smith of Buffalo. Rattigan is a member of the Democratic State Committee.

After a discussion of the assumption of the functions of State leader by Murphy the committee passed this resolution:

> The Democratic League urges upon the Legislature the serious importance of prompt and unqualified performance of the party promises as contained in the Rochester platform. The legislators elected last Fall were chosen to give the State the benefit of their independent judgment, free from the dictation or control of any individual, and we feel that it is now time to give the people the laws the Democracy pledged itself to, including direct primaries, new election laws, the income tax amendment, and to furthering the direct nomination of United States Senators.
> Resolved, That this committee adjourn to meet at the call of the chair in Albany and present the appeal for action to the Governor and the Democratic members of the Legislature.

Mr. Osborne will sail for Europe this morning for a two months' stay, and the details of the presentation of the matter to the Legislature and Governor were left in the hands of Mayor Sague. He and one or two other of the leaders of the league will wait upon Gov. Dix on Thursday and arrange a date for the meeting.

The committee also voted to hold a conference of independent Democrats in and out of the league in this city in September. A similar conference was held by the organization at Saratoga in the Fall of 1909.

After the meeting adjourned Mr. Osborne denied the recent rumors from Albany that he will lead a movement in this city this Fall to oust Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall at the primaries.

"I have expressed my personal opinion of Mr. Murphy publicly many times," said he. "But the league as a State organization is only interested in him as a State leader. If you want him in this city as your leader you are welcome to him. If the local members of the league want to make a fight against him they are at liberty to do so, but the body as a whole is simply fighting him as the assumed head of the Democratic State organization."

"How about the confirmation of Cohalan's appointment?" he was asked.

"It was not mentioned at the meeting," he replied, "and I don't care to express an opinion. All I can say is that I have severed my connection with the administration."

WITNESSES UNDER FIRE.

Government Forces Admissions from Defenders of Wireless Promoters.

The defense of Col. C. C. Wilson and four other officers of the United Wireless Telegraph Company on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud opened the fourth week of the trial yesterday before Judge Martin in the United States Circuit Court. One of the defendants, S. S. Bogart, has already broken away from the others and pleaded guilty.

Charles T. Cooper, chief operator of the United Wireless at Seattle, Washington, was the first witness, and the counsel for the defendants sought to get him to tell what Col. Wilson told him about the purpose of the Pacific Coast stations of the company. Judge Martin excluded that line of questions and the defense took an exception. Next Cooper was asked if the United Wireless was instrumental in saving lives at sea, but Judge Martin declared that the Government's case was not based on the use of the wireless in saving lives, and United States Attorney Wise put in a word to the effect that the Government would concede that proposition.

Cooper was then turned over to the Government and declared in answer to questions that the United Wireless never had an operator between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains. He also testified that the defendant Parker personally sold stock in Colorado. Attorney Hardin for Parker tried to break down the story of the witness, but did not succeed.

Another witness for the defense was George F. Williams, a bookkeeper in the employ of the United Wireless, who testified that in the making of numerous transfers of the stock of that company in exchange for the stock of the old De Forest Company, he acted always on the instructions of S. S. Bogart, the Vice President, who has pleaded guilty, and never upon that of Col. Wilson. Immediately the witness was turned over for cross-examination, he was confronted by orders for the transfer of United Wireless stock which bore the admitted signature of Col. Wilson. The witness admitted further that the figures in the books he kept agreed with those testified to by John P. Fernsler, the Government's accountant.

WOULD PAY GAYNOR'S BILL

Or That of Any Other City Official Who Is the Victim of an Assailant.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—Assemblyman Warren of New York introduced a bill tonight giving the Board of Aldermen authority to "audit, allow, and certify" to the Controller for payment as charges against the City of New York, the reasonable expenses for medical and surgical treatment and maintenance incurred since Aug. 1, last year, by the Mayor or any other city official or employe by reason of personal injuries sustained at the hand of any person "deeming himself aggrieved by and seeking revenge for any alleged official act or mission on the part of the Mayor or any such official."

While the bill is broad enough to provide for future attempts on the life of city officials it was not denied by the introducer that it was intended to provide a means of having the city pay for the care of Mayor Gaynor at St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken after the attempt on his life last August.

The bill authorizes the Controller when so directed by the Board of Estimate to "issue and sell certificates of indebtedness" in such amount as may be required for the purpose.

REGRETS OSBORNE'S GOING.

Dix Believes Good Will Result from His Work as Forest Commissioner.

ALBANY, May 22.—Gov. Dix sent a letter to Thomas Mott Osborne to-day accepting his resignation as State Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner. The letter follows:

> Dear Mr. Osborne: I am in receipt of your resignation as Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner. I regret exceedingly that your health is impaired to a degree which renders imperative your withdrawal from the arduous duties of the commissionship.
>
> I recall the reluctance with which you accepted the position last January, and appreciate the sacrifice and unselfishness that led you to put aside your preferences and accede to my request to enter the public service as a member of my administration. I believed then, and believe now, that immeasurable good would ensue to the people of the State of New York from the efficient and constructive administration you would give as head of the Forest, Fish and Game Commission. It is with very great regret that I accept your view that you must sever your connection with the public service. I sincerely hope that a rest will restore you to full vigor and strength.
>
> Thanking you for your good wishes for the success of my administration, and again expressing my appreciation of the signal service rendered the State during your too brief incumbency of the office of Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner, I am, very cordially yours, JOHN A. DIX.

Gov. Dix has not yet announced Mr. Osborne's successor.

FOR CARNEGIE'S PURPOSES.

Bill Incorporating His Controlling Board Now Through Legislature.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—The Assembly tonight passed the Frawley bill, incorporating the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The incorporators mentioned in the bill are Andrew Carnegie, Elihu Root, Henry S. Pritchett, William N. Frew, Robert S. Wodward, Charles L. Taylor, Robert A. Franks, and James Bertram. Its purposes are defined as follows:

> To promote the advancement and diffusion of knowledge and understanding among the people of the United States, by aiding technical schools, institutions of higher learning, libraries, scientific research, hero funds, useful publications, and by such other agencies and means as shall from time to time be found appropriate therefor.

The bill had already passed the Senate and now goes to the Governor for approval. The Carnegie Corporation, it is known, is not formed for the purpose of receiving and administering new benefactions from the ironmaster, but merely for the continuation of philanthropic activities set on foot and already provided for by Mr. Carnegie.

Canon Chase and a Reformed Gambler Expected to Oppose Them.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—There will be a hearing before the Senate Committee on Codes to-morrow afternoon on the bill introduced by Senator Gittins of Niagara, which defines bookmaking and makes ineffective the Directors' liability clause in the present anti-race track gambling laws.

Canon Chase of Brooklyn, ex-Senator Agnew, and Former Assemblyman Perkins of Broome, who had charge of the anti-race track gambling bills last year, have been invited to speak against this year's bills at the hearing. Another speaker will be Harry Brolaski, a reformed gambler, who will appear for the New York State Civic League.

STRIKES AT MAYOR'S POWER.

Bill In to Take Appointment of Elections Board Away from Him.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 22.—A new plan to take from the Mayor of New York the power to appoint the members of the Board of Elections is embodied in a bill introduced to-night by Senator Cullen of Brooklyn. It provides for the selection of four members of the board for terms of four years. The appointments are to be made by the Chairmen of the Democratic and the Republican Committees of New York and Kings Counties. The salary of each member is to be $5,000 a year.

Senator Cullen's district leader, James Kane, who had been recommended for Election Commissioner, was turned down by Mayor Gaynor, who appointed J. Grattan McMahon.

SMOKY FIRE GIVES TROUBLE.

Firemen Have Difficulty in Getting Apparatus Near—Several Men Overcome.

Mercer Street between Bleecker and West Third Streets was blotted from view last night by dense smoke that came from a fire in the cellar of a five-story building at 233 Mercer Street, just back of the Broadway Central Hotel. It was well under way when Policeman Cahill sent in an alarm, and when Acting Chief Kenlon reached the place he had so much difficulty in getting the fire apparatus into position in the murky street that he sent in a second alarm.

Firemen of Engine 33 got a line of high-pressure hose into the cellar, when a great back draught flared out over their heads. The foremost were singed and all were nearly blown from their hold on the hose. Firemen Arthur Finnegan and John Wormser of Engine 20 were overcome by smoke on the first floor of the building. They were carried out, but refused medical assistance and returned to duty. The fire was put under control in about an hour, after it spread to the first floor.

MAYOR ON SECOND WATER SUPPLY TOUR

NEW WARNING TO PUBLIC

Householders Must Stop Leaky Fixtures—Use of Ten Mile River Supply Strongly Urged.

Mayor Gaynor, accompanied by Water Commissioner Thompson, made a trip yesterday through the Long Island watershed, from which Brooklyn draws its supply. There is no prospect of a shortage in Brooklyn this Summer, but the threatened famine in Manhattan and the Bronx has drawn the Mayor's attention strongly to the water supply problem in general, and after his recent tour of the Croton watershed he determined to inform himself of the conditions in other boroughs. It is his intention to pay a visit soon to Staten Island and go over with Commissioner Thompson the situation in the Borough of Richmond.

The Mayor's trip yesterday started from his Summer home at St. James, L. I., where Mr. Thompson, in his automobile, picked him up in the morning. Together they went over part of Suffolk County, which it is proposed to include in the Long Island watershed, which now stops at the county line between Nassau and Suffolk. This project is not a new one, nor is the problem presented pressing. The plan was submitted to the Board of Estimate several years ago by William B. Ellison, when he was Water Commissioner. It was taken before the Board of Water Supply, which decided that this addition to the system would not be needed for many years, as the early completion of the Catskill aqueduct will furnish an increased supply for Brooklyn, as well as other parts of the city, before there is any chance of a severe shortage across the river.

The Brooklyn water supply is drawn entirely from artesian wells, from which the water is pumped and piped to a central conduit along the south shore of the island. The artesian supply seems to be practicaly inexhaustible, as the entire island is a natural reservoir, and there is no such necessity for storing immense quantities of water as are needed for Manhattan and the Bronx.

It has been suggested that a famine in Manhattan might be prevented by piping water from Brooklyn, and the Mayor and the Commissioner may have had this in mind in looking over the Long Island source of supply, but the plan for extending the watershed into Suffolk has to do rather with the future needs of Brooklyn and Queens. The plan is to acquire land in Suffolk County for additional wells and to bring the surrounding territory under city control, for the prevention of contamination. The expense of the project is estimated at $47,000,000, and it has been pointed out that if it is to be done it would better be undertaken soon, owing to the rapid increase in values that is in progress on Long Island.

So far as the possibility of relieving the present needs of Manhattan and the Bronx by drawing from Brooklyn is concerned, it is thought that it would be precluded by Brooklyn's objections in any situation short of an absolute stoppage of the Croton supply, a possibility that some engineers regard as none too remote.

The Ten Mile River Project.

While suggestions of this kind are being made, the project for immediate relief which has attracted the most attention is that recently brought to the attention of the Mayor and Water Commissioner by Charles Whiting Baker, editor of The Engineering News, for turning the flow of the Ten Mile River into the Croton watershed. The feasibility of this plan from an engineering standpoint is admitted, and Mr. Baker is not impressed with the legal difficulties that have been raised up whenever it has been suggested. He pointed out yesterday that, although it is not generally understood, the Ten Mile River lies almost wholy within the State of New York and crosses the line into Connecticut only as it is about to plunge into the Housatonic. Part of the watershed lies in Connecticut, but that is true also of the Croton watershed.

"The only valid objection to this plan," he said, "would be that of mill owners along the Ten Mile River, whose water power would be reduced to the extent of perhaps one-eighth. It has always been feared that one or more of them might obtain an injunction in the Federal courts against the diversion of part of their water power, but I believe that we could make such a showing to the court of the acute danger of a water famine, with the possibility of enormous loss of property and lives and danger from fire and unsanitary conditions, that it would refuse a permanent injunction, if we put up a bond to indemnify any mill owners who might suffer.

"Another legal obstacle is a statute of New York State, enacted seven or eight years ago, absolutely forbidding New York City to take water for its needs from Dutchess County, through which Ten Mile River runs. Immediate appeal should be made to the New York Legislature to repeal this law and grant New York City any needed powers to secure this emergency supply.

"It is the business of the engineering profession to secure the ends of justice without unnecessary delay and expense. The proposition that New York City must be exposed to the danger of water famine because of legal difficulties in securing water, which is flowing to waste just across a State boundary, is a proposition calculated to bring the law into contempt. This is not a matter which affects New York City alone. Upon her markets and upon her industry the rest of New York State and the adjacent portions of Connecticut are largely dependent. In fact disaster to New York City, such as may easily come to pass, would be a calamity to the Nation at large.

No Time To Lose.

"The measure suggested is the quickest and easiest method by which relief from impending danger can be secured, but to be effective it must be taken at once. Not a day or an hour should be lost. There will be delays enough at best in installing the plant and getting it into operation. If the city waits until the water famine is actually upon it, until the last gallons of water are flowing out of the reservoirs, it will be too late.

"Such an emergency connection with the Ten Mile River could be made in from two to four months. It would not be necessary to use heavy pipe, and by dividing up the contracts for the seven and a half miles needed the work could be done in short order. It would add 50,000,000 gallons a day to our failing supply. So far as any engineering difficulties are concerned, the Ten Mile River is as near to the Central Park reservoir as if it flowed into the Hudson at Spuyten Duyvil. An inexpensive and quickly erected pumping plant and pipe line will bring its water to a point from which it will flow by gravity all the way to New York."

The Ten Mile River project is not a new one. It was first advocated years ago as a source of increased supply for Brooklyn when that borough was an independent city. In 1900, when John R. Freeman investigated possible future sources of supply for the whole city, he reported to Controller Coler in favor of using both the Ten Mile River and the upper Housatonic as an addition to the Croton system. This was before the Catskill project was taken up, and he worked out a plan for a permanent addition to the existing system. The inclusion of the Housatonic necessarily involved the consent of the State of Connecticut, but concerning the present project for the use of the Ten Mile River alone there is a difference of opinion. In any event, the Connecticut Legislature, as Mr. Baker has pointed out, is in session. Mr. Freeman said in his report:

> The cheapest and most available source by far, if the Connecticut Legislature will cooperate in permitting it to be obtained, is the Ten Mile River combined with the upper Housatonic, which, with no expense for pumping and with comparatively short aqueducts, will provide 750,000,000 gallons per day by gravity flow in the very driest of years at the city limits, from a large new distributing reservoir, at a cost which will probably not exceed $10 per million gallons, even if land and water damages are extravagantly high.
> The best plan for making the whole of this watershed available is by a single high dam located about three-fourths of a mile westerly from the little village of Webatuck, N. Y., about one and a half miles upstream from the confluence of the Ten Mile River with the Housatonic and placing the outlet channel to run past Pawling.

Speaking of the Ten Mile River alone, Mr. Freeman said:

> The Ten Mile River can be relied upon to supply 150,000,000 gallons per day throughout a series of years of extremely low rainfall and all of this additional supply will flow by opening a sluice-gate at Pawling into the East Branch Reservoir of the Croton watershed.

The Burr Commission on Additional Water Supply, in its report in 1903, said:

> The watershed of the Ten Mile River lies just east of the Fishkill and Wappinger Creek watershed and west of the Housatonic River. Above Pawling the river has a drainage area of about 200 square miles. The direct pollution is much less on this stream than in the case of the Housatonic River. The water which could be collected from this watershed would be practically clean.

Legal Obstacles Are Feared.

In their absence from the city it was impossible yesterday to obtain the views of Mayor Gaynor or Commissioner Thompson on the Ten Mile River emergency project, and the other officials of the Water Department, from Deputy Commission Bennett and Chief Engineer De Varona down, were silent, owing to an order of Commissioner Thompson that no information shall be made public except by himself. The members of the Board of Water Supply, however, seemed to think the legal difficulties considerable. This is the State Commission which has charge of the construction of the Catskill Aqueduct. Commissioner Charles N. Chadwick said:

"I am not inclined to take much stock in these ideas for quick relief. Take the proposition to tap the Ten Mile River. Wholly aside from the engineering difficulties in the way of laying an adequate pipe line in a space of time short enough to afford the city any real relief at the time relief is wanted, you face the fact of having the State of Connecticut to reckon with, and the State of Connecticut has the decision of Judge Shipman in the United States Circuit Court to fall back upon. Judge Shipman held that inter-State water cannot be appropriated by one State without the consent of the other. Besides Connecticut we should have to treat with Massachusetts to get that water. Granting the unlikely possibility of getting two Legislatures to give permission, we would then be up against the injunctions which factory owners would certainly obtain to prevent us from cutting off their water power.

"The situation simply emphasizes the great need for the engineering job we now have under way. It should be said that it is not an unexpected situation. On the contrary, it is a situation that we have seen coming for a long time. The bare possibility of such a predicament was one of the salient reasons for the creation of this board and the undertaking on which we are working. All that we ask is that the city hold on for two and a half years more. By that time we shall be able to pour Catskill water into the Croton watershed, and the present situation will be an impossibility.

Citizens Must Be Careful.

"People must understand that this problem of getting water for a city is not one that can be solved offhand. It may be that New York waited too long before beginning work to increase its water system. We will hope this is not so. In any event, if citizens will be careful, and if the Water Commissioner will continue his wise efforts to restrict waste, much may be done to prevent actual suffering.

"For example, there is the water supplied to vessels in the harbor, a large quantity. That can be cut off and ships compelled to get their supply from New Jersey. We can be more careful with flushing. The supply available for the parks can be reduced. True, it is unfortunate to divert water from either of these purposes, but when we face a famine we cannot be too careful. I do not think, though, there will be a shortage of potable water. What will probably happen will be a reduced flow, and consequently less supply for all but necessary household purposes. I do not think we need fear a situation as bad as that which confronted Brooklyn in 1900, when the available supply in the reservoirs was only eight hours ahead of demand.

"In case we are forced to adopt any temporary expedients, I think the most practical thing would be a pipe line across to Long Island. Brooklyn might be able to spare some water, and in case permission could be obtained, wells could be sunk in Suffolk County and the water piped here. Long Island is much better off in the matter of water supply than we are."

Commissioner Galvin expressed similar views.

Beside and beyond the threatened shortage of water for household purposes engineers are worried over the possibility of the famine reaching such a point as to render the Fire Department helpless against a conflagration. Some reassurance is drawn from the fact that the quantity of water used in a year in fighting fires is less than the daily consumption of the two boroughs affected. When this was pointed out to Mr. Baker yesterday, however, he said that the question was whether the reservoirs might not be entirely exhausted and the Fire Department left without any water at all.

The fact that the water is lower in Croton Lake, where it flows into the aqueducts, than in the upper reservoirs, which empty into the lake through the Croton River, was commented on yesterday as indicating that a mistake had been made, as much of the water in the upper reservoirs would be lost when allowed to flow down, owing to the dry condition of the river bed. Engineers said, however, that this was the proper way to handle a reservoir system. The nearer storage is allowed to run low, for otherwise a heavy rain might cause it to overflow and spill millions of gallons that were badly needed. On the other hand, if a heavy rain came under present conditions the water in the upper reservoirs could be reduced and that in the lake increased, so that none of the rainfall would be lost.

It was denied that the water was so low in the Croton River that the flow from the upper reservoirs would be largely lost. While part of the river bed is dry, the middle portion, where the bed is lower, is not only covered by water, but there is at present in progress a flow of 50,000,000 gallons a day from the Bog Brook reservoir and 30,000,000 gallons a day from the Boyd Corners reservoir, which passes through the Croton River and Croton Lake into the aqueducts. This flow is necessitated by the undertakings of the city under which it must provide a certain amount of water power for mills along the way. The two reservoirs named are the most remote of any from the lake.

Another fallacy that was disposed of yesterday was the oft-repeated assertion that New York City, with characteristic extravagance, is the greatest consumer of water per capita in the United States. As a matter of fact, New York is quite modest in this respect. Its daily consumption per capita is 111 gallons, or was until Commissioner Thompson began putting on the screws. Below it in consumption are Milwaukee, Cleveland, Rochester, Kansas City, and Minneapolis, the last with a per capita of only 55 gallons; but above it come Los Angeles, Baltimore, Boston, Jersey City, Detroit, and Chicago, with 185 gallons; Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, and Buffalo, the last with 323 gallons—nearly three times as much as New York.

Commissioner Thompson, whose efforts to stop waste have already shown material results in the reduction of consumption, prepared a new circular yesterday, of which 150,000 copies are to be printed for circulation among property owners in Manhattan and the Bronx. It says:

> To stop waste of water an inspection is to be made of these premises, and your attention is called to the necessity of having all fixtures in good order, as the rules of the department provide a penalty of $2 for each leaky fixture. You are hereby notified to have all leaky fixtures immediately repaired. The use of hose, either inside or outside of buildings, is prohibited. It is hoped that you will do everything in your power to stop all unnecessary use of water so that we may avert as much as possible a situation which would be most serious.

The City Club addressed the Board of Aldermen yesterday on the need of the 200 additional Inspectors, saying:

> We feel sure that those who failed to vote for it did not understand the urgency of the water supply situation, so far as Manhattan and the Bronx is concerned.
>
> The safety of the city from fire, as well as the health of all its citizens, demands that every effort be made to prevent waste and reduce unnecessary consumption in order that the supply in storage shall hold out until the water fall of next Autumn and Winter relieves the situation. We urge a favorable vote on this matter at the meeting of May 23.

Alderman Dowling, the Tammany leader, said yesterday that he thought the ordinance would be passed at to-day's meeting.

O'REILLY TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN BEHALF

SAYS HE GOT ONLY A $50 FEE

Denies That He Ever Had the Stolen Shares in His Possession—A Test for His Memory.

Daniel O'Reilly, the lawyer, who is on trial before Justice Vernon M. Davis in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court on a charge of receiving stolen goods in connection with the theft of $87,000 worth of securities from Aaron Bancroft, took the stand yesterday in his own defense and told of his part in the transaction.

Before O'Reilly began his testimony several character witnesses were examined, among them being former Assistant District Attorney George Gordon Battle, Battalion Fire Chief Callahan, and Father James W. Powers of All Saints' Church, all of whom testified that they knew O'Reilly to be of good character.

O'Reilly said he was 41 years old and was admitted to the bar in 1892. He was an Assistant District Attorney eighteen years ago. He said that on March 16 Frank J. Plass, the informer in the case, called to see him. Plass had been introduced to him as Mr. Francis by a man named David Block in a Times Square restaurant the night before. He said that Block had telephoned to him saying that he had a case for him and wanted to see him there. O'Reilly also testified that he was introduced to another man named Brown, now known as Charles Yates, one of the men who robbed Mr. Bancroft.

"They didn't tell me what the case was," continued O'Reilly, "but said they would meet me in my office the next day. Francis, who is really Plass, came there between 10:30 and 11 o'clock. I took him in my private office and he said to me: 'Have you read of the Brancroft robbery? For $6,000 I can have the thieves arrested and get the bonds back. Or, I think I could have the bonds returned for $5,000.'"

O'Reilly said that as soon as Plass had left he telephoned to Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who at that time was in charge of the Pinkerton Detective Agency in this city, and told him what he had heard from Plass. Dougherty called at his office and told him that he had been working on the case and that the Bancrofts wanted the bonds but did not care about getting the thieves. O'Reilly said that when he learned of this he replied: "Well, Dougherty, if they don't want to get the thieves I wash my hands of the whole affair."

The witness then told of other meetings with Plass and Brown and a visit by Dougherty, who, acording to the witness, said he had been to see William D. Sullivan, counsel for the Bancrofts, who told him that they were willing to give a reward for the return of the stolen securities. He said he then called up Plass and told him what Doughterey had said and made arrangements to have the stock returned to Sullivan.

"Dougherty told me that Sullivan had said he would retain me to act for him for $50," continued the witness, "and at Dougherty's suggestion I called Sullivan up on the telephone. He told me he wanted to retain me in the case when I called on him in his office at 85 Nassau Street on March 24. Sullivan told me that if I was successful in getting the stock he would see that I was properly compensated in addition to the $50 he gave me as a retainer."

O'Reilly then described the trip up Broadway in the taxicab with Sullivan and Plass the day the securities were turned over to Sullivan. He denied that he had held the securities for Plass or that he had had them in his possession for one moment.

The witness said he let Sullivan out at Fifty-ninth Street and that Plass and himself went to the Night and Day Bank, where he had Plass change the $50 which had been given to him as a fee by Sullivan. He said it was the change of this bill that the watchman in the bank saw Plass hand to him.

"Did he hand you $833 as has been testified?" asked Abraham Levy, his counsel.

"No; all I got was the $50 and what I expected further from Sullivan. We crossed over toward the Belmont. On the way Plass said to me: 'O'Reilly, if you or Sullivan had made one false move I had a gun ready and that would have been the end of both of you,'" replied the witness.

Assistant District Attorney Buckner then took up the cross-examination of the defendant. Mr. Levy made several objections to the questions put to O'Reilly, but the witness insisted on answering before the court had ruled upon them, and Mr. Levy finally said:

"I am your attorney, and I request you to desist from answering questions to which I have interposed an objection."

In reply to Mr. Buckner's questions O'Reilly said he had told Commissioner Dougherty that two of his clients were the Bancroft thieves, and that he had gone to Dougherty in preference to Inspector Russell because Dougherty was "a dearer friend."

In trying to make O'Reilly admit that his memory was bad, Mr. Buckner produced a statement relating to O'Reilly's examination in supplementary proceedings which bore his signature. In this the defendant had apparently told Max Buhler, counsel for a modiste, that his "memory was damn poor." He insisted that he had not said this, but that his signature appeared on the last page only. He had not read all of the statement when he signed it. Upon being pressed further, the witness said he had signed the statement to get an adjournment, and because it was a hot day.

The witness admitted that he had been fined $50 by Judge McAvoy, but said it was not for contempt of court, as Mr. Buckner said, but because he failed to appear at a hearing. He also denied that he had had trouble with his wife by reason of relations with Nan Patterson and Evelyn Thaw. He further denied that he had ever asked Dr. Philip O'Hanlon to see the District Attorney and say for him that he had never met the thieves.

The cross-examination will be continued to-day.

FARMER KILLS HIS WIFE.

Then Vainly Tries Suicide—Had Been Drinking.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 22.—With the exclamation, "It is time that you died, and I will die with you," Harry Ingram, a farmer and former Special Deputy Sheriff of Westchester County, pulled the trigger of a double-barreled shotgun as he faced his wife, Caroline, in the kitchen of their farmhouse at Millwood to-day. The shots killed her almost instantly. He tried to end his own life after the shooting, but was unsuccessful. Ingram had been drinking.

The only witness to the murder was the couple's nine-year-old grandson, Harry Anderson, who entered the room just as the shooting occurred. The farmer turned to the boy and said: "I have just killed your grandmother. Now I am going to join her." Ingram rushed up to the attic and fired four shots at himself, but his aim was poor, and the buckshot only dug a hole in the wall.

When Coroner Amos C. Squire and Sheriff Romaine Williams arrived they found the farmer out in the road flourishing his gun.

When Ingram was locked up in the village jail he made another attempt to kill himself. He found an old milk bottle in his cell, and breaking off the top slashed his throat with the ragged edge. Then he cut an artery in his right wrist. Coroner Squire, who is a physician, after stopping the flow of blood, sewed up the wounds, and then brought Ingram to the White Plains Jail.

"I killed my wife all right," said the prisoner to the Coroner in his confession, "but why, I don't know. It now seems all a dream to me. I loved her. She was a good woman and a loving wife. She was reading a letter from our dear son when I fired at her. She didn't utter a word. Oh, I am so sorry that I did it. I wanted to die and tried to end it all."

The murderer is 63 years old, and had lived on the farm at Millwood for a number of years. He had at one time been active in politics. He had also been a keeper in Sing Sing Prison.

DIED AT BASEBALL GAME.

Edmond F. Pierdon Fell with Heart Disease at American League Park.

While watching the New York and Pittsburg National League baseball teams practicing before the game at American League Park yesterday afternoon, Edmond F. Pierdon, who was in the silver plating business at 125 Fulton Street, and who lived at 809 St. Nicholas Avenue, died suddenly of heart disease.

The ground attendant at first thought that he was overcome by the heat, and tried various means of reviving him. A short time after Pierdon collapsed Dr. Lieser, the club's physician, was at his side. He was about 55 years old.

In the third inning of the ball game a foul ball hit a spectator in the grandstand and he was long in recovering consciousness.

WANT DRUMMOND FOR BIGAMY

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 22.—Telegrams have been sent to the police of Los Angeles, Long Beach, and San Francisco by Sheriff Grueninger of St. Louis County asking for the arrest of Charles R. Drummond of St. Louis on a charge of bigamy. The action was taken at the urgent request of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mills.

"Drummond's actions in California," said Mills, "since his return to the United States from Paris constitute open defiance of the law, and I propose to prosecute him. I could not under any consideration be moved to ask for another parole for him."

Drummond was fined $300 and paroled from additional jail sentence on the promise that he would obey the law.

CAN'T STOP WARS, SAYS HUDSON MAXIM

SEES 'YELLOW PERIL' COMING

Baron de Constant Contends That Universal Peace Must Come—Meyer Tells of Navy Efficiency.

When 600 members of the Economic Club of New York gathered last night at the Hotel Astor for the fourth dinner of the season, "International Arbitration, Its Economic and Political Aspects," was the subject for discussion, and from among the speakers two stood out in strong contrast as to their views.

Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, President of the Association for International Conciliation, was the idealist; Hudsom Maxim was the skeptic. Baron de Constant all but swept the audience off its feet with the enthusiasm with which he scorned the theory that any war is inevitable. Mr. Maxim pointed quietly to the disturbing difficulties that beset the future of disarmament, and in his speech reiterated tthe warning that war is coming from the Far East.

"Disarmament is a beautiful dream," said Mr. Maxim," but it does seem to me to be impolitic and impracticable. The coming International Tribunal will need all its guns to enforce its mandates."

James Speyer, Vice President of the Economic Club, presided in the place of President John G. Milburn, and among the guests of honor and speakers were George Von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy; Rear Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., (retired;) Allan Baker, M. P.; Hamilton Holt, managing editor of The Independent, and Samuel J. Elder, senior counsel in the fisheries arbitration with Great Britain.

"The nations of the earth will not unite, and cannot unite, for any purpose not prompted by individual self-interest," said Mr. Maxim, as the first text of his speech.

Where Peace Can't Exist.

"It would be impracticable for the carnivora and the herbivora to make an arbitration pact to settle their differences, for the one is constituted to prey upon the other and its very existence depends upon the sacrifice of the other." Like the attitude of the carnivora to the herbivora, he said, is that of the big nation to the small and of the aggressive Occidental to the peace-loving Oriental.

"Will arbitration be able to see that all, even the meanest, get equal rights to the enjoyment of property, life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?" he asked. "If not, it is destined to fail, and wars will still come.

"There are half a billion pairs of eyes in China looking admiringly toward Japan. There are in China, and over the vast neighboring areas, uncounted myriads needing but a leader and arms and training to hurl themselves upon Western civilization and smite us hip and thigh as their ancestors smote ours in years agone. These people are now awakening. They are training. They are arming. The great yellow storm-cloud is slowly rising along the whole Eastern sky, and it is only a question of time when the storm will burst upon the Occident with unprecedented fury.

"Possibly we may be able to control it by arbitration, but this can be done only by such arbitration as shall render equal justice and a justice made visible to the eyes of those uncomprehending millions, who are smarting under the sting of humiliation, heaped upon them through the centuries."

Mr. Maxim warned the diners that with international politics will come international graft.

A Chance for Graft.

"Those good men," he said, "who are the leaders of the present peace movement must realize the fact that the carrying out of their project will devolve, not upon them, not upon the philanthropist, the sentimentalist, and the humanitarian, but upon the politician. International arbitration will ultimately become a political machine. Nothing can prevent it. And there is no reason to believe that those politicians who will have control of the international arbitration machine will be any more honest than other machine politicians. What an enormous field for graft it will be when some weaker nation tries to get its rights at the coming international tribunal!

"The only rejuvenator of nations has been the sword," said Mr. Maxim, unwilling to believe that war is wholly bad, anyway. "War alone has swept away the unfit with their unfit laws, and has given place to new and fitter blood and fitter laws. Has the world so far progressed that wars are no longer needed to correct effeminacy and degeneracy, to sweep away the old and corrupt and establish new and healthier conditions?

"Just as the paper dollar presupposes gold on deposit, so does law presuppose an adequate power behind it to enforce it; otherwise it has no influence and no meaning. At the coming Hague Tribunal who will be the most eloquent orators? They will be the deep-throated guns on battleships and in forts, and the men and resources behind the guns of the banded nations."

When Baron de Constant mounted the little flag-draped pulpit from which the speakers faced the dining hall, Mr. Speyer voiced the sympathy of the club because of the death of the French Minister of War in the aviation accident of the day before.

Cost of the Ideal.

"It is not the first time that a Frenchman has had to pay for the advance of civilization," said Baron de Constant, bowing low, "but we are glad to die for an ideal, glad to die for aviation, and this catastrophe will not stop the confidence of the French people. We are willing to fight for what is good, but war is not good."

As for Mr. Maxim's speech, he wished he had prepared one that would show him that war is not considered any such inevitable evil in this country. He said he knew, for he had been going through it to see.

"The people, the workers of your country," he said, "know that war is not a solution and never has been. It is but an aggravation. When I think of the history of this country, and when I think of the part that Frenchmen have played in it, I feel that I must raise my voice in protest against a mistaken policy. With all that is to be done in the way of development here, it is unbearable that you should waste your time, your money, and your young men in preparing for a war that nobody wants.

"In this Mexican situation, Mr. Taft, with his National wisdom and his high conscience his kept things as they ought to be kept, and he is leading you, with his arbitration call, upon the forward path. Support him, I beg of you. He cannot do this task alone. You must hold up his hands, and you cannot do this if you believe in war. You must have within you the belief in the spirit of peace."

Secretary Meyer told of what scientific management is doing for the navy. He spoke of the increased economy and efficiency that have come from the application to the navy of modern business and industrial science. He spoke of his strong belief in the need for the reduction of the number of navy yards, and called upon those there to support him in his efforts to persuade Congress to his point of view.

"Scientific management experts who saw the recent battle practice tell me the battleship is the finest exhibition of scientific management they have ever seen," said Mr. Meyer. "A comparison of the increased rate of firing, the increase in the range, and the percentage of hits shows that we are 1,200 times better today than we were at Santiago."

He traced the excessive number of navy yards, in many instances, to the desire on the part of Congressmen to have navy yards located in their States, and he predicted that when the Panama Canal opens and the fleet spends an equal amount of time in each ocean, the work for the navy yards on the Atlantic Coast will be so reduced that the need for a reduction will be evident.

A World Organization.

Hamilton Holt gave his favorite argument for disarmament by analogy with the passing of the duel, and gave voice to his deep conviction that the federation of nations will pattern itself after the Federation of States that makes our country. He believes that America has shown the way and that the day of the international executive will see the Americanization of the world.

"We can hasten the process of world organization," he said, "first, by the education of public opinion, so that the nations at successive Hague conferences can push forward the goal of world federation, and second, by the formation among a few nations in advance of the rest of a League of Peace, to settle all their disputes by arbitration, and to serve as a model for other nations, not so civilized. The proposed treaty of arbitration, between Great Britain, France, and the United States, is the first step in this direction. When it is consummated, it will be the beginning of the end of war, and President Taft will have done more than any other statesman in history to hasten the days sure to come—when, as Victor Hugo prophesied, 'The only battlefield shall be the market open to commerce and the mind open to new ideas.'"

As the final speaker Mr. Elder told something of the meaning of war in dollars and cents, and told the story of the fisheries arbitration.

Among those who went to the dinner were Elbridge L. Adams, Henry Alexander, George W. Alger, Paul Armitage, Charles H. Ayres, O. H. Cheney, Francis I. Du Pont, Isaac K. Funk, Paul M. Herzog, Edward Lauterbach, Marcus M. Marks, Henry Morgenthau, E. R. A. Seligman, Albert Shaw, John A. Sleicher, the Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, Rastus S. Ransom, and William R. Willcox.

CALL ROOSEVELT A MORMON.

Magazine Writers Talk of His Baptism by Proxy.

From charges that he was in collusion with the Utah Mormons to sent Smoot in the United States Senate, the magazine writers busy with the Mormon problem pass this month to an additional charge that ex-President Roosevelt is himself converted to the Mormon idea.

Ex-Senator Frank J. Cannon of Utah and Harvey J. O'Higgins, in the June number of Everybody's, say:

> The character and impulses of the President were of a sort to make him peculiarly susceptible to an appeal for help on the part of the Mormons. He sympathized with those who dared, for their own opinions, to oppose the opinions of the rest of the world. He had received the most adulatory assurances of support for his candidacies and his policies.
>
> The Mormon appeal to his generosity was not confined to Washington. On his travels he met President Smith more than once—the prophet being accompanied each time by a different wife—and naturally Smith made every effort to impress President Roosevelt with his earnestness, the purity of his life, and the high motives that actuated the exercise of his authority.
> And it is told—sometimes solemnly, sometimes with a grin—that in the temple at Salt Lake a proxy has stood for him and he has been baptized into the Mormon Church, that proxies have stood for the members of his family, and they have been sealed to him, and finally that proxies have stood for some of the great Queens of the past, (who had not already been sealed to Mormon leaders,) and that they have been sealed to the President for eternity!

The mere suggestion that he had been in collusion with the Mormons, as intimated earlier, was sufficient to cause the Colonel to give his unreserved opinion of the magazines. He has not yet been heard on the latest version of his friendship for them.

The charge of Dr. W. W. Paden of Salt Lake City made in an address at the Labor Temple here on Sunday night that Brigham H. Roberts has three wives, brought yesterday this reply from Mr. Roberts:

> Salt Lake City, May 22, 1911.
> The New York Times, New York.
> Twelve years ago I was denied a seat in the National House of Representatives for having three wives. For two years the case was bruited loudly by the press throughout the United States and in all the world. Under the circumstances, Dr. Paden can scarcely be credited with having made or even announced a discovery.
> B. H. ROBERTS.

Dr. Paden had charged that President Smith had twelve children by five different wives. He was asked by telegraph to comment on the charges, and his secretary replied that President Smith was absent in the southern part of the State.

Before the Senate Committee which investigated the Smoot case President Smith testified that he had had five wives, but married the last of them seven years before the manifesto of 1890 prohibiting further plural marriages.

CAR-BARN GANG ON WARPATH.

Wreck a Saloon and Beat Its Owner, Who Sheltered Their Victim.

Angered because a citizen who took refuge last night in the saloon of Thomas Warren, 1,523 Third Avenue, was permitted to use his telephone to summon police assistance, members of the "Car Barn Gang" hurled paving stones through the windows, demolishing mirrors and bottles and fracturing Warren's skull.

Patrolman Hogan, who attempted to make arrests, was stoned, and the gang escaped. Warren was taken to the Metropolitan Hospital.

The "Car Barn" gang, the police say, is on the war path because Daniel Lynch of 205 East Ninety-seventh Street was sent to the workhouse for three months by Magistrate Kernochan, for threatening Patrolman William Porter, who had caused Joseph Murphy, a member of the gang, to be sent to the penitentiary. Leo Schack, a witness against Murphy, told Magistrate Kernochan he had been driven out of business at First Avenue and 101st Street by the gang. Lynch had been arrested thirty times.

EAGER FOR CHANGE IN INHERITANCE TAX

Allied Real Estate Interests to Meet in Albany To-day to Urge Adoption of the Harte Bill.

SAVES MONEY TO THE STATE

Avoids the Double Tax System and Makes Inheritances Pay on a Graduated Basis.

A meeting is to be held in Centennial Hall at Albany to-day, under the auspices of the Allied Real Estate Interests, to urge the adoption of the Harte Inheritance Tax bill, which has the support of the New York Tax Reform Association. This measure eliminates entirely the double taxation of securities, which it is alleged has driven out of the State a great deal of capital, and therein goes a great deal further than the simple revision, which has also been suggested, of the old inheritance tax that was in force till last year.

A. C. Pleydell, Secretary of the New York Tax Reform Association, in discussing the Harte bill yesterday, laid great stress on the necessity of removing the double taxation features.

"Though the high rates of the present law," said he, "are the immediate cause of the withdrawal by non-residents of investments in New York corporations and such securities as they have heretofore had on deposit here, they have been impelled to action still more by the discovery that even though their securities are subject to inheritance taxation in their own States, New York will also exact a duty on all stock they hold in a New York corporation and on all securities and money that they may have on deposit in a bank or safe deposit vault here.

"It is quite true that under the old law, by which legacies to direct descendants were taxed 1 per cent. and to collateral descendants 5 per cent., this double taxation existed. But the amount of the duty was small, and as a matter of fact did not become a matter of common knowledge. The new law, however, by imposing a tax of much higher rate, has attracted general attention. Magazine and newspaper editorials and circulars sent out by brokers have warned non-residents of the liability of their estates for double taxation, and the capitalists are fully alive to the situation.

"Hence it would not be sufficient to revert to the old law. Non-residents understand now that their New York investments and bank accounts are liable to double taxation, and they would be no more willing to pay the 1 or 5 per cent. New York tax than they would the 10 or even 25 per cent. exacted under the present law."

Mr. Pleydell took the estimate of THE NEW YORK TIMES that the withdrawals of securities and investments amounts to $400,000,000, and argued that that meant that the State had thereby lost an annual income of $200,000 to $300,000, or more than one-third of the annual revenue from all non-resident estates. On the other hand, he did not consider that so far the number of residents to acquire a legal residence outside the State on account of the tax is as yet large. Many capitalists, he believed, have been waiting to see whether the Legislature will grant them any relief this season before taking definite action.

"It is improbable," went on Mr. Pleydell, "that a simple return to the old rates would be reassuring to our wealthy citizens. The whole question would be left unsettled. For several years there has been a growing demand for more revenue from the inheritance tax, and as the old rates were quite high enough on small estates, the only way to raise more money is by progressive rates. Last year's changes in the inheritance tax were made in the belief that public sentiment favored higher rates, especially on large inheritances. But the new rates have proved too high, and it now appears that the State can gain larger revenue than under the old law by retaining the graduation of rates at a more moderate figure and by eliminating the double taxation feature."

Senator Dennis J. Harte's bill does this. It exempts all legacies up to $5,000. It taxes inheritances beyond that amount as follows:

Amount.	Rate, Direct Heirs.	Rate, Collateral Heirs.
$5,001 to $50,000	1 per cent.	5 per cent.
50,001 to 250,000	2 per cent.	6 per cent.
Over $1,000,000	4 per cent.	8 per cent.

As in the present law, the rates are based on the amount of the bequest and not on the entire estate, and each increased rate is only on the sum above that which is taxed at the lower rate. The bill follows the model inheritance tax law, put forward by the International Tax Association after the matter had been for two years under consideration of a committee of experts.

The Harte bill will also, explained Mr. Pleydell, exempt New York corporation shares held by non-residents and also securities kept by non-residents in safety deposit boxes in this State. Thus it will remove the objection non-residents have felt under the present law to investing in this State's corporations and to using the banking and safe deposit facilities of its institutions. However, it continues to tax real estate and merchandise situated within the State, whether they belong to residents or non-residents, and all shares and securities of residents wherever they may be located.

Bequests for educational or charitable purposes in other States are exempt, although at present they must pay at the same rate as bequests to collateral relatives or strangers. Mr. Pleydell thinks that citizens who would not remove from this State on account of high rates on bequests to persons may feel justified in changing their residences to prevent a charitable bequest being taxed as high as 25 per cent.

ANOTHER TEAMSTER MOBBED

Life Threatened After Killing of a Child, a Policeman Protects Him.

Carrying her fourteen-months-old baby on one arm and dragging her two-year-old son Pasqualino with the other, Mrs. Rosalina Dalanarosa of 569 Courtlandt Avenue, the Bronx, tried to cross Morris Avenue at 151st Street, late yesterday afternoon, just as a team of horses drawing a heavy truck belonging to Samuel Ziegler of 141st Street and Morris Avenue came lumbering along.

Just in front of the truck Mrs. Dalanaroza tripped and fell. The baby was carried to the ground with her, and the little boy was thrown before the approaching horses. Bystanders dragged mother and baby out of danger, but before the driver, Charles Chattem of 276 East 153d Street, could stop his team, Pasqualino was struck by the hoofs of one of the horses and crushed under a front wheel of the wagon. He was killed instantly.

An angry mob gathered in a moment, and a dozen men swarmed up over the sides of the wagon, threatening the driver. Policeman Sommerer, a block away, ran up in time to shield him and drive off the mob. Then he arrested Chattem on a charge of homicide.

New South American Fruit Imports.

An experiment in the importation of South American fruit will be tried on the arrival early in June of the steamship Voltaire. She will bring in a large consignment of grapes from Mendoza, 850 miles in the interior from Buenos Aires. She will also bring oranges from Brazil. To accommodate these shipments a special refrigerator plant has been placed on the vessel.

TAYLOR WANTS ALIMONY CUT.

Says Wine Business Is Bad and He Can't Pay His Wife $400 a Month.

Leroy M. Taylor, a member of many clubs, an amateur balloonist, and a wine salesman for Francis Dras & Co., has made application before Supreme Court Justice Aspinall in Brooklyn for a reduction of alimony allowed his wife, Marie J. Taylor, from $400 a month to $200 a month, on the ground that his income of $20,000 a year has been cut to $5,000 because of a tremendous falling off in the wine business. When the alimony was allotted to Mrs. Taylor for the support of herself and two daughters, on Jan. 21 last, Mr. Taylor says, he was getting an income of $12,000 from an estate he inherited from his mother and a salary of $300 a week, with a drawing account of $175 a week for expenses, from the wine firm. Now, he says, the estate yields only $9,000 and his salary has been cut to $2,400 a year, with a drawing account of $2,600 for expenses. He adds that, owing to the state of the wine business and the fact that he has nothing more than an oral contract with the firm, he does not know but that he may at any time be deprived entirely of that source of income.

Mrs. Taylor, in an affidavit filed yesterday opposing the reduction of alimony, alleges that Mr. Taylor's income has not really been reduced at all; that he is living in apartments at Eighty-fifth Street and Central Park West, spending large sums on automobile rides, theatres, and dinner parties at hotels, and that he has been doing so for the last four years, while she was obliged, owing to his scant allowances to her before the divorce was granted, to fall in debt for bread, ice, telephone, and electric lighting.

Mr. Taylor is a member of the New York Yacht, Larchmont, New York Athletic, Lambs, and Aero Clubs. On Dec. 4 last he organized the Fliers' Club for balloonists at an expensive dinner at Delmonico's. According to his wife's affidavit, he has also "endeavored to attain fame as a balloonist and makes occasional flights in a manner to attract public attention. He boasts also that single balloon trips cost $100, which he finds it more convenient to pay than to pay the grocer."

On Nov. 30, 1910, Mr. Taylor, with two friends, made a balloon ascension in the midst of a snowstorm at Pittsfield, Mass., intending to land in New York. The sides and top of his balloon, the Cleveland, were loaded with nearly a ton of snow, and the balloon itself descended at Amenia, N. Y., forty-five miles from Pittsfield.

ANTHONY HOPE

Has Written a Big Novel

MRS. MAXON PROTESTS

Just Published

This is pre-eminently Anthony Hope's novel of modern life. It is more than thoughts about the social pageant, it is life itself. The crisp speeches are like "The Dolly Dialogues," but the theme is much deeper. Here is the real world, its respectability, its narrowness, its curious codes of morality, as they look to a man so sensitive to the romantic side of life as Anthony Hope. Mrs. Maxon is married to a cold, stern man who doesn't understand her. Finding that she can no longer endure her life with him she decides upon a separation. He will not divorce her. So she is left in her false position. How she works out her destiny is a story of great human appeal.

JURY OF 13 WOMEN TRY DAMAGE SUIT

It Was All a Government Club Affair and Defendant Was a Street Railway Company.

FULL CLAIM NOT ALLOWED

Disappointing Result Said by Some to Have Been Due to Unlucky Number in Jury Box.

Thirteen good women and true filed into the courtroom and announced a verdict of $20,000 in favor of the plaintiff. Of course, there should have been only twelve jurywomen in the Government Club's trial of a suit against a city railroad company brought by a woman who fell from one of the company's cars, which took place yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Astor. The women did seem to count up twelve, but there were thirteen names on the jury list, and some one said that it was on account of the unlucky number that the verdict was not given for a larger sum than the plaintiff asked for instead of a smaller.

The case on trial was a sad one. The plaintiff had broken her "tibbia" in falling, she had "blackened her dorsal vertebra"—that was what the doctor said, and she ought to have been killed outright for the humane nurse, who came to her assistance immediately after the accident, announced on the witness stand that she had given the patient six grains of morphine on the spot. She reconsidered when they told her that her patient would have died with only two grains, but whatever she did, the patient was in a shocking condition when she was herself brought into the witness chair.

She was on crutches, she trembled with nervous shock, and when reference was made to her fiancé, lost to her forever through the terrible accident, she fainted quite away. The plaintiff looked such a wreck and so entirely the real thing even when she hobbled out of the room, that the audience applauded the acting, and the doctor and nurse, who had been administering smelling salts and water, but didn't feel that they were the real thing at all, were fairly frightened.

"You needn't keep it up now," said the doctor in a worried tone, "you have me scared." And two Christian Science women hurried off rapidly, one of them saying to the other:

"This is sickness, and I believe in health. Let us get away from here."

The case the women tried was a complicated one from a medical standpoint; the patient, it was said, would never be a well and happy woman again without the miraculous interference of Providence of which on that particular line there was not at present a case on record. It was requested that all females leave the courtroom before the doctor's testimony was taken, but the women crowded closer at that and not one was put out.

Mrs. Florence Frohwein, the plaintiff, was a buyer for the Come and Spend Company, on a salary of $10,000. Taking a Broadway car one day on her way from a temperance lecture to a vegetarian restaurant the conductor rang the bell for the car to start before she had alighted, and the accident occurred.

Conductor Kolyerdown (Mrs. Charles Rosenfeld) insisted that the lady's head was looking south, her body turned north, and she persisted in trying to hold his car and walk off at the same time, and naturally something happened.

Counsel for the defense, Mrs. Belle de Rivera, said with great sarcasm, that as the plaintiff's witnesses had stated that she was previous to the accident a strong and robust woman, undoubtedly she was trying to hold the car back until she was ready to leave it. Counsel de Rivera offered as exhibits A and B a silk dress skirt and pair of silk gloves, worn by the plaintiff at the time of the accident, and proved by them that the accident could not have been serious.

Witness for the plaintiff, Mrs. Bensel, wearing a white gown, Irish lace, and ostrich feathers, testified, as upstairs girl in the Frohwein family, that she had sold the skirt and gloves to the defense for $10.

Counsel for the plaintiff Hungerford made a point there, when she said that she knew those silk gloves. They cost 49 cents and were only for Summer wear, and so was the silk skirt, Exhibit B.

Hitemagain, the motorman, (Mrs. Balch,) when asked what he thought when he saw the accident said it wasn't his business to think, and Policeman (Mrs.) Campbell got so mixed up about the length of his beat that he was summarily dismissed.

Mrs. Harry Hastings looked dignified and a little warm wearing a black gown as Judge. Miss Evans, who raised her hand convincingly when there was undue noise in the court, was clerk. Mrs. James Geer was the doctor for the plaintiff, and Mrs. Adelaide Grimshaw, who had the prosperous air of a corporation officer, was the doctor for the defense. Riccardo Martin, the opera singer, (Mrs. James Du Bois,) was one of the witnesses for the defense. Mrs. H. H. Hamilton was the trained nurse overgenerous with morphine. Mrs. Friedlander was another of the witnesses, and the thirteen good and true women on the jury were Mrs. Gerard Bancker, foreman; Mrs. Frederick E. Grant, Mrs. E. L. Hill, Mrs. John Lee, Mrs. William P. Maloney, Mrs. C. E. Lichtenheim, Mrs. F. E. Morse, Mrs. Rosa Moses, Mrs. G. W. Cobb, Mrs. George Ashwell, Mrs. Stewart Hector, Mrs. D. V. L. Sheppard, and Mrs. Mary Saunders.

The jury brought in a decision in a very few minutes.

The suit was for $25,000. When the plaintiff fainted in the witness stand it was asked if any man in the court had a bottle of whisky in his pocket, but no one had.

AGAINST A FREE WOOL BILL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—There is a strong probability that the long-expected caucus of House Democrats to discuss the wool bill, which is to come from Ways and Means this week, will be held the last of this week or the first of next. The fight is at an end in Ways and Means, and Mr. Underwood has won out, having been able to win over to his side four members, who at first were for free wool. These are Hull of Tennessee, Peters of Massachusetts, Hughes of New Jersey, and Dixon of Indiana.

Of the fourteen majority members of the committee those named above and Underwood, Brantley of Georgia, Hammond of Minnesota, Shackleford of Missouri, and Palmer of Pennsylvania, constitute the majority for the compromise duty on wool, which will probably be 5 cents a pound, as against 11 now and a reduction of 50 per cent. on duties on manufactured woolen goods.

BID FOR PANAMA BONDS.

Average Price Expected to be About 100½—Many by Practical Jokers.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Bids for the $50,000,000 issue of 3 per cent. Panama bonds are arriving at the Treasury. All bids will be opened on June 17, one month from the day the issue was announced. Fake bids from so-called practical jokers making ridiculous offers are received at the rate of a dozen a day.

Treasury officials believe that the popular bids have not had time to come in yet and expect a great quantity of them. Estimates of the probable average price of the issue now centre around 100½.

DUVEENS MAY PLEAD TO-DAY.

Indicted Art Dealers Back from Abroad Appear Unexpectedly in Court.

Henry J. Duveen and Benjamin J. Duveen of the art firm of Duveen Brothers, on Fifth Avenue, who were last reported to be in England, unexpectedly appeared late yesterday afternoon, with their counsel, John B. Stanchfield, in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court. It was understood that the object of their visit was to withdraw the pleas of not guilty which they made to the Federal indictment charging them with being concerned in extensive customs frauds in connection with the importation of costly works of art from abroad.

United States District Attorney Wise was taken by surprise at the appearance of the indicted art dealers, and at his request Judge Martin postponed the hearing of Mr. Stanchfield's motions until 10 o'clock this morning.

When the Duveen firm made a settlement of $1,200,000 cash with the Government on April 11 it was stated that the compromise agreement would not in any way affect the two brothers.

Joseph J. Duveen and Louis J. Duveen, who were also under indictment on March 27, entered pleas of guilty before Judge Martin and were fined $10,000 each, which they paid.

MANY CASES OF MEASLES.

700 Reported in Manhattan Last Week —School Attendance Affected.

An epidemic of measles, making itself felt earlier than usual this season, has recently been cutting into the attendance of the public and private schools. Yesterday so many of the younger pupils of the Collegiate School, at 241 West Seventy-seventh Street, were absent that the Principal decided to close the work of the term, except for the senior classes.

When an effort was made to have the Board of Health send fumigators to the school it was ascertained that the board's disinfecting squad has been greatly overworked recently and could not attend to the matter. On receipt of this information the school authorities proceeded at their own expense to have the building disinfected.

At the offices of the Board of Health it was ascertained that there were about 600 cases of measles in Manhattan reported for the first week in May, while for the week ended last Saturday the total was 700. Dr. Blauvelt, who is in charge of the sanitary service, stated that the last great epidemic occurred in 1907, when the cases reported for the heaviest month totaled 7,542, and the total for the entire year was 88,276, as compared with 16,622 for the year previous. The present figures, while large, he said, would probably increase for another month, when the maximum would be eached and the disease would begin to recede.

"Every one who hasn't had measles," he said, "catches them whenever he comes near a person who has them. The result is that once they get started they spread alarmingly fast."

FAMILY AGREED TO DIE.

Mother, Son, and Daughter Were Despondent Over Father's Death.

Despondent over the loss of her husband eighteen months ago and fearing poverty as a result of his death, Mrs. Gesena Schroeder turned on the gas in her bedroom on the second floor of 139 Coffey Street, Brooklyn, late on Sunday night, while her two children slept, and prepared to die. The three were found dead there about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The children were Henry, 12 years old, and May, 10 years old.

The woman had made careful preparations to bring about the death of herself and children. The doors and windows in the rooms had been closed and cracks filled with paper so that the gas could not escape. She wrote a letter on Sunday and mailed it that night to her cousin, Mrs. Anna Maass, of 295 Van Brunt Street, Brooklyn, in which she said she could not live without her husband. Mrs. Maass received the letter in the first mail yesterday morning and hurried to her cousin's home. She knocked on the door and received no response. Then she screamed and her cries aroused the neighbors. Some of them with the assistance of Policeman Hanley of the Hamilton Avenue Station broke open the door of Mrs. Schroeder's flat.

Gas filled the rooms. They tried the kitchen door and this was locked. When they forced it open they were almost overcome from the gas. The windows were thrown open and the place aired before they could go further. They found the two children and Mrs. Schroeder lying on a folding bed which she had dragged from her room into the kitchen. The children were in their night clothes, but Mrs. Schroeder was fully dressed.

The letter which Mrs. Maass received was in German. Translated, it read:

> I am almost out of my mind. My little girl has not been feeling well. She is crying all the time, and would rather die with me than stay here. Henry feels the same way. I have written to my mother in Germany that I have not been feeling well, and that I have made my will. Mr. Maass and Mr. Pope will take charge of my money and send it to my mother. Bury me very plainly.
>
> I have always lived right. No one knows what it is to be left alone until he is left alone. I give my children to God's care. Whosoever loves God, God loves them. It was learned that Sunday was her little girl's birthday, and Mrs. Schroeder had a party in honor of the event. Neighbors who saw her as late as 10 o'clock Sunday night did not notice that she was despondent. On the dining room table lay a German hymnal opened and a prayer book. She and her children had been singing hymns during the evening.

Since her husband's death she had struggled to provide for herself and children. He left her $2,000 insurance money, and a large part of this is in a bank.

M'ALEENAN DEAD FROM A PISTOL SHOT

FAMILY HOLDS THIS OPINION

John McAleenan, son of Henry McAleenan, the pawnbroker, and a prominent member of the New York Athletic Club, died from a pistol shot early yesterday morning as he lay in bed in the third floor rear room of his home, 18 East Ninety-fourth Street. His young wife and his aged father, who were in the house at the time, say Mr. McAleenan had retired and was alone at the time he was shot. The dead man was 36 years old.

When the police reached the McAleenan residence, after learning of the shooting somewhat indirectly, they were inclined to believe that Mr. McAleenan had committed suicide. Coroner Winterbottom, after an investigation, was inclined to believe the statement of the family to the effect that McAleenan had shot himself in his sleep, while dreaming of burglars, with the heavy Colt's revolver which he had kept under his pillow every night since he was 15 years old.

The police first heard of the shooting when Supt. Nelson of the Hollywood apartment house, just around the Madison Avenue corner from the McAleenan residence, telephoned to the East Eighty-eighth Street Station that one of the McAleenan servants had run in there hatless to say that Mr. McAleenan had been shot and asking that an ambulance be called.

When Detectives Stein and White arrived at the McAleenan houses, they found Ambulance Surgeon Freeman standing on the steps arguing with a member of the McAleenan family, who was saying that Dr. J. M. Creamer, who is Mr. McAleenan's brother-in-law, and Dr. John L. Bodine, the family's physician, were already in attendance.

The detectives and Coroner Winterbottom, when they were taken to the third floor rear bedroom, found McAleenan lying dead in bed with a bullet in his left temple. Coroner Winterbottom reasoned that if McAleenan had sat up in bed and sought consciously to shoot himself, he would have placed the muzzle of the pistol to his right temple instead of to his left. Coroner Winterbottom has known the family personally, and after questioning its various members, became convinced that the pistol, while lying in its accustomed place under the pillow, had been discharged by McAleenan while he was asleep. Dr. Creamer said McAleenan caused his family uneasiness for more than twenty years by sleeping with one or more big revolvers concealed in the bed.

"He had been sleeping with one pistol under his pillow and another under his knees practically every night since he was a 15-year-old boy," Dr. Creamer told a TIMES reporter yesterday. "He was always expecting burglars and looking forward to having romantic adventures. He was fond of reading stories of adventure when he was a boy, and, since growing to manhood, had gone on many hunting trips and collected armor and weapons. I tried sleeping with him last Summer myself, but had to give it up, because he several times almost shot me for a burglar when I came into our bedroom while he was asleep.

"He had no reason to commit suicide. He had been going down to Fox Hills, on Staten Island, and playing in the New York Athletic Club's golf tournament there for the last few days. He was Chairman of the House Committee of the club. He went to Fox Hills with me yesterday and played in the tournament all day. He was cheerful, and made an engagement with me for this morning. He returned to the city in the evening, met his young wife, to whom he was greatly attached, and had dinner with her downtown.

"Their residence in East Ninety-fourth Street was also Mr. McAleenan's father's home. Mr. McAleenan was tired and retired at about 11 o'clock. Shortly after midnight his wife and father, who had not yet retired, heard a shot coming from his bedroom, and ran into the room. They found him lying in bed in a natural position for sleep. They telephoned for me, and I arrived twenty minutes later with Dr. Bodine. I believe that he shot himself while asleep, because the powder marks on the bed clothes showed that he was lying down and not sitting up when the pistol went off."

McAleenan had no cares or worries of any kind, according to Dr. Creamer. He had been managing his father's pawnshop at Thirty-fifth Street and Sixth Avenue, with his brother Arthur. Besides his wife and a 2-year-old daughter, he is survived by two brothers and three sisters. The police of the East Eighty-eighth Street Station said yesterday afternoon that they accepted the family's theory that McAleenan had shot himself in his sleep while dreaming of burglars.

TREASURER BLACK INDICTED.

Deposit Made with Knickerbocker Loan Co. Covering Defalcations.

An indictment charging T. Atherton Black, Treasurer of the Knickerbocker Savings and Loan Company, which was closed by the State Banking Department last Friday, with grand larceny in the first degree was handed up to Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Black was arrested at Thirty-fourth Street and Sixth Avenue early this morning by Detective Leigh of the District Attorney's office.

The indictment alleges that on Jan. 5, 1910, Black drew a check for $1,705.90, which was supposed to be in payment of seventeen shares of stock held by William K. Sparrow, a stockholder in the company, but that in reality it was a purely fictitious transaction so far as Mr. Sparrow is concerned. The indictment states that Sparrow continued to hold his stock, and that at no time did he ever receive any benefit from the check.

It alleges, further, that Black carried the amount on the books as stock which had been surrendered and paid for, but continued to pay Mr. Sparrow dividends on it.

State Bank Examiners Hmphries and Haight, who made the complaint in the case to the District Attorney, were examined by the Grand Jury.

Black's alleged defalcations are estimated to amount to nearly $15,000.

In a statement issued by Hubert H. Gibbs, Secretary and attorney of the company, last night he says that the President and himself have insisted that the Treasurer, Mr. Black, deposit a sum sufficient to cover the estimated amount of the shortage, and that they are informed that this has now been done.

Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., Fined $5.

Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., husband of Marjorie Gould, was found guilty of exceeding the automobile speed limit in Magistrate Marsh's court at Stapleton, S. I., yesterday afternoon and fined $5. Mr. and Mrs. Drexel were on their way from New York to Belmar, N. J., in their automobile. Near New Dorp he was arrested by a bicycle policeman, who accused him of running at thirty miles an hour. Mr. Drexel admitted traveling that fast, and paid his fine. While Mr. Drexel's examination was on Mrs. Drexel sat in the automobile outside the Court House.

STRIKE OF SEAMEN COMING.

Expected to be World-Wide and May Be on Here To-morrow.

Some of the British transatlantic steamship companies received notice yesterday that the threatened strike of seamen on all vessels throughout the world was likely to occur any day, and the representatives in New York of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union of Great Britain said that it might delay the sailing of the Mauretania to-morrow. The New York branch of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union of Great Britain has an office at 3 State Street.

Matthew Tearle, Secretary of this branch, said that the agents of the steamship companies had been belittling the strike movement, but they would learn their mistake. He figured that 185,000 sailors, firemen, cooks, and others would strike within the next few days, perhaps within twenty-four hours.

"The sailors when they go on board the vessels at Liverpool or any other English port," he said, "receive an advance on their wages, which generally is a pound, or a fraction over $4, which covers their wages until they get here. The immigration authorities or the British Consul can do nothing if they do not ship back, as they do not come under American laws. That has been shown over and over again, and it is not an unusual thing for a British seaman, when he comes here, to stay here."

Representatives of the companies took a different view as to the liabilities of the seamen when they signed articles. Marine Superintendent Smith of the White Star Line said:

"If a British seaman ships in Liverpool articled for the round trip, he becomes a deserter if he does not ship back to England. If the men quit the ships here we are responsible for them and they are a charge on us. As many of them as we can get can be sent back to England, where they will be tried for desertion."

Capt. Lockhurst, Marine Superintendent of the American and Atlantic Transport Lines, said he did not believe that 5 per cent. of the seamen would obey the strike order.

SENATE TO REOPEN THE LORIMER CASE

Committee That Exonerated Him Agrees to Hear New Evidence in Order to Save Its Face.

LA FOLLETTE ATTACKS HIM

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Developments in the Senate to-day made it certain that in one way or another a new investigation of the charges of corruption against Senator William Lorimer's election will be undertaken. Senator La Follette had announced that he would speak this afternoon for his resolution naming five new Senators to make the investigation, but before he could begin what was expected to be an attack on the Committee on Privileges and Elections that committee had taken the wind from his sails by introducing through its Chairman, Senator Dillingham, a resolution authorizing the committee itself to take additional testimony.

This resolution, however, left Mr. La Follette something to fight for, as his chief anxiety had been all along to keep his proposed investigation out of the hands of Mr. Dillingham's committee, which he believes to be friendly to the sitting member from Illinois. He accordingly delivered the first installment of his speech, as planned, and will continue to-morrow in an argument aimed to show the unfitness of the Committee on Privileges and Elections to handle the investigation.

At the same time the Democratic Steering Committee had met, and practically decided on a third plan for an investigation, which, while leaving it nominally to the committee, as Senatorial courtesy demands, would yet make the investigation mandatory instead of leaving it to the committee's discretion. The Dillingham resolution will be offered as a substitute for Mr. La Follette's when a vote is reached.

That makes a tangle of three plans, but the upshot of them all is that the Lorimer case will be reopened.

The Plans Compared.

The La Follette plan lacks strength because it is too open an attack on the standing Committee on Elections. The Dillingham plan, in so far as it is embodied in his resolution of this morning, leaving the whole thing to the committee, is considered weak in that it too completely trusts the committee that last session exonerated Mr. Lorimer. The Democrats are seeking to combine these two positions in a resolution yet to be introduced directing the committee to name a sub-committee to the Senate which shall at once begin the investigation as soon as plenary powers have been conferred upon it by the Senate.

Still another element of confusion is added to the situation by Mr. Dillingham's private efforts to win strength for his plan. These efforts have taken the form of offering to the Democrats assurances which almost amount to the tacit acceptance of the Democratic plan. Thus in order to save the face of his committee the committee leaders are telling the Democrats that a sub-committee will be at once named to begin the work, and this sub-committee will be acceptable to the anti-Lorimer faction.

The personnel of the sub-committee, as mentioned this afternoon, includes Mr. Dillingham as Chairman, Mr. Sutherland of Utah, Mr. Kenyon of Iowa, Mr. Kern of Indiana, and Mr. Lea of Tennessee. All of these Senators, with the exception of the Chairman, are presumptively against Mr. Lorimer. Mr. Dillingham voted for Mr. Lorimer's retention of his seat at the last session and Mr. Sutherland voted against it. Mr. Kenyon is an insurgent of strong convictions, and the other two are both Democrats of the radical persuasion.

Talk of La Follette Deal.

The Democrats have not yet completed the draft of their resolution, but such as it is Mr. La Follette is understood to have said that he would vote for it, if his still more radical plan is voted down. Also in the opening sentences of his address this afternoon he said that he might perfect his own resolution by amendments, and these amendments may gain him support. There are further rumors of a deal between the Democrats and Mr. La Follette, aimed to induce Mr. La Follette, as Chairman of the Committee on the Census, to report favorably the bill for the reapportionment of the House representation favored by the Democrats, but this rumor is not especially new and cannot be confirmed.

Mr. La Follette did not get very far with his speech to-day, and judging from his rapidly thinning audience he did not make much impression. He gave a long review of the Lorimer case, which had been discussed ad nauseam in the Senate only two months ago. He condemned Senatorial courtesy as too often used as a veil to conceal the fact that the Senate is no longer representative, and he assailed Mr. Lorimer particularly because for a month after charges were first published against him he sat quietly in the Senate without replying.

"Charged with bribery by the men who admitted having accepted the bribes, the Senator sat here quietly without answer for nearly one month," declared Senator La Follette. "Is there any Senator here other than the Senator in question who would not have arisen the day after the publication and denounced the charges as false? I don't see how any man fit to sit here—any innocent man, in short—could have sat still under these charges which swept from end to end of the country. As long as I live I will encourage myself to believe that no other member of this body would have been so silent."

Mr. La Follette declared that the votes of the thirty Democratic Senators in the Illinois Legislature for Mr. Lorimer would stick in the minds of the people when it was remembered that the Democratic votes were under the leadership of Lee O'Neal Brown, who had $30,000 strapped on his person. Senator La Follette said he understood that the Senate Committee had permitted an attorney in the case to divert it from an inquiry into Mr. Lorimer's knowledge in the case. Page upon page of the tesimony, he declared, showed the closest associations between Mr. Lorimer, Speaker Shurtliff, and Lee O'Neal Brown, the Democratic leader.

"So, I say, I was convinced that Lorimer had personal knowledge," asserted Mr. La Follette. "It is inconceivable that he could have been there without having personal knowledge. It could not have been otherwise."

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND.

ertrude Quimby of Boston Was Here Looking for a Stage Engagement.

Gertrude Marie Quimby, the missing Boston girl who has been looked for in Manhattan and Brooklyn ever since she left her home on May 16, was found at Broadway and Forty-seventh Street yesterday afternoon by Central Office detectives. She had been staying at a nearby hotel with a married friend, she told the police, ever since she left home. She spent her time looking for a theatrical engagement.

The girl was taken to Police Headquarters, where Inspector Russell questioned her. Then, since the police say she is under sixteen years of age, she was taken to the Children's Society, where she will be cared for until she is taken before Judge Hoyt in the Children's Court to-day. The society notified her mother in Boston, and requested her to be in court when the case comes up. The girl denied that she had left home in company with an actor in a play which was appearing in Boston at the time.

"I came to New York to go on the stage," she told the Superintendent of the Children's Society, "and I had with me $20 I had earned by posing for photographers in Boston. I went to friends in Brooklyn as soon as I arrived here, but I will not tell their names. I spent the time going about among the theatrical agents, but they all told me that, since I was under 16, I would have to get a permit from the Children's Society before I could get an engagement. I don't want to go home, where I have had differences with my stepfather, but want to stay here and go on the stage."

STIMSON IN WAR OFFICE.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Henry L. Stimson, the Republican nominee for Governor of New York, who notwithstanding Col. Roosevelt's ardent support was defeated by Gov. Dix, was sworn in to-day as Secretary of War to succeed Jacob McG. Dickinson, resigned. The oath was administered by John B. Randolph, Clerk of Records, who has performed the same office for many of Mr. Stimson's predecessors. Mr. Stimson will not assume active direction of the War Department until next Monday, Gen. Oliver meanwhile acting as Secretary.

Mr. Stimson reached Washington this morning and called at once to pay his respects to the President. He was joined at the White House by Senator Root of New York and Representative Dwight of the same State. Together the three went to the War Department.

Only a few personages were present at the time the new official took the oath. Secretary Dickinson was there, and Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff; Assistant Secretary Oliver, Private Secretary Pedigo, besides Senator Root and Representative Dwight.

As soon as the formal part of the proceeding was over, more than 100 officers of the General Staff and others detailed to department work were received by the new Secretary. All of them were in full uniform, and all were cordially greeted by the incoming Cabinet official.

When the officers had paid their respects to their new chief the civil employes of the entire War Department were received. The incoming and outgoing Secretaries stood together as the line passed, the former making the acquaintance of his associates and the latter bidding them good-bye.

The new Secretary said he would return to New York at once and arrange his personal affairs in order that he might come to Washington next Monday prepared to remain here throughout his term.

ACT ON OIL DECISION.

Judges Lacombe, Noyes, and Ward of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals handed down a decision yesterday having an important bearing upon civil litigation based upon the provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust act. In view of the interpretation placed upon that statute by the decision in the Standard Oil case, reading the word "reasonable" into the law as qualifying the restraint of trade to which the Sherman act refers, the Circuit Court granted to the attorneys for the defense in the suit of Adelberto Thomsen against the Union Castle Mail Steamship Company, the right to file additional briefs.

The Thomsen suit has been pending since 1903, and was directed against a combination of steamship companies in the South African trade, which, it was alleged, had been maintaining a combination in restraint of foreign trade, operating under a fixed schedule of rates, which shut off outside competition by requiring shippers to pay a fixed percentage in addition to the rate, which was returned after fifteen months, if in the meantime the shippers had not patronized any steamship company outside of the combination.

Judge Hough, in the original trial of the suit, dismissed the complaint, holding that under the common law, restraint of trade, if partial and reasonable, was lawful, and declaring that in his view of the common law, the trade regulation imposed by the agreement of the steamship companies, was reasonable, "although, perhaps, unwisely interpreted in practice." He held that the general question whether the Sherman act permitted reasonable restraint of trade, did not require decision in the case before him.

On appeal the judgment of the lower court was reversed, the Judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals holding that, as the steamship combination in question was in restraint of foreign trade, it was prohibited under the Sherman act, and that whether the restraint practiced was reasonable or unreasonable was immaterial in view of the decisions of the United States Supreme Court. On a second trial, held April 28, 1909, the plaintiff got an award of $25,310. The lawyers for the defense set up the contention as soon as the decision of the Standard Oil case was rendered that the decision in that litigation reversed the findings of the Circuit Court of Appeals on the appeal from the original decision of Judge Hough, and that therefore they were entitled to file additional briefs.

OVER SEAS TO HIS PATIENT.

Dr. J. J. Choate arrived last night from Los Angeles on his way to Rome, Italy, in answer to a cable received from Mrs. Adele Browning, one of his patients, who has been taken ill on her way through Europe, and wants him to attend her there. He has been her family physician for the last twelve years. Dr. Choate said:

"Mrs. Browning, with her daughter, went abroad some weeks ago, and while staying at Rome she was seized with fever of some kind and cabled to me asking if I would come to attend her there. I cabled back to say that I would start at once, and estimated that it would take me thirteen days to reach Rome from Los Angeles, traveling straight through to New York and catching the Mauretania, sailing on Wednesday at 9 o'clock. The Cunard agents inform me that I should arrive there on Wednesday night, May 31, which will be just the thirteen days I had reckoned on."

DEDICATE MEMORIAL TO MAJOR L'ENFANT

SENATOR ROOT CRITICAL

Finds the Capital Is Being Extended More on the Ideas of Real Estate Men Than Those of Art Lovers.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—On a green knoll in front of the old Lee mansion in Arlington Cemetery, overlooking the Potomac and the capital, a memorial was unveiled to-day to Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the French engineer to whose prophetic vision Washington owes its broad avenues and its symmetry of design.

President Taft, Ambassador Jusserand of France, and Senator Root of New York spoke in eulogy of Major L'Enfant. The ribbons of red, white, and blue that bound the American flag to the marble face of the memorial were lifted by Miss Eleanor Carroll Morgan, great-granddaughter of William Dudley Digges, in whose home L'Enfant found refuge when he was dismissed from the service of this Government. Mgr. Russell of St. Patrick's Catholic Church made the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

"There are not many," said President Taft, "who have to wait 100 years to receive the reward to which they are entitled, until the world shall make the progress which enables it to pay the just reward. The man whose memory we celebrate to-day had a highly artistic temperament, and he had the defects which not infrequently accompany that temperament; and it is that fact which has obscured at times and in some degree the merit of what he did, and lessened the gratitude we owe him for what he did.

"L'Enfant will now lie here appropriately in state and in rest, with the gratitude of the Nation that he served so well."

Senator Root declared that Washington was being extended more in accord with the ideas of real estate men than in accord with those of lovers of art.

"It would be much better now," said the Senator, "if we were to follow the ideas of L'Enfant in extending Washington. Extensions are made on the basis of real estate operations, instead of a basis of art. No plan is followed, no adequate provision made for those vistas and points of vantage for which L'Enfant so carefully arranged. A true memorial would be an imitation of his plan. While we pay him honor may we not forget the lesson he taught.

"L'Enfant died obscure. According to the prevailing standards of life, he died a failure. He went to an unknown grave. But a century has now passed away, and his name marks the renaissance among a great people of the principles of art for which he stood."

Ambassador Jusserand referred to the death of Minister of War Berteaux.

"Berteaux," said he, "was a man like L'Enfant. He died a victim of the new invention, the aeroplane, in which he was much interested. We in France cannot forget the way in which your President expressed his grief at that sad accident. We are very much moved in the Republic of France by it, for it shows more than ever that your joys are our joys and your sorrows our sorrows."

"By the million every year, on ships more and more numerous, immigrants, travelers, tourists, men of business, and men of leisure visit the United States," M. Jusserand continued. "The majority of them see this land for the first time. Without exception they are struck by its immensity, its resources, the number of its inhabitants, now nearing a hundred million. All of those who visit the Federal city are unanimous in their praise of its beauty and its exact adaptation to the needs of a great nation.

"With the mind of a poet, with the soul of a prophet, perceiving future ages as clearly as if they were the present, a man foresaw, over a century ago, what we now see, and that man lies under the monument which a generous vote of Congress allows us to dedicate to-day—Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant."

Standing in front of the Lee mansion, the monument overlooks the Potomac River and the City of Washington. The low base of stone supports on its top a carved map, a fac simile of the original map of Washington as drawn by Major L'Enfant when he laid out the Federal capital under the direction of President Washington in July, 1790. L'Enfant was quite forgotten until 1909. From the time of his death in 1825 until that year his body lay in a lonely grave on a marshland farm. Congress made in 1909 an appropriation for the transfer of the body to the National Cemetery.

Pierre Charles L'Enfant was born in France in 1755. He was a Lieutenant in the French provisional service in 1777, when he was brought to America by Lafayette, and entered the Continental Army in the Fall of that year as an engineer. On Feb. 18, 1778, he was made a Captain of Engineers. In 1779 Major L'Enfant was wounded in the attack on Savannah, and was taken prisoner at Charleston in May, 1780. He was exchanged the following November, and on May 2, 1783, was promoted to the rank of Brevet Major and assigned to Washington's personal command.

In 1794 Major L'Enfant was employed as an engineer at Fort Mifflin and performed various public engineering services. He was appointed Professor of Engineering at West Point in July, 1812, but declined. Major L'Enfant designed the badge of the Order of the Cincinnati. He died in Prince George's County, Maryland, June 14, 1825.

MACVEAGH FAVORED RAILROADS, HE SAYS

REVERSED HIS ASSISTANT

Disclosures Made by Former Collector of Customs Stuart at House Inquiry Into Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Testifing before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Treasury Department to-day, J. E. B. Stuart, former Collector of Customs at Newport News, declared that Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh had told him that the department reversed a ruling calling for collection of a 20 per cent. duty on creosote importations because the railroads could not afford to pay duty on that commodity. Another witness testified that Secretary MacVeagh's brother had interested himself in the matter.

Mr. Stuart, who instigated an investigation into creosote imports at New Orleans last Fall, charging that the Government was losing millions in revenue because creosote, dutiable at 20 per cent. ad valorem, was being admitted as creosote oil free of duty, was summoned before the committee as the result of testimony given previously in executive session by Allan L. Benson.

Mr. Stuart related how he found that no duty was being collected at New Orleans from foreign ships whose manifests showed their cargoes to be creosote, the cargoes being received as creosote oil, which is on the free list. He told how last September Assistant Secretary of the Treasury A. Piatt Andrew had ordered that duty be collected on such imports, and that subsequently Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis had reversed the order, contending that the goods were not subject to revenue because they did not contain as much as 2 per cent. chlorine gas, and could not be classed as refined creosote. He said that he had called on Mr. Curtis and was informed of the decision and then had visited Secretary MacVeagh, who explained the decision.

"Did Mr. MacVeagh give any reason for the order?" Chairman Cox of the committee asked.

"Yes," Mr. Stuart replied, "he said that the railroads could not afford to pay duty on it."

"Was that the only reason he gave?" asked the Chairman.

"That is the only one I recall," was the reply.

Previously Allan L. Benson had told the committee in executive session that Mr. Stuart had told him of the remark that Secretary MacVeagh is alleged to have made. Mr. Benson also visited the Secretary of the Treasury to inquire about the creosote ruling. He told the committee that Mr. MacVeagh had informed him that his "instinct told me my assistant, Mr. Curtis, had done right in reversing the department in favor of the railroads." When the committee asked if Mr. MacVeagh gave any reason, Mr. Benson said:

"Mr. MacVeagh said that timber was becoming very scarce in this country and that everybody should do what he could to preserve and conserve what timber we have. He stated that this creosote is a preservative and increases the length of life of ties, and that the railroads should be encouraged in every way to use it. He said that it made a very serious difference with the railroads whether they paid the duty or not.

"I tried to get him to repeat the statement that Mr. Stuart had made to me, that Secretary MacVeagh had once told him that the railroads could not afford to pay duty on creosote. I did not want to ask him outright whether he made that statement, so I asked questions that would give him an opportunity to make the statement if he desired. He did not say it to me in so many words, but he did broach that question by saying that the railroads ought to be encouraged to use the preservative.

"He also said that his brother Wayne had called on him one day to inquire what the department was going to do in the creosote matter, and he said he told him 'that they were going to admit it free,' and that his brother then said 'that was right.'"

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis was present at the hearing to-day, and turned over to the committee some correspondence relating to the creosote controversy. He will be called as a witness before the committee later in the week. Chairman Cox said that the inquiry into the creosote import question would be prolonged for some time.

"COMFORT HAVEN": An Exhibition of SUMMER FURNITURE with Atmosphere

It's altogether a new way to show Summer Furniture—this delightful vacation spot in the Auditorium. It reminds you, for all the world, of some pretty colony of Summer houses as you might meet it along the shores of Long Island Sound, or on the Maine coast.

Not just rows upon rows of rockers and chairs, looking stiff and bored, and wishing they were somewhere else, but a chatty group of lazy-looking Wicker Furniture on a piazza, with crimson rambler roses trailing over it, or a cluster of Mission Furniture on the porch next door, and a fresh and flowery coterie of cretonne-covered pieces in the cheerful sitting-room.

Summer Furniture, in short, as you can picture it on YOUR piazza, or in YOUR living-room—which is why this exhibition is so tremendously helpful to Summer home-furnishers, and has been already so widely admired. For it possesses the intangible charm of atmosphere.

Going into details, there is a particularly artistic group of Reed Furniture in various unusual finishes, such as white, gray, blue and French gray enamel, as well as the more usual brown, green and shellac.

Delightfully soft pieces of Green Chinese Grass Furniture, that yields to the pressure of the body, include Arm Chairs, Rockers, Tables, and Children's Chairs, and range in price from $3 to $7.

There is much of the good-looking and very comfortable Forest Green Porch Furniture, with wide slat seats and backs, from an Arm Chair or Rocker at $6 to a Sofa at $10.

The ever-popular Porch Furniture of natural maple—some of the pieces with slat backs, while others have split reed seats and backs—ranges in price from 85c for Side Chairs, to $3 for Arm Rockers.

The Rustic Furniture is specially chosen for its comfort, its sturdy construction and its weather-resisting qualities. Prices run from $5.50 for an Arm Chair, to an Arbor with roof, at $24. Summer Houses may be had in sizes from 10 ft. square, at $175, to 14 ft., octagon, at $250, any of which will be delivered and set up free of charge within one hundred miles of New York.

While everything in the Exhibition is for sale, of course, especial interest attaches to the special opportunities it affords to secure delightful Summer Furniture, consisting mainly of

BRITISH POLO TEAM OUTPLAYED IN GAME

The fluctuations of the polo thermometer are upsetting the calculations of experts at such a rate that it is becoming absolutely impossible to forecast the form of any team either in practice or regularly scheduled play. Yesterday, on the International Field at Meadow Brook, a quartet of supposed medium calibre, comprising L. E. Stoddard, Rene La Montagne, Foxhall P. Keene, and Malcolm Stevenson, who played as Freebooters, but are actually the first team of the Rockaway Hunt Club, put the English challengers to the blush, had them checkmated in the second period, and at the finish beat the flying cavalry by a net score of 10¾ to 1¼.

This meant the rehabilitation of the winning team and their reinstallation into the forefront of Eastern talent. To say that this combination of Rockaway players surprised every old and young polo enthusiast on the ground is putting it mildly. Their cohesive methods, the wonderful persistency of their attack, and their unexpected ability in the matter of goal defense came upon the critical crowd at the boundary lines like a thunderbolt.

Foxhall P. Keene, the veteran player, who has long been regarded as among the most spectacular poloists in America, seemed to have dropped twenty years of his age, for he played right up to his form of many seasons ago. Picking the ball from under his opponents' mallets, backing it in sensational style, clipping it under and all around his own pony, and snapping the sphere right off the danger line while the whole troop of players raced after him, the only Foxhall showed all the youngsters how to turn an underscored team into a winning quartet, incidentally illustrating how all kinds of balls can be treated at his will irrespective of all opposition. His mastery of the ball was wizard like, and the clear "leads" he stole away with were among the most thrilling features of a game that will surely live in history.

Rene La Montagne forgot his recent accident and played with his mallet arm so effectively, and raced and rode off contenders so frequently, that he will certainly soon become a seven goal man again. Stoddard also seemed to have entirely revived from his recent illness, and he actually rapped out five goals despite the combined opposition of the English Captains, who frequently got out of their places to oppose this hard-riding "forward." Malcolm Stevenson has not been seen to such advantage for a year or more. While he suffered a fine of half a goal in the third and Keene another half during the wind-up, the good work he did wiped out all charges for fouling or crossing players.

The Englishmen were overconfident on account of the poor showing on the part of their opponents in previous games. Capt. Lloyd did not seem to muster his forces as usual, and evidently thought there was no need for so high a degree of speed. His team labored at a disadvantage in that few of the best imported ponies were used, and the British combination came away too late. There was for the first time, a noticeable lack of vim on the part of the cavalry officers and their back came forward too much, while the Captain of the team seemed nonplused at times by the extreme dash and rapidity of the Rockaway Freebooters.

And it was not by long driving, clear leads, or other so-called Meadow Brook tactics that this team outclassed the visitors. The play was mostly infield, with quick returns, catlike plunges onto the ball, and hawklike carries from half to three-quarter length of the field.

Lieut. Palmes, the efficient and impartial referee, inflicted numerous fines for foul strokes, crossings, and safety shots. Play was stopped during the second period for a couple of minutes because Capt. Edwards's tangle-footed pony went to grass, and in the fourth chukker a hard-driven ball tapped Stoddard's pony on the head.

Capt. Cheape, at the front of the English team, was the only player on that side who scored at all, and his registers came in the first and seventh periods. Half a goal was taken off for a cross by Barrett, and another quarter had to be lost in the last period for a safety back of the English goal line.

It is needless to say that British polo stock has taken a decided dip since the showing in the game under notice. But for that matter the Meadow Brook team lost to their practice four on Sunday, so there must be either extra care being taken of the ponies likely to be drafted for the international series, or there is a wholesale hiding of true form, which from certain indications may actually be the case. Score and line-up:

ENGLISH TEAM.	ROCKAWAY FREEBOOTERS.
2—Capt. Edwards,	2—R. La Montagne,

Goals.—For English Team—Cheape, 2; less ½ for foul by Edwards and ¼ for safety. Total, 1¼. For Rockaway Freebooters—La Montagne, 2, less ¼; Stevenson, 1, less ¼; Keene, 3, less ½; Stoddard, 6. Total, 10¾. Referee—Lieut. Palmes.

Long Island Poloists Easily Defeat Squadron A Team.

Ten ambitious young men played at polo yesterday on the field at Van Cortlandt Park, when teams representing Squadron A and the Meadow Brook Juniors put in an appearance to do battle for the Squadron Cups. Ten players were necessary because the Squadron quartet needed reinforcement upon two occasions, thereby using six men. Although the second substitution was not strictly according to rule, there was no contention about the matter, and the game, which was one-sided, progressed the even tenor of its way, finally resulting in a victory for Meadow Brook by 11½ goals to ¾ of a goal.

The fractions in the scores were caused by a foul in the case of Meadow Brook, when Dows hooked on the wrong side, and suffered his team the half goal loss. Squadron A made a safety and drew the loss of a quarter goal, both inflictions being doled out in the third period.

The Squadron was supposed to allow Meadow Brook a goal handicap, but the game had not progressed very far when it became quite noticeable that the penalty should have been twisted round the other way more than several times over. The match was nearly three-quarters of an hour late in starting, the first ball not being thrown in until 5::08 P. M.

From the first throw-in Meadow Brook assumed command, carying right into their opponents territory, but missing an excellent opportunity in the first minute by overriding. Dows made a nice carry, after his mates and the opposition had made violent swipes at the ball, only to miss in provoking fashion, but in what was intended as the goal getting smash he failed of direction, and the sphere went a bit wide. The teams coursed up and down the field for the rest of the period to no purpose, neither side being able to score.

Thomas Le Boutillier, 2d, proved himself head and shoulders over his fellows and opponents from the second period on. At this stage of the proceedings he contributed the first tallies for his side. In the thick of every charge it was he who captured the ball when the others had overrun it, or had failed to back it out of trouble.

After the infliction of two penalties in which both teams suffered during the third stage of the game, Le Boutillier slipped another through the posts for the third goal, just before the bell. Dows contributed midway during the fourth period after frequent scrambles in Squadron ground. Meadow Brook continually carried the fight to the home team and just after Dows's tally Parks made a pretty run, and was unfortunate in having the ball hit the post and glance off. He made amends almost immediately afterward by sending in a neatly driven ball.

The Squadron contingent had something to enthuse over when Lee, playing No. 3 for the Blue and Gold, scored and saved them from what proved to be utter rout, as this was their only count.

Le Boutillier was the mainstay in the sixth, although it was 5:57 after the ball had been thrown in that he was enabled to score from a drive of almost a quarter of the field's length. Parks got into the scoring department in the seventh period early, slamming his first count through after fifteen seconds, and his second midway during the period.

Apparently turn about was to be fair play, as far as the ultimate victors were concerned, as Holt was enabled to tally three goals in the concluding eighth, and all in bang-bang order. This afternoon Taconic plays the Westchester Insurrectors. The line-up:

MEADOW BROOK JUNIORS.	H'cap.	SQUADRON A.	H'cap.

Westchester 2d Team Wins Cup.

After a postponement by rain on last Thursday the first and second polo teams of the Westchester Country Club played the deciding game for the Novice Cup yesterday on the club grounds, the second team being victorious by the score of 7¾ goals to 4¼. Both teams showed good form, and at one stage of the game the victors only led their opponents by 1 goal, but toward the close they showed better staying power and ran up the comfortable lead. The score:

SECOND TEAM.	FIRST TEAM.
2—G. Preece,	2—L. Hoyt,
3—C. B. V. Hunt,	3—F. H. Allen,

Sullivan Unable to Go On with Nitchie —Prelims Make Up Card.

Over 700 members of the Olympic A. C. were treated to a free show last night at the expense of Manager McMahon, who rather than disappoint the members staged all but the final number and issued "rain checks." The final bout was to have been between Paddy Sullivan and Young Nitchie of Philadelphia. Sullivan has had sickness in his family and has been obliged to confine his attention to home and was not in shape to fight, and rather than put up a disappointing bout he refused to go on.

After the regular preliminary card, which was good enough in itself, the semi-final between Johnnie Harvey and Young Hickey was put on for ten rounds, but it was not of the nature to arouse any real excitement and resulted in a one-sided contest with Harvey on the losing end.

The bout went the scheduled ten rounds, but in the last two Harvey had all he could do to stay to the end. Hickey completely outclassed him from the first bell and constantly jabbed with his left and worked his right with little or no effort in the clinches.

Only one of the entire ten rounds favored Harvey, which was the fourth, when he did a little forcing and drew the blood from the cauliflower ear of Hickey, it being the only mark he showed at the end.

Harvey took an awful beating in the sixth chapter, and never once landed a telling blow, and after coming out of his corner in the next session was sent to the floor from a straight left.

Harvey, however, proved to be game, and after being all but out fought under a big handicap in the last three rounds rather than give up.

In the last preliminary of four rounds Joe Shear, the rugged little English bantam, and Joe Allen put up a good contest with plenty of action, but the Englishman's blows were the hardest and entitled him to the honors.

Phil Carmine and Kid Curtis also fought an interesting four-round session, but Carmine was much too clever for Curtis and won with plenty to spare.

The opening number was a slam-bang bout of four rounds between the rough-and-ready Brooklynite, Jimmie Murray, and Frank Brown, which terminated in a draw.

ZBYSZKO THROWS SAMPSON.

Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, made short work of the pretensions of Paul Sampson last night in the St. Nicholas Rink, in two straight falls, the first being obtained in 38 minutes with a hammerlock and leg hold, while the second, which lasted 8 minutes and 45 seconds, was gained with the victor's head in chancery, whereupon he gripped his opponent's arms and threw him over his head, pinning him by laying on.

Both men appeared to suffer from the heat, and were unable to long continue a hold, once obtained. As usual Sampson showed little or no knowledge of the game, depending upon his immense bulk to thwart the superior ideas of the game possessed by the Pole.

Zbyszko wiggled out of danger in the easiest possible manner, and allowed his opponent to fancy he had a chance. The Pole essayed the toe hold, but found it impossible to put it to a finish, asserting that the German's shoes were greased. The referee, Charley White, ruled that the footgear was all right, and ordered the men to continue. Several times during the bout the Pole got what looked like cruel holds on his man's foot, and calmly proceeded to twist it off. When he stood the gruelling as long as he could, the German would, by virtue of his great strength, swing himself out of trouble.

The main attraction was preceded by some interesting minor bouts. A fair sized crowd witnessed the contests.

MOTOR CYCLE NEWS.

New York motor cyclists will hold several runs to nearby cities, the Motor Cycling Touring Club of New York, Affiliated, having two more of its trio-cup trials to Newburg and return to run, July 16 and Sept. 17; the Concourse M. C. its fourth annual run to Savin Rock, Conn., and return, on June 4, and several other events. The Guttenberg races will be run every Sunday throughout the season.

There is no motor cycle event scheduled for this city on Decoration Day, the nearest place where there will be any activity among the motor cyclists being Newark, where the New Jersey Motor Cycle Club will start its twenty-four-hour endurance test to Atlantic City and return on May 29 at 7 P. M. A number of riders have already been entered, but they mostly form teams. One rider from this city will participate as an individual. This is Joe Buckingham, who will ride a Harley-Davidson. A special class has been opened for women riders, and special medals have been offered for entrants of the fair sex who complete the trip without regard for time.

One of the most important race meets to be held during the season will be that at the Springfield (Mass.) board track on Decoration Day under the auspices of the Springfield Motor Cycle Club. All the crack riders from the eastern section of the country will be present at this meet, as well as one or two from the West, including Charles Balke of Los Angeles, who has been riding at Guttenberg during the last two Sundays.

The joint sociability run of the Motor Cycle Touring Club of New York, Affiliated, and the Concourse M. C. was held on Sunday and about fourteen riders participated. A run was made to City Island, where a baseball game was played and dinner served at a roadhouse. The Invincible Club, in Brooklyn, was scheduled to hold a 150-mile run on Long Island on Sunday, but the affair was indefinitely postponed.

Frank Hart will leave for Chicago the latter part of this week to participate in the three-day meet of the North Shore Motor Cycle Club at the Hawthorne track in the Windy City on May 28, 29, and 30. On the last day the F. A. M. two-mile National championship event will be run.

MISS HYDE LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

Fair wielders of driver and iron mustered forty strong on the links of the Scarsdale Golf and Country Club for the start of their twelfth annual metropolitan championship yesterday. The eleventh-hour entry of Miss Lillian B. Hyde, the title holder, relieved the minds of the committee to a considerable degree, and the champion showed that she is as clever as ever by turning the course in 88, good enough to win the low-score medal by a margin of three strokes.

Steep hills, hanging lies, and water hazards drove the women almost to distraction, so much so that more than one contestant was compelled to give up completely after futile efforts to clear the lake which stretches out between the eighteenth tee and the home green.

For a golfer of Miss Hyde's length of drive this water hazard had no terrors, for some of her drives were fully 250 yards. Probably her most spectacular work was at the 488-yard seventeenth hole, where she got to the green with a drive and an iron. On occasions Miss Hyde putted well, but sometimes she missed short ones.

Second honors were gathered in by Mrs. Florian Krug of Englewood, who never played better, getting a 91. Then followed Mrs. R. G. Hanford of the home club, and Mrs. Victor C. Earl of Wykagyl, both of whom had 92. Those with scores of 106 or better qualified for the championship sixteen.

Mrs. E. F. Sanford, Secretary of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, attended to the details. There will be match play in two sixteens to-day. The draw for the first championship round follows:

Miss Gould vs. Mrs. Caskey, Mrs. Earl vs. Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Hanford vs. Miss Krug, Mrs. Rossin vs. Mrs. Krug, Mrs. Rendigs vs. Mrs. Faith, Mrs. Rogers vs. Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. Irving vs. Miss Rosenheim, Miss Hyde vs. Mrs. Polheinus. The scores folow:

AMATEURS AT "NATIONAL."

Tom O'Rourke Offers His Club for International Boxing Bouts.

It has been practically decided that the international amateur boxing tournament which resulted in a fiasco last Friday night in Madison Square Garden will be held on Saturday night in the arena of the National Sporting Club.

The management of the series has been in receipt of numerous offers from clubs in Boston and near-by cities, asking that the contests be transferred to them, but all offers were turned down, as the Pastime Athletic Club, desiring to keep faith with its members, concluded not to take them from this city.

Therefore, when the National Sporting Club announced its willingness to stage the bouts, the club quickly entertained the proposition. Had this offer not been made it was the purpose of the club to make a refund to all the members who had bought reservations. The idea now is to permit the use of the coupons, now held by the members as rain checks—this being the agreement announced last Friday night—for admittance next Saturday night.

Followers of the sport will therefore have the satisfaction of seeing the bouts staged under almost ideal conditions. The out-of-town entries from Boston, Canada, and elsewhere will all be on hand, ready and willing to try to take the measure of the Englishmen. As the champions of three countries will be engaged, the tourney will to all intents and purposes determine the world's championship titles, at almost every weight.

Young Golfers Battle with Pros.

Professional golfers pleased a large gallery in a four-ball match over the Van Cortlandt Park public links yesterday afternoon. Gil Nicholls, the far driver from Wilmington, with Tom Anderson, Jr., for a partner, succeeded in defeating the local products, Joe Sylvester and Frank Hunt, by the narrow margin of one up. Nicholls made the circuit in 71, while he and Anderson worked in a best ball of 69. Sylvester did the best playing for the junior pair, getting a 73. The scoring at the tenth and eleventh holes was rather spectacular, as Nicholls, Anderson, and Sylvester all had 3s. The best ball card read as follows:

Nicholls and Anderson—
Out—4 4 3 4 4 3 3 4 4—33
In—3 3 4 4 4 3 5 5 5—36—69

Sylvester and Hunt—
Out—4 4 3 4 5 3 4 3 4—34

The individual score of Nicholls read this way—
Out—4 4 3 4 4 3 3 4 5—34
In—3 3 4 4 4 3 5 6 5—37—71

Harlem Billiard Winners.

Two games were decided last night in the opening of the Harlem Class A amateur three-cushion carrom billiard tournament at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue. In the first game of the evening J. Frank defeated L. Meyers by the score of 25 to 17. The contest required forty-three innings, and the highest run of the game was 3, made by the winner. In the second game J. Johnson defeated B. Cohen by the score of 25 to 19 in sixty-three innings. The high run of 3 was made by Johnson. The tournament, the purpose of which is to decide the three-cushion carrom billiard championship of Harlem, started last night with seven of the best amateur billiardists in the upper end of Manhattan entered in it. Including the four players that contested in the games last night, they are: G. Yeager, W. Bash, and A. Neuberger.

WINDING UP PACIFIC EXPRESS

Contracts for the substitution of the Wells Fargo Express service on the roads comprising the Gould system in place of the Pacific Express Company have not been signed yet, but only the formalities remain to be settled. The Wells Fargo Company will purchase most of the Pacific Company's equipment.

A report sent out yesterday to the effect that the Wells Fargo interests had acquired or would take over the Gould holdings of Pacific stock, amounting to $6,000,000, brought immediate denial from the Wells Fargo offices. On behalf of the Missouri Pacific it was said that the Pacific's stock would be liquidated, but that the process might take from five to ten years, owing to the existence of contracts which must be carried out. It was stated that the contract which has been offered by the Wells Fargo Company is so favorable in its terms that the Gould roads will profit by wiping out their own express company.

The Wells Fargo service was displaced from the lines in the St. Louis & San Francisco system on Jan. 1, 1910. The new arrangement fills in the gap which has since existed in its service in the Southwest, and the company will be able to turn over a large amount of through business to the Gould lines. The Gould roads will receive a percentage on all the business carried over their rails, and it was proved to their satisfaction that the proposed arrangement would bring in larger returns than the operation of the independent Pacific Express Company.

HUDSON TUNNEL BONDS SOLD

Pliny Fisk Placed a Block in London to Complete All Work in Progress.

It was announced yesterday by President W. G. Oakman of the Hudson Companies that Pliny Fisk, of Harvey Fisk & Sons, had sold a block of the Hudson & Manhattan Company's first mortgage 4½ per cent. bonds in London. Mr. Oakman declined to give the amount of the bonds included in the sale, but said that the proceeds would care for the small obligations of the Hudson Companies which mature on Oct. 15 next, besides providing sufficient funds for completing all the work now in progress, including the connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad for a joint service to Newark.

It was learned that the Hudson & Manhattan expects to be able to inaugurate the Newark service on Aug. 1 next. When the connection at Summit Avenue is finished, the next work to be undertaken by Mr. McAdoo's company will be the projected extension from Thirty-third Street to the Grand Central Station. Under the terms of the franchise granted the company actual construction work on this line must be started by Oct. 28.

TRUST COMPANIES QUALIFY.

Early Applications for the Clearing House May Be Reported To-day.

The Clearing House Nominating Committee will meet to-day, and it is expected that at least some of the first applications of trust companies for admission will be acted upon. The enlarged Committee on Admissions, with its ten associate members appointed to facilitate examinations, has been working night and day, and it is believed that many of the early applicants have been qualified for admission.

James B. MacDougal, the Chief Examiner of the Chicago Clearing House, who has been offered the position of Examiner here under the new provision for the establishment of an examining department in the New York Clearing House Association, has returned to Chicago without giving a formal acceptance. It is believed that he will take the position, which, it is said, will carry a salary of $20,000 a year.

DEBTS OF SOUTHERN STATES.

Holders of Defaulted Bonds of Two States Seeking Redress.

Committees of holders here and in England of the defaulted bonds of North Carolina and Mississippi, who have been active in endeavoring to collect on their repudiated securities for a number of years, have addressed through their attorney, Edward L. Andrews, a letter to Senators Elihu Root and James A. O'Gorman. The committees have opposed further extension of credit to the two Commonwealths in this and the English market, and the letter to the two New York Senators is for the purpose of having them include in the resolution new before the Judiciary Committee of the Senate for arbitration of claims of the United States against North Carolina, the arbitration of the claims of the bondholders. The letter says in part:

"Under the proviso which you are requested to introduce, the arbitration proposed by North Carolina will include the indebtedness of that State to citizens of the United States, as well as its indebtedness to the United States itself. By the terms of this amendment, the principle of arbitration of pecuniary claims against governments, of which principle our country is the present exponent, will be definitely applied to the liabilities of our own communities.

"The condition to be incorporated in this joint resolution is framed on the lines of our National policy in reference to other American republics. While our Government is extending its moral and material aid for the adjustment of claims of American and foreign creditors of those countries, it cannot refuse a smaller modicum of justice in reference to the debts of our own States."

PENNSYLVANIA COAL PLAN.

Plans for the reorganization of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company have been completed by the committee of which Alexander J. Hemphill is Chairman and proceedings have been taken for a foreclosure of the consolidated mortgage and the sale of other properties held by the receiver, not subject to the mortgage.

Bondholders who deposited their securities with the Guaranty Trust Company under the deposit agreement of Aug. 17, 1908, have been notified that dissent to the plan must be made before June 10, when the plan will become effective, unless one-third of the certificates of deposit dissent.

The committee has entered into an agreement with the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation that, when the properties are acquired by the committee at foreclosure, all the coal lands and mines of the Pennsylvania company, with cars, equipment, tracks, surface lands owned in fee, buildings, &c., shall be sold and transferred to the Clearfield Company, subject to the lien of underlying mortgages aggregating $6,823,000 and car purchase indebtedness amounting to $122,841. The committee is to receive in payment $2,500,000 face value of the bonds of the Clearfield Company, less an amount equal to the indebtedness of the receiver to the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad, estimated at $660,137. These bonds are to be a part of a total of $5,000,000 4½ per cent. mortgage bonds, maturing Jan. 1, 1932.

The Clearfield Company is to lease to the new company to be organized 47,000 acres of coal lands owned in fee at a rental of 10 cents a ton of coal, and 12,000 acres of leasehold coal lands at a rental of 2 cents a ton on coal mined in excess of 1,500,000 tons annually, in addition to the assumption by the new company of rentals, royalties, and other payments. The new company is to have a capital stock of $7,500,000.

MERGING VIRGINIA TRACTIONS.

Frank Gould's Richmond Company and Norfolk Line in Agreement.

The proposed consolidation of the Virginia Railway and Power Company of Richmond, Va., with the Norfolk & Portsmouth Traction Company, was approved at the meetings of the Directors of both corporations yesterday. The first-named company is controlled by Frank J. Gould, who also has the largest individual stock interest in the latter, which is dominated by Middendorf, Williams & Co. of Baltimore, with whom Mr. Gould is closely associated.

The new company will have a capital of $20,000,000, of which $8,000,000 will be preferred stock. Holders of Norfolk & Portsmouth common stock will receive one share and a half of the Virginia Railway and Power Company stock for each of their shares, while the preferred stock will be exchanged on the basis of share for share. A meeting of the stockholders of the two companies will be held on June 22 to ratify the agreement.

Five Million Dollars a Year!

An average of ONE MILLION persons each day crosses the East River—counting the tide in both directions. This vast army—the workers of a great city—brings to Manhattan the brains and hands which in large part are the active forces in New York's industrial and mercantile life.

A few of this great multitude walk across the bridges, a few are carried by ferry, but the great majority must now and in the future depend upon railroad transportation; and of this majority by far the greater number must use the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, which now carry their passengers only to and from the gateway of Manhattan.

How many out of the million now pay two fares in their daily journeys nobody can actually determine. The number has been estimated at from 300,000 to 500,000. Call it only 300,000. Our transit proposal means then to them a saving of $15,000 each day—a saving to them and to the community of over $5,000,000 each year!

Five million dollars a year represents the interest at 5 per cent. on an investment of $100,000,000. We do not ask the city to make this investment. We merely ask the city to let us have the opportunity of giving to the people what is equivalent to the return on such an investment.

We do ask the city to invest $73,500,000 of its money in subways which, operated with our rapid transit lines, will make possible this enormous saving to the people and at the same time furnish transportation relief to three-quarters of the city's population. We present a financial plan and transportation routes which will certainly yield full interest and amortization on that city investment.

For $73,500,000 then, expended as we suggest, the city is assured not only a full return on its investment—leaving no burden upon the taxpayers—but it may, in addition, save $5,000,000 ANNUALLY in car fares to its people!

Conditions render it impossible for the city to make such a profitable investment by contract with any other company.

Can there be any doubt in which direction the city's interest lies? It is the knowledge and appreciation of facts like these which make our proposal strong with the people and commend its adoption to students of municipal welfare and progress.

The Giants fell upon "Babe" Adams savagely in the sixth inning on the Hilltop yesterday and drove him back to the hangars in a heavy artillery bombardment which left the Pirates a bad second in the afternoon's pastime by a score of 5 to 1. The victory gives New York three out of the series of four games and ties them with Pittsburg for second place in the wild scramble for the blue ribbon.

Jack Murray, with the copper-colored hair, took the lead in the destruction of Adams, gunning four heavy shots out of four times up, on a three-base drive, two of them good for a pair of sacks each, and the fourth a well-placed spunky bunt. Murray's first three hits all landed against the left-field fence. Doyle added to the gayety of the soiree with a three-bagger. Other delicious-tasting morsels of the spread were a gorgeous one-handed catch of Devore's rocket by Wee Mr. Leach and some ground and lofty tumbling by Hans Wagner at short.

Arthur Raymond, the well-known inventor of the Croton highball, baffled the Pirate batsmen with an assortment of wet and dry tosses which failed to drop into spots of safety after they bounded from the lumber. Jack Miller made the only serious dent in Raymond's armor. In the fourth inning, with two out, Miller whanged a luscious drive to right field which got mingled with the sunlight as it sailed over Devore's head and bruised against the fence. Devore relayed the ball to Merkle, who didn't gather it quickly enough to wing it along to Wilson at the plate. Miller made the last fifteen feet of the trip on his manly chest, and was safe.

At all other times Raymond held the situation in the palm of his lily-white hand. Among other things, he struck out Wagner, and later jammed a fast inshoot between two of the Dutchman's ribs. For half the distance the Pirates held the whip hand, but the Giants became more and more interested in the proceedings as the day wore along.

After Byrne had died, Bridwell to Merkle, in the opening chapter, Leach singled to centre field. Clarke pushed a roller to Merkle, which amounted to a hit, as Raymond failed to cover first base. Leach overran second and began to meander nonchalantly down toward third. Merkle ran over and touched Leach, who dodged Merkle long enough to permit Clarke to reach second base. Wagner started his day's work by fanning.

Jack Murray opened on Adams in the second inning with a three-bagger to deep left centre. Merkle struck out, and Bridwell hit a terrific bounder at Miller, who knocked it down and sped it home in time to nail Murray at the plate. Bridwell succumbed trying to steal second. In the third inning Fred Clarke sprung a charley-horse and had to retire from the game, Carey going to left field and exhibiting one of the most supple throwing arms that has been seen here for some time. He can heave 'em a mile. Miller splintered the right-field fence with his home run in the fourth inning, Hunter following with a single to left field. Wilson made the third out, swinging in vain at Raymond's dipping tosses.

New York began to gather a little speed in the fifth inning. Murray gladly doubled to left field, the fence preventing it from traveling further north. He went to third on Merkle's out at first, and scored when Miller was throwing out Bridwell at the first pylon.

Then came the shattering sixth. Raymond set the good example with a nifty single to right field. Devore sacrificed him to second. Doyle crashed a three-bagger to the centre-field bleachers, and Raymond scored. Snodgrass doubled to left, scoring Capt. Larry.

Murray to the front again. He doubled to left, but Snodgrass was dragging an anchor and got only as far as third on the big thump. Merkle jammed a sizzling grounder at Byrne, and Snodgrass scored, Murray going to third. Bridwell then laced a grasser between third and short which looked as if it was on an exclusive trip to the scoreboard. Wagner made a desperate lunge to one side, his huge paw nestling about the leather. Like a flash, while tied up in a knot, he threw the ball to second before Merkle arrived, and then fell over on his right ear. Miller relayed the ball to first base and came within an inch of geting the double play. During this display, Murray had scored. That's all.

STOVALL AS NAPS' MANAGER.

President Somers Pleased with First Baseman's Leadership.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 22.—The work of First Baseman George Stovall as acting manager of the Cleveland Club has proved so satisfactory that President Somers has announced that he sees no reason for making any change, and has no intention of looking elsewhere for a manager. Since Stovall became leader of the club, succeeding McGuire, the team has won most of its games. It is said, perfect harmony prevails among the players.

Joe Jackson, centre fielder of the Cleveland American team will be out of the game ten days as the result of an accident in the game with Philadelphia today. In the first inning a ball pitched by Pitcher Morgan struck his right hand, breaking the forefinger at the first joint.

TWO HITS IN NINTH WIN FOR BROOKLYN

Clarke Griffith and his Cincinnati Redlegs formed a mournful procession to the clubhouse at Washington Park yesterday afternoon, while Bill Dahlen, his entire Superba aggregation, and 4,000 Brooklyn rooters viewed the spectacle with pleasure. The clubs closed their four-game series yesterday, and the Dahlenites did something which they had failed to do in any previous series of the year—grab three of the four games. The score of the parting session was 4 to 3, and victory came in an exciting ninth inning, during which the Superbas crawled safely out of a most troublesome position and then batted in a victory with two consecutive hits.

The battle was featured by an exciting closing session in which the Superbas had to check a desperate Cincinnati rally before they had their own chance to win the game. Things looked decidedly dismal from a Brooklyn standpoint, with only one out in the final chapter, the corners covered with anxious Redlegs and Cincinnati's lead-off stickers, Bob Bescher and Dick Egan, in line to face Nap Rucker. The score was tied at the time, and any kind of a hit meant trouble, but the situation was not a bit too warm for Rucker, and he proceeded to fan Bescher for the second out. Bob took healthy swings and retired while Clarke Griffith, from the first base coaching lines, overworked his tenor pipes with appeals to Egan to "Hit 'er out, Dick!"

Dick hit 'er out, just outside the diamond to a spot where Dolly Stark waited, with welcome stamped on his mitt, and the last Cincinnati chance was in the discard.

Encouraged by their success in holding the Reds in check the Superbas lost no time in shooting to the fore. Frank Smith took up the pitching burden in the ninth inning, after Suggs had retired in favor of Pinch Hitter Tom Downey, and Eddie Zimmerman delivered the welcome message to the piano mover by bounding a triple along the right field foul line, all the way to the fence. This chance was too good to lose, and Manager Dahlen decided that Bill Bergen had done all his hitting for the day when he clouted a triple to deep left field in the fifth inning, so Bill was excused. McElveen was the Mr. Fixit picked to do the honors, and Mac bounded one past Egan for a single, while Zimmerman scored the winning run.

George Bell, the first Brooklyn pitcher to face the Reds, held them safe for three innings, none reaching second in that time. In the fourth inning the Reds became noisy. Egan and Bates started the whirl with singles to left field, and both moved up on Hobby's bunt. Mitchell lined a tabasco drive which bounded off Zimmerman's shins and back to the box, while Egan was scoring. Mike died in an attempt to steal second, while Bates glued himself to third and looked on. Grant beat out a grounder to Daubert, allowing Bates to count, and Davy Altizer put the ball against the right field fence, scoring Grant.

In the fifth inning Suggs and Bescher opened with singles, but there was no scoring. Egan forced Suggs, Bates fanned, and Bescher died in an attempt to steal third. Bell was hit on the wrist in Brooklyn's half of the fifth inning, and Knetzer took up the burden in the sixth. He held the Reds safely for the next two innings, and then retired to allow Cy Barger to get in a pinch hit. Rucker pitched the last two innings, and pulled himself out of a dangerous corner in the ninth after two hits and a pass had filled the bases.

Grant's muff of Zimmerman's high hoist near the foul line helped Brooklyn to a run in the second inning. Hummel opened with a single past second, and was held on first, while Burch and Coulson flied to Bates. On Zimmerman's high fly Hummel hit up a fast pace and was able to score, when the ball got away from Grant. Bergen hit to the clubhouse for a triple, with one out in the fifth, and Bell was hit, but Stark flied to Egan and Daubert lifted to Grant.

In the sixth, with one out, Hummel walked and Burch singled over short. Coulson's single scored Hummel and Burch, who took third on the throw-in, followed Johnny across on Egan's error of McLean's throw to catch Coulson. All was quiet then until the rally in the ninth. The score:

Japs to Play Fordham Nine.

New Yorkers will have an opportunity of witnessing the progress made by the Japanese in baseball when Fordham University crosses bats at the Bronx Oval on Saturday next with the Keio University team, which is now touring the United States. The little Jap baseballers have made a creditable record since leaving their native land, and Fordham will find it no easy task to defeat them. Sagesa, their star twirler, has a great reputation among the Japanese colleges. The arrangements for the game with the Japanese were made feasible through the kindness of Manager A. E. Ranken of Trinity College, who consented to have the Fordham-Trinity game which was scheduled for Saturday postponed until June 10. Either McKeown or O'Reilly will be in the box for Fordham, as Kehoe will open against Georgetown on Decoration Day in the deciding game for the championship of the Catholic colleges.

Morristown School Wins.

Morristown School closed its baseball season on the home grounds Saturday with a victory over Newman School by a score of 5 to 0. The record of the school for the season is 7 games won and 4 lost. The games played were with Kingsley, the Morristown High School, the Morristown Bankers, M. S. Alumni, St. Paul's, Carteret, Irving, Mount Pleasant Academy, Hackley, Blake, and Newman.

'Varsity—Goodale, stroke; R. Cutler, (Captain,) 7; Strong, 6; Withington, 5; Newton, 4; Metcalf, 3; Stratton, 2; Balch, bow; Abeles, coxswain. Substitute, R. M. Nelson.

Freshmen—Trumbull, stroke; Mills, (Captain,) 7; Morgan, 6; Converse, 5; Gardiner, 4; Taylor, 3; Crombie, 2; Reynolds, bow; Boyd, coxswain. Substitutes, E. K. Carver and E. Curtis.

No Shakeup in Yale Crew.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 22.—Although it was expected that a shake-up would be made in the Yale 'Varsity eight as a result of their showing at Princeton on Saturday, no change was made to-day. Coach Kennedy did not send the men out in the eight-oared shell, but put them on the water in pair-oared boats, and made a change in the stroke, the one used to-day resembling closely that used by Cornell. No change is now anticipated for two or three days to come, as all attention probably will be given to perfecting the new stroke.

Trotter Drops Dead in Harness.

John Reeve of Calverton, L. I., is mourning the loss of a trotter, Teddy B., on whom he relied to make a campaign of the county fairs this Fall. Although the animal was young, Mr. Reeve valued him at $1,000. Saturday afternoon while schooling the animal to score off with other horses on the local track the horse dropped dead. He had shown no signs of weakness and it is supposed he burst a blood vessel.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 22.—August Belmont, Chairman of the New York Jockey Club, is endeavoring to procure the contract on Jockey Guy Garner, who is riding here for Earl Linnell.

PARIS, May 22.—W. K. Vanderbilt's horses won two races at Saint Cloud to-day, Ramesen winning the Prix des Bluets and Gibelin capturing the Prix de la Malmaison. In the Prix des Bluets Nash Turner's Tambour Major II. finished second.

BRISCOE OPPOSES SPEED CONTESTS

Racing Has Served Its Purpose and Speed Is Now a Matter of Horse Power.

The controversy between Benjamin Briscoe and numerous automobile manufacturers who have taken exception to his statement about the good and the evil of automobile racing, has been seized as an opportunity for a few persons to deal in personalities, instead of proving or attempting to prove the value of motor car speed contests. Mr. Briscoe repeats his statement that racing has served its purpose, but that it is no longer needed for speed, and now it is simply a matter of horse power. He sees no objection to new companies racing if their product can be thus improved, and he calls attention to the fact that very few of the old and prominent makers compete in speed contests, although in many cases they are supporters of reliability and endurance runs.

"A few persons have tried to make this controversy a clearing house for cynicism," said Mr. Briscoe. "If these men will be sincere, giving facts without declaring their cars to be the best on earth and without professing their own honesty, the welfare of the automobile industry and pastime would be better served."

Mr. Briscoe said he had not the slightest objection to giving credit to those who have been instrumental in the effort to make automobile racing a standard proposition, and cannot blame manufacturers for continuing to race if they feel that they have something to learn from racing.

"If stock car racing cannot be depended upon always, what is the value of racing?" said Mr. Briscoe. "There does not seem to be any defense of racing with specially built cars, because freak racers bear no relation whatever to the stock car a purchaser buys, although it may teach of some things that should be in stock cars.

"To say that one manufacturer with a genuine stock car won a stock race or several of them does not give a clean bill of health to stock car racing in general. When eligibility is the cause of so much dissension, either before or after stock car races, the certainty or the doubt of genuineness seems to be settled by the fact that it is difficult to recall a race meet or speed contest in this country involving stock cars where there has not been a protest to the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association on the ground that the winning car was not stock, and in some cases these protests have gone into the courts. In fact, the American Automobile Association has devoted most of its time during the past few years to protests of this nature. It is working now, however, in conjunction with the Manufacturers' Contest Association to cure what is one of the crying evils of motor car competition.

"Another angle of the question which the racing advocates seem to have overlooked is the fact that any automobile manufacturer can build a special racing car strictly according to stock car rules, and the technical committees could not possibly detect it. These gentlemen defending their own positions seem to have forgotten that building automobiles is fundamentally a question of metallurgy. The science of metals is a thing which has not been considered, and they do not seem to realize that while cars fully measure up to stock car dimensions, they may be far from stock cars in so far as concerns the material of which they are made. Thus it is easily possible for one maker to use the highest grade of steel in a racing car, whereas in stock cars a poorer grade might be used. Technical committees do not make laboratory tests. How, then, can they be sure that a car is a stock model?

"The use of calipers, protractors, and other instruments may show that cars tally in dimensions, but they do not show whether specially made parts have been used. So many sharp practices are free from detection that it is not surprising people have little regard for the lessons of a stock car race. Therefore, what does it mean to the industry or to the public?"

Champion Tennis Player Beaten.

BOSTON, May 22.—F. H. Harris of Dartmouth, for two years the New England intercollegiate lawn tennis champion, was defeated by C. L. Johnstone of Amherst in the first round of the annual New England intercollegiate tournament on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club here to-day. Harris was suffering from cramps throughout the match, but pluckily stayed until the finish. Illness also extended to the Wesleyan team. Bacon, one of the championship pair last year, was taken with appendicitis during the morning, and the Wesleyan team had to withdraw from the doubles event as a result. The summary:

Championship Singles, First Round.—J. C. Nelson, Dartmouth, defeated H. Fisher, Vermont, 6—0, 6—2; F. Nelson, Trinity, defeated R. P. Weis, Tufts, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3; C. L. Johnstone, Amherst, defeated F. H. Harris, Dartmouth, 6—3, 6—0; J. Shumway, Amherst, defeated N. F. Scholz, Brown, 6—4, 6—4.

Plenty of "White Hopes."

There are twenty-two entries so far for the National Sporting Club's "white hope" boxing tournament on Friday night, and as an indication of the calibre of the big fellows there is Joe Rogers, the wrestler, who, by the way, is not the biggest in the tournament. Sig Hart, Jack Johnson's ex-manager, is bringing on a pair of aspirants from Chicago, and writes that he has the winner.

Half a dozen other giants are coming from distant points, among whom are Marty Cutler of Pittsburg, Jack Leon of Bangor, Me.; Jack Heinninger of Peoria, Ill., has a big fellow whom he thinks is a champion, and from Philadelphia Alf Dunn is bringing Charlie Mulbach. The bouts will be four rounds.

JOHNSTONE'S CUP FLIGHT.

Drives His Aeroplane Around Garden City Hotel for a Trophy.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 22.—St. Croix Johnstone this evening won the silver trophy offered by J. J. Lannin, proprietor of the Garden City Hotel, for the first aviator who should fly three times around the aviation field here and then encircle the Garden City Hotel and the Cathedral. Johnstone did all that and more. Starting at 6:35 o'clock, he made three circuits of the field at an altitude of about 1,500 feet and then sailed over toward the village. He not only encircled the hotel and Cathedral, but the entire village as well.

After doing this, instead of landing on the aviation field, he flew over in the direction of the Meadow Brook Hunt Club. At that time he was probably 3,000 feet from the ground. He was seen to turn as if he intended to come down in the aviation field, but his machine took a long, swift glide and landed about a mile and a quarter from the field, coming down near the Meadow Brook polo field.

It was feared that some accident had happened, and a number of persons started off in automobiles to his aid, but before they could reach his machine it arose again from the ground and sailed away to the aviation field, where Johnstone made a good landing.

HARVARD DROPS WEST POINT.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 22.—Several surprises developed with the announcement to-night of the complete schedule for the Harvard 'Varsity football team next season. Three teams which figured in last year's games—Cornell, West Point, and Bowdoin—are dropped. Their places are taken, respectively, by Princeton, which will play the Crimson at Princeton in the first game between the two universities in fifteen years; Carlisle, which returns to Cambridge after a year's absence, and Holy Cross, which has not been on a Harvard schedule for about five years. The big game with Yale comes Nov. 25, and will be played this year at Cambridge, as will all of the other games, with the exception of that with Princeton. The schedule follows:

Sept. 30, Bates; Oct. 7, Holy Cross; 14, Williams, 21, Amherst; 28, Brown; Nov. 4, Princeton at Princeton; 11, Carlisle; 18, Dartmouth; 25, Yale.

THE INCOME TAX HEARING.

It is interesting to remark that the gentlemen who argued in support of "the" income tax at the hearing on Saturday all had a different sort of income tax in mind as the proper sort of income tax. Nobody so far as we know has urged that the Federal Government ought not to have power to levy any sort of tax in case of urgent necessity, even including an income tax. The argument against "the" income tax is that, under plea of a necessity which has no present existence, Federal powers are asked which ought not to be granted even if the necessity did exist, except under safeguards which the supporters of the tax themselves approve.

Prof. SELIGMAN, for example, "made an appeal on patriotic grounds for the adoption of a system of taxation the proceeds of which might be in the main distributed among the States in time of peace, and might prove the salvation of the Republic in the event of war." But "the" income tax is another kind of tax. Nothing of that sort is contained in the proposed amendment, and sad experience proves that nothing should be taken for granted regarding the wisdom of legislators. When would the professor have the States safeguard themselves along the lines he indicates? Is it better to do this before the harm is done, or after it is too late? What's the hurry?

The Professor thinks that it makes little difference that the Federal Government should take toll from any of the State securities, provided that it took toll from all of them. All would remain on the same relative level, therefore none would be prejudiced. The Federal Government is now issuing fifty millions of bonds, and reserves a discrimination in their favor which it is not willing to waive on the argument of relative equality. According to the Treasury circulars now being issued the forthcoming bonds will be exempt "from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority." This gives the Federal bonds an exemption which it is urged is a loss of no consequence when the conditions are reversed and the exemption is from Federal taxation. Nobody grudges the Federal bonds their primacy, which is sufficiently marked without artificial increase by an assumed right to tax bonds which enjoy a limited local primacy unless it is signed away. It is only right that the States should enjoy a discrimination in their favor such as the Federal Government exercises in favor of Federal bonds. It would then be exemption against exemption, and a comparison of one class against another class. "The" income tax proposes a Federal exemption of Federal bonds and the levy of a Federal tax on State bonds. The Professor differs from the decision of the Supreme Court and the feeling of investors in thinking that this is a consideration of no importance. The credit of no State is better than New York's, yet it has been compelled to advance the interest which it has to pay. It will have to advance it another shade in order to turn the scales with an investor who reckons that Federal bonds enjoy an exemption which does not extend to State bonds.

Prof. SELIGMAN thinks that an income tax would yield $600,000,000, and asks whether the United States can afford not to collect it. The complementary question is whether those from whom the tax will be collected can afford to pay it. An income tax is popular only in those countries which have it not, and only among those citizens who pay it not. The popular way is to levy taxes on the rich, and disburse them on the poor. The right thing to do is to administer the Government with such efficiency that it will not be necessary to confer boons by levying additional taxes. And, if more taxes are necessary, it is better to collect them in accustomed American method than by adoption of faulty imitations of that tax which foreign nations hate most. The idea that faith is pledged to pass any particular income tax in this current year is too far fetched to persuade any who were not of that persuasion originally, and who would support any income tax whatever, and whatever its defects. The income tax amendment in its present form is peculiarly suited to please those of that way of thinking, and to displease all others.

THE SHORT SUPPLY OF WATER.

Every resident of Manhattan and the Bronx can do his share toward averting a water famine by using water economically. Few of us can do more than that to save himself and millions of his fellow-beings from discomfort and suffering. Much time may be required to secure a temporary supply of water from Ten Mile River in Connecticut, for we cannot avail ourselves of the resources of another State without many legal preliminaries. It seems the best solution of New York's water supply problem to tap Ten Mile River with pipes and keep the supply thus obtained available until the Catskill Aqueduct is completed, from three to five years hence. But the authorities are compelled to move slowly in such matters, and meanwhile we are facing a serious situation.

We must try to make the supply of water now available in the Croton reservoirs serve for the two boroughs through the Summer. There is likely, because of the danger of a short supply of water, to be a larger exodus than usual from the city this year, and it is likely to begin earlier. The people who can afford to go out of town for the whole Summer use a great deal of water when they are at home, and the daily consumption in the two boroughs ought to decrease perceptibly in their absence. That will be only a small saving. The stay-at-homes must content themselves with a shorter supply than usual. Everybody can help, and only uncommonly heedless and selfish persons will neglect Commissioner THOMPSON'S plain warning.

A PAID BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Mayor has several times announced his entire willingness to let all the credit for the good in the Charter that bears his name go to others and to "stand for" all that is not good in it. This is in accordance with his chivalric disposition, but it is a little whimsical and does not work out well in practice. The fact is that so much of that curious scheme is questionable, or worse, and so little of it is really good, that this division of blame and credit is essentially unfair. It may be said, however, that Mr. GAYNOR is acting quite up to his altruistic announcement, since he expressly and warmly supports the plan for a paid Board of Education, which on the whole, we think, is about the worst thing that the new scheme contains and about as bad as anything could be.

There is no doubt that the present board leaves much to be desired in point of efficiency, and it is quite possible that some radical changes are required in its administration. But there is not the slightest reason to believe that the substitution of a paid board of seven members would be any improvement in the matter of efficiency, while it would be likely, and practically sure, to bring about great evils. The one difficulty of supreme importance that we have to contend against in the educational department of this great city is the danger of the intrusion of sordid politics. There is no other department in which this would be so perilous. It is not merely a question of the economical and honest administration of the immense sums expended on the schools. That would be bad enough if the politicians got the schools into their hands. But infinitely worse would be the degradation and corruption of the whole system. Since the consolidation of the greater city there has been unquestioned improvement in the character and capacity of the teaching force and of the inspecting and regulating force under the Superintendent. Whatever shortcomings may exist—and we have had to point out many—no one can truthfully say that the general course of the board and the administration of Superintendent MAXWELL have been influenced by partisanship, much less by the baleful influence of spoils-seekers.

If the board were reduced to seven members, appointed as the other heads of departments are, and made a subordinate part of the City Government, there is no room for doubt that the worst elements of Tammany would instantly lay plans to capture the rich prize. Mr. GAYNOR may assume, quite reasonably, that he would successfully resist those plans. But on the one hand it is plain that, with his innumerable other duties, even Mr. GAYNOR could not hope wholly to escape the pitfalls that would open before him, as he has not wholly escaped others. On the other hand we shall not always be under the protection of Mr. GAYNOR, and the powerful incentive offered in the control of the schools would stir Tammany to see that a more manageable Mayor should succeed him. Considering what Mr. MURPHY has been trying to do and is doing with the State Government, it is not safe to infer that he would not very promptly lay hold on the schools, the school moneys, and the incalculable partonage involved.

At the present time there is going on a very promising investigation into the entire question of the administration of the educational department. We have already noted the high character and extraordinary ability of the gentleman who has been selected to head this investigation, and who is to begin his task next week. Surely it would be better to await the outcome of this work before making a complete revolution in the management of the department. Let us get all the light we can before we make changes that will be momentous in their effects and may easily prove disastrous. There is plenty of time. And it is no small argument in favor of prudent delay that another year may see the grip of Mr. MURPHY on the State Government considerably relaxed if not wholly loosened.

THE OUTLOOK FOR PEACE.

Gen. FRANCISCO I. MADERO means well. Nobody who has followed the course of recent events in Mexico doubts either his patriotism or his good sense. He has signed an agreement to stop all hostilities, dismiss his troops as soon as possible, and facilitate the reconstruction of damaged telegraph and railroad lines, if Gen. PORFIRIO DIAZ and RAMON CORRAL resign the offices of President and Vice President before the end of May, and FRANCISCO L. DE LA BARRA becomes provisional President and calls for general elections, and his provisional Government guarantees indemnification for losses caused by the revolution.

There is no reason to doubt that Gen. DIAZ intends to resign and leave Mexico. Of CORRAL'S intentions nothing is actually known. DE LA BARRA'S word is sufficient guarantee of his intention to permit MADERO to appoint a number of members of the provisional Cabinet and Governors of the various States, and have a voice in the preliminaries of reorganization. Señor LIMANTOUR seems to acquiesce in these arrangements and has announced his intention of going to Europe to live. ENRIQUE C. CREEL seems to have vanished from the scene. Gen. FELIX DIAZ, commander of the police in the Federal District; LANDA Y ESCANDON, Governor of that district, and various other powerful members of the Diaz group are silent. Gen. BERNARDO REYES remains at Havana. There is a lull in Mexican affairs, and a promise of peace. Gen. MADERO has done ably his part to secure it, and borne himself in such a way as to secure the respect and admiration of the nations.

"A TOY FOR THE WIND."

The French aeroplane expert, LAFFRETE, was, of course, right when he said that the monoplane which killed M. BERTEAUX, the Minister of War of France, and badly injured Premier MONIS upon the aviation field at the commencement of the Paris to Madrid race, was "badly balanced" and "became a toy for the wind"—extending his characterization to all monoplanes. In a thirty-mile breeze, the gusts of which occasioned this national calamity, biplanes, as well as monoplanes, are ill-balanced and much at the mercy of the invisible aerial surges. The features of this accident were characteristic of almost every accident to aircraft, insomuch that, as MARIUS KRARUP concluded in his discussion of "Why Men Are Killed in Aeroplanes" in The Scientific American of May 13, the Coroner's verdict should usually be: "Nobody guilty, but aviators should not fly when the wind blows until inventors have found some way of getting away from rudders."

The pilot TRAIN was known to be careful, skilled, and experienced. At the wrong moment, he says, in its downward swoop, his machine "gave a lurch and collapsed heavily." The rudder action for control was too weak, the rudder area too small, and the twist of the plane too slight to counteract the impact of the gust upon its broad surface.

Certain types of aeroplanes, such as the Bréguet, the new Paulhan, and the latest Esnault-Pelterie, have adopted the principle of spring suspension against the "road shocks" to aeroplanes from gusts of wind or eddies, in the form of elastic wings. But much experimenting must be done before the degree of elasticity for proper adjustment to the invisible billows of the air can be accurately determined. As at present constructed, too, the propellers are inefficient. They poorly utilize the power from the motor, throwing to the winds, in heat, energy that is supplied for propulsion. To increase the power of the motor would increase the weight of the machine. Mr. KRARUP is of the opinion that a slight improvement in the propellers would greatly increase the margin of safety and heighten the effect of every action of control. But until all aeroplanes are made more elastic, and become more efficient in propulsion than any yet invented, a rule of caution as to flying when the wind blows should be adopted by every aeronautical society. This rule, also, should be considered by the civil authorities for the safety of aviators and of the spectators upon the aviation fields.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Resignation Made Honorable. "Honor," in the technical signification given to it by duelists, is full of mystery—and absurdity—for people who have abandoned single combat, formally arranged, as a means of settling controversy or vindicating right and punishing wrong. Of course, impulsive fighting continues to a greater or less extent in all countries, but that is a very different thing from dueling, and does not lack logic, whatever else may be said against it. Germany, however, is among the nations where the duel survives in the military caste and for some little distance below it, and naturally the Kaiser has taken it upon himself to decide just when his officers must engage in private battle and when they can "with honor" refuse or evade the dangerous test.

His latest pronouncement on the subject is curious. For some time past every quarrel among army men that led to a challenge has had to be submitted to a "Court of Honor," and if its members declared a duel necessary, the challenged party had to "meet" his enemy or else fall into disgrace so deep as to make life almost intolerable. Now the Kaiser says that there is an alternative. If the receiver of the challenge wants to remain in the army he must await the decision of the honor court and follow its orders, but if he chooses to do so he can resign his commission and go back into civilian life without a stain upon his reputation—provided the resignation precedes the date fixed for the determination of his case.

To the uninitiate, viewing the matter by the light of reason, it would seem as if the adoption of this alternative would tear "honor" all to pieces, for while the fear of death is far from being the only motive for not waiting to hear whether one must stand up to be shot at with a pistol or to be cut and stabbed at with a sword, it is the motive that always first suggests itself to a critical and cynical world. As explained in a dispatch from Berlin, the Kaiser's position is that a man should be permitted to decide for himself whether or not his "honor" demands a duel, and the court has authority only when the man is doubtful on that point. But if that is so, why make the man who doesn't want to fight resign from the army? If he can go out an honorable man he could apparently stay in one.

Tired of Paying Damages. So severe are the British libel laws that they make personal criticism of the kind in which American newspapers indulge so freely always dangerous and often expensive. There be people not a few who with some excuse assert that the liberty of the press here not infrequently changes to license, and every once in a while, when some legislator has been falsely—or correctly—accused of doing or being something bad or ridiculous, he introduces a bill enlarging the scope of libel or punishing it more heavily. Now and then a bill of this kind gets passed and signed, but so slight is the public demand for greater protection from the newspapers—or so keen is the public interest in the products of the present leniency—that these new laws are for the most part ignored or defied with impunity and are soon forgotten.

Incidentally, the American newspapers, without any help from the lawmakers, show a steadily growing sense of responsibility, as anybody can see for himself if he will take the trouble to look over old files and compare them with present-day issues.

Over in England, meanwhile, restlessness under the limitations imposed by savage libel laws is growing steadily, and a combined movement to secure their mitigation is reported from London. Surely reform is needed when a London paper thought it judicious, recently, to pay a waitress £100 rather than take the chances of a suit which she threatened to bring because of alleged injury done to her sensitive feelings by the printing of a humorous picture. For she is portly, and under the picture were the words "The Stout Waitress." Though the artist who made the sketch was willing to swear that he used another model, and never saw or heard of the offended nymph, it was considered safest to settle with her out of court.

That is obviously both absurd and outrageous. The British libel laws do not go so far as to say that a newspaper cannot print anything which the subject of the comment doesn't like, but it often does seem that they say little less, and that nothing is privileged that does not come out in open court. The consequences are in some ways good, but in other ways they are bad, and many of the verdicts rendered are out of all proportion to any possible injury that the publicity complained of could have given.

Horse Sense Applied to Automobiles. Automobilists will notice with interest and a measure of astonishment that a Supreme Court jury up in Delaware County has decided that the color of a motor car, as well as the speed with which it is driven, can be taken into account in considering the extent of the owner's responsibility for the harm it does. For the jury was of the opinion that it was the violent color of a certain automobile, no less than the rate at which it was going, that frightened a certain horse and led to a disastrous smashup.

Probably the jury is right, but what of it? Horses are capable of any stupidity, and they are never so happy as when they can work themselves up into a frenzy of fear, real or pretended, over something quite harmless. It is quite likely, therefore, that a passionately red automobile would scare many horses able to endure with some approach to equanimity the passing of one of less hectic complexion. It does seem hard, however, if the painting of motor cars must be adjusted to the silly timidities of an obsolescent animal.

A like subserviency in the beginning would have banned the automobile from every road, for all horses started by having hysterics whenever they saw one of the machines, no matter what its tint. If they could, as most of them now have, learned to tolerate the cars of sober hue, they can do the same for those that rival the rainbow. And they should be made to do so, Delaware County juries to the contrary notwithstanding.

PROF. SELIGMAN'S CHIDING.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Prof. Seligman's chiding of Gov. Hughes for his criticism of the proposed income tax amendment of the Federal Constitution was as foolish as it was uncalled for and disrespectful. The professor was not careful to make his own statements accurate. He wasted much time and energy in discussing the propriety of a Federal income tax and the effect upon the value of State and municipal bonds of a Federal tax upon incomes derived from them. With all due respect, I suggest that such arguments are foreign to the pending question, which relates solely to the specific amendment of the Constitution now proposed. A power to tax is a power to destroy, and will Prof. Seligman deny that if such a power be vested in Congress the extent of its exercise will rest in the discretion of Congress? If the power to tax exists, the tax may be 1 per cent. or 80 per cent. or more. It is idle to say that Congress will never exercise its power oppressively or unwisely. None can tell what a future Congress, with unlimited power, may do.

A tax on income is a tax on the property that produces the income, and necessarily affects its value to a greater or less extent. A Federal power to tax important instrumentalities of a State is a power to impose a burden upon the exercise of governmental functions of the State, and necessarily impairs pro tanto the sovereignty of the State. Is the State of New York willing to have its sovereignty in this respect clipped? Woe to the Democratic Party if it serves in such a role! If the blind lead the blind the chances are that both will fall into the ditch. Gov. Dix and his followers in this matter seem to be headed in that direction. OBSERVER.

I have always had an intense desire to witness the best feat that an alleged medium is able to perform. I have seen Kellar, Thurston, and other magicians, and I should like to know if the mediums can really do anything more baffling than the work of the conjurers.

Is it really true that Dr. Hyslop knows of a man whose limbs can be "elongated" several inches, and of women who obtain information "supernormally"? If he knows such persons, I am not surprised that he accepts the "spiritistic hypothesis," for I should do that myself if I had the proof.

But would Dr. Hyslop allow conjurers to pass judgment on the genuineness of the "phenomena," before giving us any more of the hypothesis? CHARLES K. JONAS.

Librarians' "Vacation Graft."

A subject that is now attracting a good deal of attention in library circles is what is termed "vacation graft." The management of libraries, like that of the public schools, has always been very liberal in its allowance of holidays, granting employes one or more days off each month, in addition to Sundays, and two, three, and four weeks' annual holiday, besides ten to fourteen days' sick leave a year.

This has not, however, been sufficient to satisfy some library officials who have used considerable ingenuity in devising new and original excuses for an extension of these liberal holiday terms. Time spent in libraries in other cities during the Summer vacation has been reckoned as days regularly employed in the library at home, as have also trips to annual library conferences. Sometimes a tour of Europe will be represented to a guileless Board of Trustees as "educational," and therefore a leave of absence with half or full pay will be asked and usually granted. At other times the head of a department will prolong the Summer trip a week or two and then expect no deduction of salary to be made. Occasionally, when there is friction between two assistants, the matter is adjusted by allowing one of them (generally the more obstreperous) a leave of absence—in one instance recently for a whole year—on half pay. As a librarian in a big city in the Northwest said the other day in a newspaper interview, while discussing this widespread "library disease," as he called it, this whole vacation business would be funny if it wasn't so costly to the taxpayers.

The Case of Cain.

I am one of quite a number of negroes that I know who read THE TIMES every day. I note in your issue of Saturday an editorial article on the case of Cain, who ran amuck down in New York City, killing two persons and wounding others. You express the opinion that he deserves capital punishment, and while I would not for a moment condone his crime, there are circumstances connected with the case that have not been brought out in the newspapers, but will, no doubt, be considered at his trial. I fail to note in any of the various accounts of the affair that the passengers who remonstrated with Cain for smoking made any appeal to the guard on the train, whose duty it is to enforce the rules. It appears that these passengers assumed a vicarious authority to perform the duties properly pertaining to the employes of the elevated railroad, and that one of them went so far as to strike Cain. This act was in itself unlawful, for up to that time the negro had done no violence to any one. Some months ago I was on a train where a white man was using insulting language. Two passengers, who had good sense, reported the matter to the guard and the man was taken off by a policeman at the next station. If this method had been followed in Cain's case there is no doubt that the ensuing trouble would have been avoided. The act of smoking on the platform, while unlawful, is a common occurrence. It was the duty of the guard to enforce the rules, which he probably would have done in a peaceful way had it not been for the presumptuous interference of the passengers.

Widow's Family Needs Help.

The Charity Organization Society appeals for $120 to help a widow and her five children. Her husband died a year ago of tuberculosis. The two oldest boys, 12 and 18 years of age, are not strong and must be safeguarded against this disease. They are now in the country. The mother will work beyond her strength unless she has regular assistance upon which she can depend.

Contributions may be addressed to the Charity Organization Society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to another and former appeal in THE NEW YORK TIMES:

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to suggest an economical plan to supply additional breathing spaces for the boys and girls of our overgrown metropolis. Let our Board of Aldermen grant immunity from all taxation to the proprietors of vacant lots in suitable and appropriate locations provided they are willing to donate them for temporary recreation centres. Of course, when needed for their legitimate purposes this exemption from taxation shall terminate.

In any event it is absolutely necessary to banish from our highways the gangs of boys who, from sheer necessity, now convert the dangerous public streets into ball grounds or use them for other equally rough and improper games.

Especially we must not forget that the long Summer vacation is at hand and that our crowded thoroughfares are not proper or safe playgrounds for children during the months of July and August or, indeed, at any season of the year. SIDWELL S. RANDALL.

BALLADE OF MISSING CHIEFS.

Ah, tell me where, as Villon said,
 Are those brave chiefs we used to see?
Where are those valiant spirits fled
 That kept the town for you and me,
Down at three hundred Mulberree!
From Puget to the Zuyder Zee—

Where's Teddy, sleeping safe in bed
 Moss, Parker, or Bill Devery?
Or, Frederick Grant, where did he flee,
 Greene, Partridge, Baker, all that throng,

 That men from here to Kankakee
Take on the job, come and are fed,
But hie them to the banks of Dee,

ENVOY.

And sink beneath a ton of lead

STATIONS TO SAVE INFANTS.

Five thousand invitations were sent out for exercises in Seward Park yesterday to mark the opening of twenty-seven pure milk stations by the Committee for the Reduction of Infant Mortality. Few of the prominent invited guests appeared, but their places were filled by the mothers and babies of Canal and Norfolk Streets and of East Broadway, who seemed to enjoy the music and speeches.

The meeting was under the supervision of Godfrey R. Pisek, Chairman of the committee. Music was furnished by the Huyler Band, consisting of forty-five lusty youths from the Mott Street Public School.

Commissioner of Health Lederle complimented the committee on its work. He said that it was a matter of record that 83 per cent. of the deaths among infants could be traced to the food, and that the pure milk stations were the most practicable agencies for lowering the mortality rate.

One of the stations, always referred to by the committee as "the house with the blue front," is located at 35 Norfolk Street, very near the park, and many, before and after the exercises, visited it. The plan provided for a nurse, matron, and doctor for each station. The nurse convasses the district for mothers whose babies are not as healthy as they ought to be, the matron receives these mothers and their babies, and the doctor prescribes modified pure milk, as the individual case may require.

By the end of the Summer sixty stations are to be in operation. A record will be kept of all cases, and if it shows at the end of six months that infant mortality in the districts in which the stations are located has been materially decreased, the city will be asked to contribute for the maintenance of the stations through the medium of the Board of Health. Eventually, it is hoped, the city will support the movement. Mr. Pisek said yesterday that there were 13,000 babies in Manhattan who were in need of these milk stations; that 2,700 of this number would be cared for by the twenty-seven stations now existing, 4,200 more by other agencies than those of the New York Milk Committee, thus leaving over 6,000 for whom no provision has been made. This need, he said, would be filled by the thirty-three stations to be established this Summer.

"I regard this as one of the wisest, most hopeful, and most effective of all our charities," said Bishop David H. Greer, who was one of the speakers yesterday. "This is so because the purpose which lies behind it is not one to restore health and strength to the adult, not to lock the door after the thief is gone, but to protect and safeguard the child, and thus bolt the door before the thief comes.

"Not only does this movement try to save the child from the ravages of mortality and thus prevent, from the civic and industrial point of view, an economic waste, but it tries to save the child from the crippling and enfeebling influence of sickness and disease, and in safeguarding the child it safeguards the country, for the child of to-day is the citizen of tomorrow.

"If we safeguard and protect the child during the first year of his life and thus make and keep him strong and healthy and vigorous during that beginning period of his training, the probability is that, barring accident, he will reach strong, vigorous, and self-supporting maturity."

Mgr. D. J. McMahon also made a short address. Mrs. Belmont Tiffany helped to distribute Yiddish and Italian literature concerning pure milk stations. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Chairman of the Finance Committee, sent word that she wanted to come, but that her doctor, who has been treating her since her automobile accident last week, would not permit it.

$1,750,000 FOR NEW AQUARIUM

Present Building Unsuitable, Budget Committee Is Told.

The Corporate Stock Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate opened hearings yesterday on the requests of the heads of the various city departments for the money they want to spend in the next five years in permanent improvements. One of the most important items discussed was the request of Park Commissioner Stover for $1,750,000 to rebuild the Aquarium. Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, President of the American Museum of Natural History, declared that the present building is a fire trap and entirely unsuitable for the housing of the valuable collection which it contains.

President Mitchel of the Aldermen and Commissioner Stover had a lively tilt over the proposed establishment of a large playground in Central Park. The scheme was unanimously approved by the Board of Estimate several months ago, but nothing has ever been done toward carrying it out.

"Do you now repudiate or stand by the report which you signed favoring this playground?" asked Mr. Mitchel.

"You amended the report after I signed it," replied Mr. Stover, "and, anyway, there has been a great deal of opposition to the carrying out of the plan."

"Is it not a fact that the Mayor told you to drop the matter?"

"Must I answer that?"

"Yes," replied Controller Prendergast, who was presiding.

"Then I refuse to answer."

"Well, we'll take that as your answer," replied Mr. Mitchel. "But I ask you if you intend to go ahead with the work this year?"

Borough President McAneny submitted a request for $37,140,000, of which $2,500,000 is to be expended next year in repaving. He also wants $50,000 to pay for a thorough investigation of the sewer system of Manhattan, and asks for $500,000 a year for five years for new sewers.

Ex-Police Commissioner Bingham, now Chief Engineer of Highways in the Borough President's office, appeared to request $5,000,000 for the five years. Mr. McAneny's estimates also include $315,000 for a new Children's Court Building, $100,000 to pay for the power plant for the new Municipal Building, $300,000 for two new municipal baths, $8,500,000 for the Sixth and Seventh Avenue extensions.

Borough President Miller of the Bronx asked for $581,000 for repaving and $1,000,000 for a new Borough Hall.

Borough President Steers wants $12,170,000 for the five years, including $4,000,000 for a new municipal building for the borough, $4,510,000 for a central library building, and $400,000 to pay for the proposed Eighth Ward market.

Borough President Gresser of Queens asked for $12,787,846, including $2,000,000 for a new Borough Hall, and $2,364,131 for repaving.

Commissioner Stover asked for $10,468,000, and wants to spend $9,515,000 of the total next year. This includes $3,750,000 for the Metropolitan Museum of Art, $2,500,000 for the American Museum of Natural History, $1,250,000 for resoiling, sodding, planting, &c., in Central Park, and $550,000 to pay for rebuilding the Speedway.

"Isn't this the Central Park resoiling plan which there has been so much talk about recently?" asked the Controller.

"No."

"I believe this is a question of maintenance and properly belongs in the budget," said Mr. Mitchel in conclusion.

Life Saving Stations Opened.

Ten of the life savings stations went into commision Sunday afternoon in the Bronx. Other stations will be opened on Memorial Day, and later in the Summer the water front of Manhattan Island will be dotted with them.

The corps is composed of members of the Volunteer Life Savings Corps, and is authorized by the city. It is a volunteer organization sustained by the members.

LOOK TO AMERICA TO LEAD FOR PEACE

HERE FOR MOHONK MEETING

Dean of Worcester Says the Churches Can Do Much to Aid in the Movement to End War.

Foreign delegates to the forthcoming International Peace Meeting at Lake Mohonk were entertained at a luncheon yesterday afternoon in the National Arts Club. Clergymen of many denominations attended and all declared that other countries looked to America to lead in the peace movement.

The luncheon was preceded by a meeting under the auspices of the Federation of Churches at 1 Madison Avenue, at which the Rev. W. Moore Ede, Dean of Worcester, was to have been the principal speaker. As his boat was delayed by the fog, he did not arrive until just before the luncheon, so that the only speeches in the morning meeting were made by the Rev. John Clifford, President of the Council of the Evangelical Free Churches of Great Britain, the Rev. Frederick Lynch, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

In the morning these resolutions were adopted:

First—That the work of conciliation and peace between the nations is a task so ethical and religious as to be, first of all, the care of churches of every name.

Second.—That leadership in establishing international peace ought to be undertaken by the churches of America because of their geographical position, which has removed them from such inherited antipathies as divide the people of Europe, and also because in their composition the American churches represent all the nationalities which in case of war between civilized nations may be under the sad and godless necessity of attempting to destroy one another.

Third—That at the present hour the enlightened policy of President Taft and Sir Edward Grey have made the matter of chief concern and promise for the attainment of international peace to be the negotiation and the adoption of complete arbitration treaties in which such questions as national honor and vital interests, hitherto excepted from arbitration, shall be submitted to The Hague Court, therefore be it

Resolved, That we urge the churches of the United States to use their utmost influence toward molding a public opinion which will uphold the President and the State Department in negotiating treaties which shall bind the contracting nations to arbitrate all differences which cannot be settled by diplomacy, both with Great Britain and France, as now proposed, and with all other nations which may become willing to enter into such an agreement with our Government.

Resolved further, That the ministers of New York City express the hope that the United States Senate will promptly ratify the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France when the same shall be submitted to them; and that these resolutions be transmitted to the President and to the Hon. Elihu Root and the Hon. James A. O'Gorman, Senators from the State of New York.

The principal speaker in the afternoon was the Dean of Worcester. He said in part:

"Dr. Clifford and I are here to-day representing the German and English churches federated to promote better feeling between those two countries. We don't ask the United States to join the movement, but we do venture to suggest that you should try to lead in organizing the churches for international peace. You are not only the largest nation, but there are other peculiar reasons why you should be the first in this movement, which is being forwarded by your President. The new Temple of Peace which is being builded in The Hague owes itself to the generosity of an Amrican.

"I should like to emphasize the importance of this movement being held by the churches. During the past year there have been many indications of peace, and also there have been many indications of war. Great Britain, for instance, groans beneath the weight of taxation caused by the building of Dreadnoughts.

"The expenditure for war in our country is alarming, and I am told that it is the same in yours. This indicates that in spite of progress there is much to be done, and I am most anxious that the Church shall remain in the lead in this matter, that peace shall be restored to the nations in the name of God.

"You may ask, What can the churches do? Our business is to educate people and to keep before them the Christian ideal. What the world needs is Christian union. In England and Germany all sections of the Church have stood together in this matter. There has been no other question which has found them so firmly hand in hand. I appeal to the churches on this side of the ocean to stand together in the same way, and not only union is wanted but catholicity of spirit."

"We were wondering how long the action of building Dreadnoughts could go on without breaking civilization," he said, "and here seemed a way out of our difficulties. A thrill of excitement passed through the house. We felt that a step had been taken in the United States which was responded to by Parliament. What would it mean if the three Great Christian countries, England, the United States, and Germany, should join hands for peace. You should be our leaders in this matter."

The Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis quoted Ambassador Bryce's recent statement. "What happens to the international arbitration between England and the United States during the next few weeks will determine how things will go on this planet for the next hundred years." Dr. Hillis then urged all to get together to work for peace.

"If all sects in our Christian world worked together," said Dr. Hillis, "we could put a stop to the opium traffic and the white slave traffic. We would have hands steeled for strength and silked for sympathy."

William J. Schieffelin, President of the Federation, presided at the luncheon, and other speakers included the Rev. John Clifford, Seth Low, the Rev. John Henry Jowett, and the Rev. John Howard Melish.

LIBRARY OPENING TO-DAY.

President Taft is coming to town today for the opening of the new $9,000,000 Public Library at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, at which he is to be the chief speaker. The ceremonies will take place in the main entrance vestibule at 2 P. M., before an audience of about 500 persons, the capacity of the vestibule space. Temporary seats have been put in for these special guests, which will include only a few prominent citizens, the greater number being National Government, State, and city officials. President Taft and others taking part in the exercises will speak from the central marble balcony overlooking the vestibule from a height of thirty feet.

Besides the President, the speakers will be Gov. Dix, Mayor Gaynor, John Bigelow, President of the New York Library; George L. Rives, a library Trustee, who will deliver a historical address; Park Commissioner Stover, and Thomas Hastings, one of the architects of the building, who will deliver the keys to the city. The opening prayer will be offered by Bishop Greer and the benediction by Archbishop Farley.

The exercises will have been concluded by 4 o'clock, when 15,000 persons, to whom invitations have been sent, will be admitted. No one without a card will be admitted. Every precaution, it is announced, has been taken against panic, and no one will be allowed to take photographs in the building at any time today, or carry cameras in with them.

WILL STOP PIANO FOR SICK BOY'S SAKE

THANKED BY THE COURT

Objected Principally to Way He Had Been Ordered to Stop Daughter's Practicing.

John Roth of the New York Fire Department made his second appearance in Yorkville Court yesterday to answer the complaint of H. W. Stout, who had told the court that his son was dying of heart disease in the Stout apartment next door to that of the Roths at 1,504 Second Avenue, and that little Edna Roth, 10 years old, continued to play on the piano even after her father had been told that with each note the sick boy was made worse.

At his first appearance last Thursday Roth said that the Health Department had told him he could use the piano from 11 A. M. till 6 P. M., and would not promise to have the practicing stopped, explaining that he had paid for his daughter's tuition and that he could not afford to lose the money.

The case was adjourned until yesterday afternoon. Promptly on time Roth appeared, and also in the court were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stout, parents of the sick youth, and their physician, Dr. C. J. Goeller of 421 East 146th Street.

Magistrate House pleaded for half an hour with the fireman to be mindful of the sick boy neighbor, to remember that persons when ill are easily disturbed, and finally appealed to his honor as a fireman.

"Will you listen to me for a moment?" asked the Magistrate. "Since last you were in court, Mr. Roth, I have made a thorough investigation of this matter. We Magistrates have ways of investigating out of court. And not only have I done this, but I have independently talked with the physician who is attending young Frederick Stout. I find the boy is critically ill and suffering with acute heart disease, and that it might endanger the boy's life to remove him to a hospital or to some other place where he would not be subject to the terror which the playing of this piano subjects him to.

"Now, Roth, you belong to the New York Fire Department—an organization which a great many people believe to be the greatest fire department in the world—and in that department there is an unwritten law. And under this law you firemen forget wife, family, and self in going to the aid of total strangers, to save and rescue them. I myself for thirty years have watched the Fire Department and have never during that time heard of a fireman failing to do his duty. Even in the private walks of life firemen seek to help others.

"In discussing this affair with the Stouts I was agreeably surprised to learn that neither the father nor the mother have any hard feelings toward you in this matter. But my investigation shows me that Frederick Stout is in mortal fear of that piano. Street noises do not annoy him. But the piano does. What have you to say to all this, Mr. Roth?"

"We have moved the piano to the other side of the house," explained Roth. "We stopped the practicing so long as we thought the boy was critically ill. When the child began again we thought the boy was out of danger. The piano hadn't been going an hour when Mr. Stout objected. Then he went to the Health Department. As for the piano playing—my mother-in-law is also critically ill, and it does not bother her."

Magistrate House explained that three years ago he was dangerously ill. He lived near the Subway. The noise from that did not worry him, nor did the street noises.

"But," he added, "the instant a note was struck on a piano, I became fairly crazed. My physician requested that the playing be stopped. It was stopped immediately. And, Roth, it seems to me that through common decency you would be willing to have the playing stopped. If the boy should die and the doctor afterward say the playing caused his death—whether it did or not—you would never get over it. I believe if you give heed to this matter and stop the practicing, you will be better satisfied. That is the humane thing to do. Don't you think you can do it?"

"Yes—I can," said Roth.

"But will you?" asked Magistrate House.

"If my wife hadn't been ordered so abruptly by Mr. Stout to have the playing stop I think it would have been stopped long ago. My wife is pretty nearly done up with the worry over this matter and with her mother so ill," said Roth.

"Well," said Magistrate House, "what are you willing to do about it?"

"That will be the manly thing to do, and I think you will be happy if you agree to have it stopped. I feel inclined to dismiss this summons if you will stop this playing for a while."

At that point Dr. Goeller testified to the seriousness of the boy's illness. Then the Magistrate said:

"Now, Roth, suppose you try it for a month and see how it goes. If you do it it will be an act of common humanity. Will you do it?"

"I'll try it—yes, I'll agree to stop it for a month," said Roth.

"That's the manly thing to do," said Magistrate House, "and under the circumstances I'll dismiss the summons. Thank you, Mr. Roth."

MOTION PICTURES IN MADISON GARDEN

OWNERS TO RUN THE SHOW

Seats for 5,000 and Soft Drinks to be Sold—Garden Unprofitable in Summer for 20 Years.

Madison Square Garden is to become a motion picture theatre, beginning Thursday, under the Garden management. It will probably be the largest amphitheatre devoted to motion pictures in the world, certainly in New York.

The idea of making this experiment has been under discussion by the management for some time. For the last twenty years the Garden has been a non-paying institution in the Summer months, and recently the stockholders have been planning to sell it. The horse show, the dog show, the automobile exhibit, the motor boat display, and various other commercial and sporting exhibitions keep the place filled during the Winter months, and the end of the season has usually been marked by the appearance of the circus, but for four months the income has been cut off. If the motion picture show proves a success, and the Garden can be kept open profitably for four months, it is believed by the management that the building will be withdrawn from sale.

Plans for the picture show have been made with much care. Seating accommodations for 5,000 have been provided, and precautions have been taken to facilitate the easy ingress and exit of crowds. An extra large sheet will be used to display the pictures, and a special daylight screen will be used in the afternoons. As the size of the Garden makes the introduction of vaudeville acts impractical the Ladies' Musical Vassar Band has been engaged to furnish music in connection with the pictures.

Soft drinks will be sold, but there will be no beer, and smoking will be prohibited. A uniform price will be charged for all seats.

KLAW GETS LEHAR'S OPERA.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 22.—Marc Klaw, who only arrived in London last night, has already obtained the American rights to Lehar's comic opera "The Count of Luxembourg," which was produced by George Edwardes Saturday at Daly's Theatre with a tremendous flourish of trumpets.

The presence of the King and Queen at the initial performance gave the piece a special send-off, and the London papers, which uniformly praise Edwardes's productions, exhausted adjectives in their enthusiasm. The advance booking had beaten all records, the seats taken over by libraries and theatrical agencies representing a value of about $200,000.

New Musical Play for Hitchcock.

Cohan & Harris announced yesterday that they would make an early Fall production of a new musical play by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, with music by Charles J. Gebest. It will be called "The Red Widow," and will be the starring vehicle for Raymond Hitchcock. The scenes of the piece are laid in London and St. Petersburg and the principal rôle is that of Cicero Hannibal Butts, a retired corset manufacturer.

Daniel Frohman Buys New Comedy.

Daniel Frohman has purchased a new American comedy, "Thy Neighbor's Wife," for production next September at the Lyceum Theatre. The piece is by a new writer, whose name Mr. Frohman has not yet divulged. In the company will be Arthur Byron, Frederick Tyden, Pamela Gaythorne, and Alice John. Mr. Frohman also announces that he has engaged Nelly Roland, a young actress from Vienna, to play the leading rôle in "Seven Sisters" this Summer in Chicago, and to appear in the same play, under Mr. Frohman's direction, in Vienna and other Austrian towns next Winter, in conjunction with an Austrian actor, who will play the rôle taken here by Charles Cherry. The play, in its American form, will also be given in Budapest, where it was originally produced in Hungarian.

Suffragette Farm on Victoria Roof.

William Hammerstein has changed his plans for the out-of-door portion of the Victoria roof garden this Summer, and instead of converting the space into a Swedish garden, as first intended, he is going to make it over into a suffragette farm, he announced yesterday. There will be a truck farm, a dairy, a blacksmith's shop, a wheat field with a thrashing machine, cider presses, and hay lofts, and still space enough to set out a few tables and chairs. All of the work will be done by women, who must satisfy Mr. Hammerstein that they are firm believers in "2the cause."

WEEK'S BILLS AT THE THEATRES.

"The City" was presented by the stock company at the Academy of Music yesterday, and will be the attraction for the rest of the week.

Corse Payton's stock company at the Grand Opera House appeared yesterday in Joseph Arthur's old melodrama, "The Still Alarm." There was much special scenery and a real fire engine and horses were used.

"Paid in Full," Eugene Walter's drama, was offered by Robert T. Haines and his company at the West End Theatre. Mr. Haines appeared in the role of Jimsey Smith, and Marie Nordstrom played Mrs. Brooks.

Jack Johnson, the pugilist, was the headline attraction at Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre. He gave a sparring exhibition and did a dance with a good deal of grace. Others on the bill were Harry Cooper and company, the Four Fords, Fanny Rice, the Thomas J. Ryan-Richfield company, "Juliet," the four "Old Soldier Fiddlers," E. Frederick Hawley and company, the Mexican Quartette, Plunkett and Burns, Fanny Fondeller, Bert FitzGibbon, Lee Lloyd, and Pungo and Lee.

Another "old timers' week" began at the Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday, with Allen and Clark in an old-fashioned musical act, Lottie Gilson in some of her old songs, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thorne in "An Uptown Flat," Mrs. Annie Yeamans in an act written especially for the occasion, Fox and Ward, Gus Williams, Tom Nawn and company, James Thornton, and Haines and Vidocq.

Eva Tanguay appeared as headliner at the Colonial Theatre, with a number of new songs and gowns, as well as some of her old popular numbers. Taylor Granville's dramatic sketch, "The Hold-Up," was another important feature of the programme that included Ed Morrell, Harnes and Crawford, McKay and Cantwell, the Avon Comedy Four, the Spissoll brothers, Jewell's Mannikins, and the Graziers.

At the Alhambra Theatre the principal attraction was Gus Edwards's "Song Revue," to which several new Edwards songs have been added. Valerie Bergere and company appeared in a sketch called "Judgment," and among the others on the bill were Billy Gaston and Minerva Coverdale, Julius Tannen, Ed Blondell, Swor and Mack, the Great Howard, and the Four Boises.

For the closing week of the season at the Bronx Theatre the bill was headed by Paul Armstrong's sketch, "A Romance of the Underworld." Agnes Scott and Henry Keane appeared in a romantic sketch called "Drifting," and included in the rest of the programme were the Jack Wilson trio, Frank Milton and the De Long sisters, Frank Morrell, and the De Voe brothers.

The attraction opening at the Columbia Theatre yesterday was the Columbia Burlesquers in a two-act burlesque called, "A Parisian Temptation." The vaudeville portion of the entertainment was headed by the four Banta brothers.

The second week of the season at the New Brighton Theatre, Brighton Beach, began yesterday, with Emma Carus and Carter De Haven sharing head-line honors. Others on the programme included Harry Fox and the Millership sisters, Carleton Macy and Edna Maud Hallet, Flannagan and Edwards, Charlotte Ravenscroft, Lapo and Benjamin, and Hon and Tracy.

The bill at the Orpheum Theatre, Brooklyn, was headed by the Four Mortons, and included besides Maggie Cline, the Bell family, Howard and Howard, Rice, Sully and Scott, the Bowman brothers, and Ben Barnett.

ITALIAN OPERA ON BOWERY.

The two Bowery theatres which are ordinarily associated with the Yiddish drama are given over this week to Italian opera. The People's Theatre, at 201 Bowery, is held by the New Grand Opera Company, while the Thalia shelters Sarnella's Italian Opera Company, which was heard for a time at the Majestic Theatre in Columbus Circle. Both theatres were crowded last night with audiences which showed their enthusiasm at every possible moment.

Louis Zuro is the Director of the New Grand Opera Company, which sang "Aïda" last night, and his son, Josiah Zuro, is the conductor. Young Zuro for a long time was the chorus master at the Manhattan Opera House, where he had an opportunity thoroughly to learn his trade, and later he became the conductor of Oscar Hammerstein's production of "Hans the Flute Player."

He is, as was remarked when he conducted Ganne's operetta, a conductor of ability, and this talent was disclosed still further last evening when he achieved marked results with a small orchestra—all that the orchestra pit of the People's Theatre could accommodate. Many members of the chorus also have sung at the Manhattan Opera House, and at least one of the principals, Miss Alice Gentle.

The performance as a whole was in excellent spirit, and demonstrated that the company is much above the ordinary cheap opera company, at least one of which is to be heard in New York each Summer. Miss Dianetta Alwina—who is hidden under this extraordinary nome de théâtre?—sang Aïda more than acceptably. Werner Alberti, who gave a few performances with a German company at the Irving Place Theare, was the Radames; Miss Gentle's very good contralto voice was heard to advantage as Amneris, Mr. Pimazonni was the Amonasro, Mr. Gravina the Ramfis, and Mr. Cervi the King.

Italian palaces served for the settings of the action, but what does that matter?

At the Thalia Theatre the Italian Comic Opera Company from Palermo gave its first performance of "The Geisha." It is interesting to observe that this company, the first Italian comic opera company to give performances here, if the records are correct, has not as yet produced any Italian opera. It was first heard in Louis Ganne's French opera-comique, "Les Saltimbanques"; then in Edmond Eysler's Viennese operetta, "Furstenliebe"; then in Von Suppe's "Boccaccio." Von Suppe was a Belgian, but most of his works were produced in Vienna.

Now the company will turn its attention to English musical comedy, and a Spanish opera will occupy the stage later in the week. The performance of "The Geisha" was an extremely good one to those who are interested in spirited acting and singing. The work of the conductor, Canepa, who conducts with neither score nor baton at his behest, has already been remarked on as above the average. He is a chef d'orchestre of temperament and great ability, and if some Broadway manager would seize upon him doubtless that manager's future productions of Viennese operettas would meet more than their accustomed fates.

Miss Elvira Canepa was heard as Molly Seamore, and her "Chon Kina" was repeated, as was nearly everything else in the score. In fact, it would pay the ordinary Broadwayite to visit either of these theatres to see and hear a really enthusiastic audience.

BALLET GETS A SHOWER BATH

The ballet at the Folies Bergere was treated to a shower bath and the audience to a new "water effect" last night when an automatic sprinkler over the stage was accidentally set off. It happened just as the curtain was falling on the finale of the ballet, when the reunited lovers, in the centre of the stage, are springled with rose leaves and the various Temptations stand around in serried ranks.

With this sprinkling of rose leaves last night came the shower of water, right over the heads of Lea and Novotna, two of the principals, and over the rest of them, and the silk-tighted dancers near them. The stage director, who was watching from the wings, shouted to the girls to keep still, and they did, taking the wetting as if it were a part of the performance.

When they succeeded in stopping the flood the back part of the stage was thoroughly wet and very slippery. The audience took the mishap as a huge joke. It will be remembered that on the opening night a water pipe over the lobby broke and that the carpets and some of the hats and coats in the coat room were damaged.

Ida Conquest Co-Star with Marshall.

Ida Conquest will play a stock engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Cleveland, Ohio, next month as co-star with Tully Marshall. During the season they will produce a new play, called "The Talker," by Marion Fairfax, with the intention of playing it on tour next season. Miss Fairfax is the wife of Mr. Marshall, and is the author of several plays, including "The Chaperon," in which Maxine Elliott starred for two seasons.

DRISCOLL MAY HOLD ON

But Belief Is General That Police Commissioner Cropsey's Time Is Short.

Whether a new Police Commissioner is to be chosen to succeed James C. Cropsey, the present head of the Police Department, is likely to be determined to-day, when Mayor Gaynor returns to City Hall, after a three days' absence. Commissioner Cropsey refused to say anything yesterday, in spite of the rumors around Police Headquarters concerning him.

Some of the reports referred to First Deputy Police Commissioner Driscoll, but he, like his chief, refused to talk. The prevailing impression is that Deputy Driscoll will stay. Those who stand close to Mayor Gaynor say that Mr. Driscoll recently incurred the displeasure of the Mayor and was given a sharp reprimand, but that he promised to "be good," and upon this understanding was assured that his place was safe, for him.

It is the general belief in police circles that Commissioner Cropsey is to be relieved by Rhinelander Waldo, the present Fire Commissioner. It was also rumored yesterday that Edward F. Croker, who resigned recently as Chief of the Fire Department, may be named as Mr. Waldo's successor as Fire Commissioner. Those who know Chief Croker well believe that he would take the Commissionership.

A "DETECTIVE" DETECTED.

He Advertised for Business and His First Customer Was a Real Sleuth.

William K. Spengler, who, according to his father, Charles Spengler of 44 Manhattan Avenue, earns $70 a week in the office of a large corporation, decided that he might make a little more money by working at night as a private detective. So he bought a brand-new nickel badge and a card from a private detective agency, certifying that he was employed as one of its detectives, and inserted an advertisement in an evening paper announcing that he would do private detective work, and could give excellent references. Then last evening he sat down in his parlor to wait for his first customer.

The customer came. He was a man who wanted detective work in a divorce case. Spengler, according to this customer, said that divorce detection was his specialty, and that $5 a day was his charge. The customer asked to see Spengler's license, and Spengler showed him his card from the private detective agency. Then the customer introduced himself as State Detective Frank Whitfield of the State Controller's office, 165 Broadway, saying that the agency which issued the card was itself unlicensed to do business, and arrested Spengler on a charge of posing as a private detective without a license.

In the Night Court Spengler disclaimed all intent of running foul of the law, protesting that he had believed himself a bona fide private detective. Magistrate Kernochan was inclined to believe this, but said he would have to hold the young man for Special Sessions under $50 cash bail, which the elder Spengler furnished.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

FAVORABLE CROP WEATHER

Trading fell off sharply after the first hour of yesterday's Stock Exchange session, which contributed about two-fifths of the day's total of 565,000 shares, which represented only moderate activity compared with several days last week, when transactions closely approximated 1,000,000 shares. Along with the decreased business came a recession in prices, but only after many stocks had made new high prices on this movement, and some had reached record prices for the year. In few of the active stocks was the afternoon's reaction sufficient to convert the earlier gains into net losses, and though most of the advances shown at the close were small, they represented some further advance in the average level of the active stocks. Commission house business appears to have contributed substantially to the first-hour activity yesterday, and furnished a market for sufficient stock to prevent the profit-taking sales from making more than slight impression on the full record of the day's dealings. Despite the considerable curtailment of total sales as compared with the more active days of last week, there was only a small reduction in the number of stocks dealt in. At the same time the transactions in a large majority of the stocks quoted were very light in volume, the three most active issues, Reading, United States Steel, and Union Pacific contributing one-half of the day's total.

For the second time within the last few weeks predictions of frost in the cotton belt which had been made at the close of the week were not borne out. On the contrary, the general tenor of the weather reports over the end of the week were favorable. This was true in the cotton districts, as well as in the wheat States, but it was only in the grain market that the conditions immediately affecting the growth of the crops were reflected in the market. The cotton options, both the old crop months and the new, advanced fairly sharply, the July option again rising above 16 cents, and that and the other options closed at gains of from 5 to 19 points. Wheat, on the other hand, despite an advance early in the day in the May option at Chicago, receded under the favorable weather advices, and, barring the May quotation, closed at a half-cent recession from Saturday's prices. The present position of the May wheat option deprives its fluctuations of any importance as an indication of the general crop outlook, as was aptly illustrated yesterday in the advance of about 2 cents a bushel, and a net gain of three-quarters of a cent in the May quotation, while later months in the Chicago market at no time during the day sold as high as Saturday's close.

The tone of the money market was a little easier for all but over-the-year loans. Ninety-day money again loaned at 2¾ per cent. There has been a little more activity in the commercial paper market, as well as in time loans, but no advance such as took place last week in Stock Exchange loans has occurred in commercial paper rates. Higher discounts were reported from London. Another $1,000,000 of the weekly gold receipts at London was set aside for India, and the balance of the day's gold arrivals, amounting to $3,000,000, was obtained for the Bank of England itself.

Monday.

The market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was broad and active, the best business, however, being done on the forenoon advance, with the volume decreasing somewhat on the afternoon reaction. Sales, totaling 66,979 shares, were distributed among sixty-seven different stocks. The morning advance invited very heavy profit taking, as well as some selling for the short account by traders who were looking for a reaction. Commission houses reported that they were handling an increasing volume of orders, with the business in odd lots notable for its size and the variety of securities represented.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, May 22.—With the exception of the Northwestern issue, the elevated shares to-day failed to display their recent strength, Metropolitan and South Side making slight concessions for the day's trading. Northwestern, one of the most active stocks on the Exchange to-day, gained nearly a point over the previous close. A meeting of the Metropolitan board has been called for this afternoon to receive the Blair offer of purchase. The terms will be offered to the South Side, it is understood, to-morrow afternoon. Otherwise the local list was rather irregular. There was considerable strength in the Can issues, the preferred showing more than a two-point gain at the best and holding most of the advance to the end.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Individual Holdings of United States Bonds.

Since the United States Government reduced the interest rate on its bond issue and resorted to the placing of 2 per cent. bonds whose chief and almost exclusive market is with the National banks, which could use these bonds as a basis of circulation, the individual holdings of United States issues, which at one time were very large, have been greatly reduced. It still comes to the notice of bond dealers from time to time, however, that a few individuals cling to investing their funds in United States bonds. One such instance cited by a bond man yesterday illustrates the willingness of some people to accept very low interest to be assured of obtaining absolute security coupled with the satisfaction of holding the obligation of the Federal Government. This investor has about $1,000,000 in United States bonds which was originally employed in the older issues bearing higher rates of interest. As the old bonds matured, this investor put his money into the 2 per cents. This involves, of course, the acceptance of an income of about 2 per cent in place of the 4 per cent. which could readily be obtained on high-class bonds of other classes.

Holding Back Matured Bonds.

So keen is the desire of some investors to hold Government securities that instances have been known of the owners of large blocks of Government bonds holding them long after they have matured. When the 4s of 1907 became due a considerable amount of them were left outstanding for a long time. Indeed, approximately $1,000,000 of the bonds still remain to be paid off. It was two years after the issue matured that one holder of $250,000 of the bonds turned them in for payment. In the interval the owner of the bonds had been waiting for a chance to reinvest them in another Government issue, but at last gave up the bonds and put the proceeds into New York City issues. These and other similar instances of individual investments in United States Government bonds are being discussed with interest just now in view of the appeal for popular subscriptions, which is being made in connection with the offering of $50,000,000 3 per cent. bonds for which the Treasury will accept bids up to June 17.

Missouri Pacific Financing.

Announcement of the Missouri Pacific's proposed issue of $25,000,000 three-year notes is not expected until it has been approved by the State Commissions. The matter has been tentatively arranged, and the demand for this class of securities has been so strong lately that the bankers anticipate no difficulty in disposing of even this large amount. Speyer & Co., who will bring out the notes, have already had a large number of inquiries for them. The short-term financing is resorted to in the belief that there will be such an improvement in general conditions in the next three years, as well as in the status of the railroad, that refunding of the notes at the end of that period can be arranged for on more favorable terms than could be had for an issue of long-term bonds at the present time.

Disbursements for dividends and interest next month will approximate $80,000,000, or about the same as for this month in 1909, although $5,000,000 less than in June, 1910, according to the estimate made by The Wall Street Journal. Of the total, dividend payments will account for about $34,000,000, of which $9,147,058 is on railroad securities, $22,746,552 on industrials and miscellaneous stocks, $1,704,061 on electric railways, and $210,000 on New York bank and trust company shares. Of the interest payments, the predominating share of the $43,000,000 total belongs to railway bonds, cn which $25,980,000 will be paid. Industrial and miscellaneous companies pay $7,701,000, electric railways $5,768,000, New York City bonds $225,000, and other municipal and State bonds $3,351,000. The heaviest disbursements were January's $211,000,000.

American Tobacco at Record.

Although Standard Oil stock on the Curb received the adverse decision of the Supreme Court with an advance to a high record for the year in the days following the decision, it did not come within 150 points of touching the high record. American Tobacco, with the decision of its case still to come, has had unprecedented activity in the outside market at advancing prices, and yesterday went to 510, which equals the high point reached in January, 1906. In the panic of 1907 the shares sold as low as 174½, and within a year have sold at 390.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Until the last hour, when profit-taking made itself felt, the strength in United States Steel and Reading in New York was reflected in this city, and both issues were buoyant, overshadowing the purely local issues in point of volume of transactions. Aside from these, Pennsylvania warrants and Philadelphia Company continued to attract the most attention. Lake Superior was irregular, but the income bonds continued to display marked strength, crossing 71 with ease. United Gas Improvement was also in demand, but the tractions remained heavy, and some little profit-taking was in evidence in Philadelphia Electric, despite reports that the Utilities bill will not pass at Harrisburg.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE BONDS

MISSISSIPPI STATE BONDS

The Council of Foreign Bondholders of London, and the Committee of North Carolina Bondholders, hereby warn the investing public against the purchase of new issues of obligations of North Carolina and Mississippi.

About Ten Millions of dollars of Bonds of the State of North Carolina, secured by an agreement to levy a special tax for their payment, were sold at substantial prices, and are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. After paying three coupons, North Carolina has since refused to pay or to settle this debt. Her disregard of obligation has brought disaster upon many families that had trusted a State in the Union for the security of their income. This is the financial record of a community that now comes forward to seek the confidence of investing centres.

The State of New York has already passed judgment upon such performances: it prohibits the risk of Savings Bank money in the bonds of a State that has defaulted in the payment of its public debt during the ten years preceding its application for new loans.

Action has also been taken with the New York Stock Exchange in view of the present attempt upon private and corporate capital. Investors need merely follow these indications.

The door may be opened wide to North Carolina for obtaining funds needed for her development. She is now seeking from Congress the arbitration of the claims of the United States as a North Carolina bondholder. That arbitration may be extended to her individual creditors.

By this recourse, an opportunity will be afforded North Carolina to present any grounds for claiming a reduction from the total amount of her liability. Meanwhile, organizations charged with the protection of investors in public securities cannot acquiesce in the efforts of North Carolina to obtain more moneys, until the arbitration of its existing indebtedness is consummated, and paying securities are issued upon the basis of the award.

The examples of Virginia and Tennessee, to say nothing of San Domingo, Honduras, and Nicaragua, should not surpass the wealthy States of North Carolina and Mississippi.

EDWARD L. ANDREWS, Attorney.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

West Side Apartment in Trade for Riverside Drive Corner—Investors Buy Harlem Flats—Plans for Big East Side Theatre.

Apartment-house property was the chief feature of a quiet realty market yesterday. The continued activity in the Washington Heights section was reflected in a deal which involved an exchange of properties between the West Side Construction Company, Jacob Axelrod, President, and the Lloyd Construction Company, Mannie Goldberg, President.

Mr. Axelrod's company sold the six-story elevator apartment house known as the Westbourne, at 519 West 144th Street, on plot 70.10 by 99.11, between Broadway and Hamilton Place, to the Lloyd Construction Company, which gave in payment the plot of six lots on the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 151st Street.

This plot, which is in the centre of a well-improved apartment house district, has a frontage of 103.10 feet on Riverside Drive, and 153.1 feet on the street, being at the westerly end of the Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society's big plot facing Broadway, between 150th and 151st Streets, sold to a syndicate a few days ago. Mr. Axelrod will improve the vacant corner with one or more high-class apartment houses.

A part of the Hoguet estate disposed of a few days ago will be used for a new home for the Little Sisters of the Poor. This society was the buyer of the Hoguet parcel on the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 140th Street, 100 feet on the Drive and 225 feet on the street, comprising about nine city lots. The selling price is said to have been about $200,000.

Third Avenue Property in Trade.

Aaron Goodman has sold the property at 273 to 277 Third Avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second Streets, on plot 54.8 by 75 feet, to David Bloome. Mr. Goodman takes in part payment the private house at 117 West 119th Street, on plot 20 by 100.8.

The five-story flat 67 East Seventh Street, between Second and Third Avenues, has been sold by Joseph Berliant to an investor. The plot is 25 by 97.6.

Deal in Old Greenwich Village.

The old three-story dwelling 81 Dominick Street, located in the heart of old Greenwich Village, which is fast disappearing before the loft building movement, has been sold by John H. Judge to C. Driscoll. The building occupies a lot 19 by 75.

The Private Dwelling Market.

Edgar A. Manning, in conjunction with Bryan L. Kennelly, has sold for the Stimson estate 14 West Forty-eighth Street, a four-story and basement dwelling on a lot 25 by 100.5. The property was to be sold at auction May 25.

On Washington Heights A. Offenberg & Son have sold for Charles Tchanett 548 West 148th Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 16.8 by 99.11.

H. C. Senior & Co. have sold for A. Levinsky the dwelling at 2,315 Seventh Avenue, near 136th Street, on a lot 20 by 75, to a Mr. Albert for investment.

Investor Buys Harlem Flats.

The Mortgage Bond Company has sold through Freidus & Co. 12 East 110th Street, a five-story double flat on a lot 26 by 100.11; also, for the Lawyers' Mortgage Company, 14 East 110th Street, adjoining. The purchaser is an investor.

Bronx.

Joseph Fritz has purchased from James E. Callan the corner of East 176th Street and Marmian Avenue, 62 by 100.

W. L. Varian has sold for M. Lonsdale, a private dwelling on lot 50 by 100, located on the north side of East 201st Street, adjoining the corner of Grand Boulevard and Concourse.

W. E. & W. I. Brown, Inc., have sold for Margaret J. Becker to the City of New York, as a site for a firehouse, the vacant plot, 50 by 140, on the west side of Washington Avenue, about 250 feet north of Wendover Avenue.

Brooklyn.

Harry M. Lewis has sold a plot 80 by 120.7, being the southwest corner of Eastern Parkway and Rochester Avenue, for Arthur O. Howard and another, to a client who will hold for future subway development; also 227 Kingston Avenue, near Sterling Place, a three-story brick store and dwelling on lot 20 by 74.8, for the Link Realty and Construction Company, to a client.

The Brown Realty Company has purchased 477-479 Third Street, Brooklyn, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, a five-story apartment house on lot 44 by 90.

E. Sharum has sold to a client, 54 Division Avenue, three-family brick house, on plot 19.10 by 62.9 irregular, between Wythe and Bedford Avenues; a six-room dwelling with a barn, on a plot 75 by 150, on Virginia Avenue, at Huntington, and ten lots at Eastport were given as part payment.

Suburban.

The Stanley Agency sold for the Draper Realty Company, a plot 90 by 152 feet on the north side of Lake Drive at Oakland, L. I., to J. F. Murray. The plot will be immediately improved with a large dwelling.

Cornelius G. Kolff has sold for the Underwood estate to Charles Illers, a lot 40 by 75, on the northwest corner of Waters and St. John's Avenues, Westerleigh. The purchaser contemplates the erection of a house on the plot.

Recent sales made by G. Taus & Son in the Rockaway district, include S. Schnurmacher's cottage at 44 Wygand Place, West Arverne; H. J. Sprang's cottage at Belle Harbor, and plots at Rockaway Beach, for the Farrelly estate, Mrs. Naughton, Mrs. Hughes, and I. Zaret.

Recent Buyers.

Oscar Lowenstein is the buyer of the dwelling, 318 West Seventy-first Street, sold recently by Maida C. Van Buren.

Big East Side Theatre.

Plans are being prepared for Marcus Loew's new east side theatre at Delancey and Suffolk Streets, by the architect, S. Sugar, who designed the Loew Theatre now being erected on the northwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Thirtieth Street. The Delancey Street Theatre will be on the northwest corner, and will have a seating capacity of 1,800. It will be a three-story building and is estimated to cost about $150,000. The old buildings on the site have been torn down and the new house is to be finished by the end of the year.

Features of Building Show.

The prospective home builder has found a haven of advice and the solution of many important problems at the Architecture and Building Show now open at the new Grand Central Palace, Lexington Avenue and Forty-sixth Street. The architect, the engineer and the builder each has his special department at the show, but the prospective owner of a city or suburban home can find the latest things for construction or equipment from marble to plaster, nails, locks, lawn pergolas, rustic Summer houses, sun dials, and even bee hives.

Pratt University of Brooklyn shows a model oak staircase and a complete minature building constructed by students, and the University of Pennsylvania shows detail construction drawings, the work of their best students.

The Municipal Art Society has an interesting exhibit in the field of town planning and municipal improvement.

To-night the American Society of Engineering Contractors will conduct a conference. Thursday will be devoted to a consideration of the artistic and engineering problems embraced in town planning and municipal improvement under the auspices of the Municipal Art Society.

Every Wise Man

is more or less interested in what is going on in the Real Estate field. Competent judges have declared "The Real Estate Market is the Barometer of Business in General."

Be optimistic. Do not look in back of you, it is a waste of time. "Look ahead" and far enough to see the light of prosperity.

The man who complains about business never stops to figure out how fast we New Yorkers move—that we are classed as the most progressive people in the country.

Ever figure out how many millions are spent each year on Theatres, Autos or other forms of amusements and luxuries, and where it all comes from?

Would it surprise you to know that over 70% of the private earning capital of this second largest city in the civilized world is invested in real estate or building operations?

Do not be too busy to be shown how to make a wise investment, where you are sure to make a profit. Attend the

Wonderful Hearing Devices

THE ACOUSTICON is now being successfully operated in over 400 Churches throughout the country.

It enables people who are hard of hearing to distinguish every word of Sermons and Prayers, even in the rear pews of the Church.

This feature has added greatly to the attractiveness of these Churches for deaf people and their friends—they are showing it in their attendance and patronage.

Is also made for personal use and may be tested before it is purchased.

THE TURNER INTERIOR TELEPHONE is the most dependable, convenient and efficient Interior Telephone that modern science, combined with many years of experience in Electrical hearing devices, can produce.

It will work efficiently and persistently all the time—there is almost nothing to get out of order.

No mouthpiece—no germs—you may talk at 3 feet distance and be heard perfectly.

THE DICTOGRAPH is the Instrument used by Detective Burns in recent famous cases to get evidence, etc. The daily papers have covered this fully in the past two weeks.

It also saves a vast amount of time to the busiest man in the modern office, bank, or institution.

He may dictate letters to his stenographer in the next room, or consult with a department-head four floors away, and not stand or sit within 10 feet of the instrument.

Difference Between "Colored Insulators" and "Insulators Colored."

In sustaining a protest filed by Wakem & McLaughlin, the Board of United States General Appraisers has made a decision defining the status under the tariff of "colored insulators" in contradistinction to "insulators colored." The board finds that there is a difference which has the effect of reducing the duty 15 per cent. The goods are invoiced as glass rosettes, duty being imposed at 60 per cent., the paragraph specifying "glass colored." The importers' contention, which was sustained, claimed a rate of 45 per cent. on the goods as "manufactures of glass."

The rosettes are small pieces of glass, circular in shape, and are used as channels for holding telegraph, telephone, and electric light wires in place. In other words, the rosettes serve the purpose of insulators. The glass of which these insulators are composed has been colored amber, the coloring matter being incorporated with the other ingredients of the glass in the pot before melting, and not subsequently applied. Under prior tariff acts articles of glass were not deemed to be colored within the meaning of the law if such coloring did not amount to an ornamentation or decoration, but the Tariff act of 1909 provides for glass colored. Judge Sharretts has this to say:

"The intent of Congress is clearly expressed that if any of the processes enumerated in the paragraph has applied to articles composed wholly or in chief value of glass, irrespective of whether its application was for purposes of utility or of ornamentation, a single exception to the rule being made in the case of such articles as are ground for purposes other than ornamentation, they are dutiable at the rate of 60 per cent.

"Inasmuch as every one of the processes enumerated in the provision implies work done upon the glass articles after they have been given their form as such, we must conclude that to be brought within the provision of Paragraph 98, glass articles colored must have been colored by a superadded process. The merchandise in question has been subjected to no superadded process. They are colored insulators in contradistinction to insulators colored, just as ornamental articles are not necessarily articles ornamented. We hold that the goods are dutiable at the rate of 45 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 109, as manufactures of glass. The protest is sustained and the decision of the Collector is reversed."

A protest by the American Shipping Company relative to the classification of steel castings imported at New York was sustained. The merchandise was returned for duty at 45 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures in chief value of metal. The claim of the importer, upheld by the board, is for classification under the tariff as castings at the applicable specific rate according to value per pound.

TRAVELERS' GUIDE—STEAMBOATS.

Today you can cover the Clermont's course at five times the speed in the swiftest, most palatial river steamers afloat.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Low pressure over the Middle West has been attended by showers and local thunderstorms in the interior.

Elsewhere throughout the country the weather remained fair.

Temperatures continue high in the Middle Atlantic States, the interior of New England, and the Upper Ohio Valley, and have risen considerably over the South.

In the Atlantic States the weather will be generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday, although conditions are favorable for scattered thunder showers.

The temperature will be somewhat lower in New England Tuesday, and it will change little elsewhere throughout the country during the next forty-eight hours.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Probably fair Tuesday, followed by unsettled weather Tuesday night and Wednesday, not much change in temperature; light variable winds.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT.—Crop reports, which are the paramount influence at present, were of such a character yesterday as to result in general losses in wheat values. Aside from short covering, which was responsible for the slight rally at the close, demand was insufficient during the day to care for offerings notwithstanding the cautiousness still noted prior to pressing sales. This conservatism, depite bear sentiment, is the result of the congestion of May at the West, and although at various times yesterday that option displayed inherent strength, the effect was not sympathetic; in fact, some authorities expressed the belief that under cover of this firmness other deliveries were being sold.

Since last Saturday practically every section of the Winter wheat belt has received more or less moisture and crop reports as a result are generally splendid. Spring wheat advices are also optimistic, with conditions prevailing in foreign countries generally favorable, it being claimed that the drought in Roumania has been relieved, at least temporarily. Private cables also told of light frost in Northern Russia, which was sufficient to impart some steadiness to the foreign markets, but this was not regarded seriously and subsequently had little effect.

World's wheat exports continue to show immense totals, aggregating 16,280,000 bushels, against 14,832,000 last week and 10,048,000 bushels a year ago. Russia contributed over 6,500,000 toward this total, America ranking next with slightly over 3,500,000, followed closely by Argentina, showing approximately 2,750,000. The significant feature of these striking shipments the entire season has been the rapidity of the absorption and the ability of countries other than America to supply the enormous foreign requirements. The visible supply for the week showed a decrease in this country of 515,000 bushels, and in Canada of 856,000 bushels, comparing with decreases last week of 218,000 bushels and 927,000 bushels, respectively. Last year the decrease in America was 842,000, while Canada showed an increase of 759,000 bushels. The total visible is now 32,448,000 bushels, against 29,913,000 last year.

Cash and export demand was quiet, with sales to foreigners confined to 6 loads of Manitoba. Flour business is naturally quiet as a result of crop prospects. Cash No. 2 red quoted at 99c, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 2 hard, $1.04; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.07½, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.02½.

CORN.—Copious rains throughout the entire belt will aid in germinating of the plant, and many predictions were received of increased movement with a corresponding increase expected in offerings from first hands. Future markets were heavy in consequence of this news, and although there was more or less speculative buying based on the assumption that demand from export and cash interest would improve on the setback, selling orders predominated on the slight bulges. The visible decreased 668,000, against a decrease of 1,234,000 bushels last week and 1,289,000 last year. There were no sales reported to foreigners, with cash prices shaded in line with futures. Cash No. 2 quoted at 60c, free on board, afloat, for export.

OATS.—Doubtless rains in practically the entire oat-growing section will ameliorate droughty conditions recently prevailing. Although on Saturday there was realizing in the speculative market in anticipation of this moisture, further selling was in evidence. The general run of sentiment was against bull enthusiasm, and best buying seemed to be for the account of shorts. The visible decreased 368,000 bushels for the week, against a decrease last week of 520,000, and an increase a year ago of 140,000 bushels. Cash standards quoted at 39½c; No. 2 white, 40c, and No. 3 white, 39¼c.

PROVISIONS.—But little activity was displayed during the session, and while some heaviness was occasioned by hog advices, receipts being liberal, buying by packers thought to be the removing of hedges was sufficient to absorb scattered speculative realizing. Cash demand is fair, but supplies apparently are commensurate.

COTTON OIL.

Refining interests have evidently not abandoned their idea of enforcing higher levels, and profit-taking sales furnish the bulk of opposition at present. There is a great diversity of opinion as to the amount of oil remaining in the country, but the general belief is that the big concerns hold a greater portion of that available, and it is their intention to maintain levels. The May delivery, from a discount of ten points, sold even with July yesterday, which partially indicates the control by some refining interests, who, several weeks ago, accepted fully thirty thousand barrels of that month on delivery. Crude is strong, but not considered a factor; quoted at 5.60@5.67c.

COTTON.

Evidence of bull support in old crop deliveries was not lacking during yesterday's session, and the ability of the market to recover from temporary setbacks clearly indicates the existence of a short interest. Without a doubt, however, this is being gradually diminished, and bulls seem inclined to supply the demand on the scale up. New crop deliveries also displayed an undertone of firmness during the day, due to a large extent to drought reports from the Carolinas, North Texas, Oklahoma, and parts of Arkansas and the Memphis district. Scattered rains were shown in many sections east of the Mississippi over Sunday, but except in isolated sections these were not heavy, although predictions were for thunder showers over Monday night in some of the complaining districts.

Apparently, however, the weather news was not the only factor stimulating to the demand in the new crop deliveries, as there are unmistakable signs of improvement in trade conditions. Moreover, there is conservative buying by spinning interests of October and December against future requirements, which results in the bringing about of an easily oversold market, as the selling appears to be for the most part speculative. The crop advices received varied in tenor, but it is noteworthy that the public does not enthuse at present over the character of these advices, and as the South was on both sides of the market during the day this was interpreted as indicating that crop conditions are mixed.

During the initial trading the list was generally unchanged to 7 points higher, near months displaying the strength, but following a period of slight hesitation the market hardened, and closing prices proved to be near the best. Liverpool is without feature at present, cables yesterday morning coming about as expected. The Manchester official advices stated that cloths and yarns were quiet.

Local stocks are decreasing rapidly, and predictions were made that these will be below 85,000 bales before the first week in June is over, and it is this feature, in connection with the firmness of Southern spots, diverting cotton other channels than New York, which adds to the tension of the situation. Bulls still say that a large crop will be required next season, and as private reports have prepared the cotton world for an increase of at least 5 per cent. in acreage and for a good condition, there has been some nervousness on the part of bears lest the dry weather in different sections results in a lower condition than generally anticipated.

Southern spot markets were generally unchanged, as was the local spot market; middling uplands in New York, 16.10c.

BOYCOTT INJUNCTION IN BUILDING TRADE

COURT ACTION IS SWEEPING

Defendants Charged with Conspiring to Prevent the Use of Non-Union Wood in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Justice Coxe issued yesterday in the United States Circuit Court a preliminary injunction against twenty-four officials and members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, five manufacturing woodworkers, and 116 building contractors, restraining them from conspiring to refuse to handle non-union material or taking any action tending to boycott the complainants, who include the Paine Lumber Company and eight other concerns which run "open shops."

The American Anti-Boycott Association took a lively interest in the action, as it hoped to break the agreement between the local woodwork manufacturers, the Carpenters' Union, and certain contracting builders, which it was alleged has effectually prevented for some time any wood dressed in open-shop mills from being used in Manhattan.

The complainants in the suit were lumber and woodworking mills of Wisconsin, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Tennessee, which took action after consulting about 200 firms in the West and South. They presented affidavits alleging that on account of their having refused to be bound by union conditions, carpenters in this city refused to work on jobs on which their output was used, and that the unions represented to the contractors that if they bought any of these "unfair" materials they would strike. Also, they alleged, the woodwork manufacturers and building contractors had an agreement with the union not to use non-union products.

George W. Crooks, Secretary of the W. D. Crooks & Sons Company, Williamsport, Penn., presented an affidavit, in which he stated that last Fall he obtained a $5,000 contract from G. W. Smith & Co., cabinetmakers, of Philadelphia, to make the doors for the Rector Hotel, Broadway and Forty-fourth Street.

In December Mr. Crooks was informed that all the carpenters on the job had struck, refusing to work unless the molding, which had been made by non-union labor, was replaced by material made in a union shop.

Mr. Crooks also swore that in the Spring of 1910 a representative of the Carpenters' Union had called on him and told him that if he would unionize his shop the company would have an increased business, but that if it refused it would be unable to dispose of any of its merchandise in Manhattan or the Bronx.

Walter Gordon Merritt, counsel of the Anti-Boycott Association, said he believed the building contractors were not particularly anxious to see continued the agreement between the Manufacturing Woodworkers' Association and the Brotherhood of Carpenters, as it forced them to pay for woodwork about 40 per cent. more than if there were no restriction of the source from which they could obtain it.

"The object of making so many builders defendants," he said, "was to relieve them of that part of their agreement which forbids them using open-shop windows, and it is believed they will welcome this release. As the agreement has worked, all wood materials produced by any mill in the United States which has non-union labor, except one particular class of material, has been shut out of the Island of Manhattan as effectually as if it had a Chinese wall around it. Large manufacturing woodworkers from every part of the country have suffered, and the Carpenters' Union, which is 200,000 strong, has been considering extending the boycott to Brooklyn."

Justice Coxe in his decision admitted that the injunction could not be sought under the Sherman Act, as only the United States could move under that law. He said he seldom had a more perplexing controversy to decide, as there was a marked conflict of authority on the law in the State and Federal courts, and he had been unable to find, in the latter jurisdiction a controlling authority precisely in point.

The court pointed out that it is a fundamental rule of equity that a preliminary injunction shall not issue in a doubtful case, but quoted the decision of Judge Ward in the injunction suit, which Charles R. Irving and Robert Casson brought sucessfully against the Joint District Council of New York of the Carpenters' Union. In this it was alleged that the defandants had used the boycott against the complainants in connection with the work on the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and the West Point Academy. Judge Coxe added:

"It must be conceded, I think, that the moving papers disclose a situation which, if sustained by proof, indicates that the complainants' right to conduct their business in a perfectly legitimate manner may be interfered with and impaired by methods which are indefensible.

"The right of every American citizen, whether employe or employer, to gain an honest livelihood by his own toil and endeavor is inherent in our organic law and should be protected with all the power of the Government. The case which most closely resembles the case at bar is the Irving case, which held, in substance, that an injunction should issue to prevent workmen from threatening owners, builders, and architects that their contracts would be held up if they used the products of another employer which had been declared 'unfair.'" Judge Ward says:

The right of workingmen to unite for their own protection is undoubted, and so is their right to strike peaceably because of grievances; but their right to combine for the purpose of calling out the workmen of other employers who have no grievances, or to threaten owners, builders, and architects that their contracts will be held up if their or any of their sub-contractors use the complainants' trim is quite another affair.

To take the converse of the proposition: Will the defendants admit that employers may combine to prevent any employer from using union labor? May the employers agree not to sell to or contract with any one who deals with an employer who uses union labor?

Either of these propositions is destructive of the right of free men to labor for or to employ the labor of any one the laborer or the employer wishes. If the struggle is persisted in between labor and capital to establish a contrary view, ultimately either the workmen or the employers will be reduced to a condition of involuntary servitude.

In view of this, the court granted the preliminary injunction but imposed the condition that as the complainants are non-residents they must give a bond of $10,000 for the payment of any damages whicih the defendants may prove to be caused them by the preliminary injunction. The defendants, however, will be relieved from the injunction if they give a $25,000 bond for the payment of any damages that the complainants may prove they have sustained by reason of the defendants doing anything forbidden by the order.

CAR HITS DEAD WAGON.

Body of a Child Spilled Into the Street and Driver Mortally Hurt.

An undertaker's wagon belonging to John Schmitz of 714 Metropolitan Avenue, Williamsburg, in which the body of a dead child was being conveyed from Corona to the undertaker's place of business, was struck in the side by a northbound trolley car at the junction of Steinway and Jackson Avenues, Long Island City, late last night. The wagon was smashed completely, the horse killed, and the driver, Frederick Krauss, and his helper, Charles Cassetta, were pitched to the sidewalk. The dead child was thrown with the coffin basket into the street.

Both Krauss and Cassetta were unconscious when picked up by passengers of the car, and had to be taken to St. John's Hospital, Long Island City, where the former was found to have a fractured skull. He has little chance of recovery. His helper was badly injured about the head and body, but will get well. The child's body was taken to the Steinway Police Station. No arrest was made.

COMPLEXION CURE KILLS HER

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 22.—Complexion wafers containing arsenic were the immediate cause of the death of Miss Hildegarde Walton, daughter of Mrs. John T. Milliken, 1,150 Belt Avenue, this morning at her home. She was found unconscious in her bedroom yesterday morning by her mother.

Saturday Miss Walton was in apparent good health, and that night had entertained friends at her home. While she was not considered constitutionally strong her health had been good since she was taken from the Ogontz School, near Philadelphia, last year. She was 18 years old and popular in society.

RUSH METHODS USED ON BUILDING CODE

MILLER HADN'T READ THEM

Manhattan Superintendent Admits It When Asked for an Opinion—Kenneally Overrules Protests.

The same tactics which were employed by Tammany two years ago in forcing the passage of the Building Code which Mayor McClellan came back from his vacation to veto, were put into use yesterday at the first hearing before the Aldermen's Buildings Committee on the new code introduced last week by Alderman Kenneally. He is the representative in the board of Charles F. Murphy's home district and Chairman of the commitee. He brought in the measure just before adjournment at the meeting last Tuesday, and it was not printed and ready for circulation until Thursday. Despite this fact, which caused several representative builders and architects at yesterday's hearing to plead for a postponement of the hearings until they had had time to digest the provisions of the code, Alderman Kenneally bluntly refused their request.

Ernest Flagg, who drew the plans for the Singer Building, made the first plea for delay. He was followed by William Butler, representing the Building Trades Employers' Association.

"We are going to take up the code section by section right now," replied Kenneally. "Do you object to the first section?" It is that which merely names the code.

"I do," replied Mr. Butler, "for the same reason that I object to all the other 143 sections of the code. We ought to be given time to study this document."

"You and Mr. Flagg can submit your objections in writing," ruled Kenneally.

"This is a matter of great magnitude and importance," persisted James A. Allen, who appeared as the representative of several builders. "I think Mr. Flagg's request is a reasonable one, and I believe that he is a man of sufficient standing in the community to have his opinions respected."

"Can't he speak for himself?" asked Kenneally.

"Yes, and so can I!" shouted Allen.

"Now, there is no occasion for us getting into an argument."

"Yes, there is. This is a public hearing, and I protest at the way you are attempting to shut off general discussion here. You are making a farce of the whole matter by this procedure."

"The committee is the best judge of its methods of procedure," replied Kenneally. This settled it, and the hearing proceeded. When the committee arrived at the section dealing with the powers of the Superintendents of Buildings, Supt. Miller of Manhattan was asked if he had any objection to it. "I haven't read it," he replied. Supt. Thatcher of Brooklyn said that he had no objection.

Dudley McGrath, representing the Brooklyn Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, spoke in favor of the section, saying that he is particularly pleased with the clause which compels the Superintendents to publish their decisions and keep a public record of them.

A few moments later a builder asked that the Secretary read a certain section.

"Haven't you it there?" asked Kenneally.

"I can, but it will take me thirty minutes."

"Well, it will take the Secretary just as long."

Several reinforced concrete builders objected to the restriction of this type of building to 100 feet. "I don't see any reason for any limit at all," said J. P. H. Perry, Manager of the Contract Department of the Turner Construction Company. "If a type of construction is safe at 99 feet, why is it not safe at 101 feet or even higher?"

Henry C. Turner, President of the company, and E. M. Vinton, President of Tucker & Vinton, also opposed this section.

"We said we would take it," replied Mr. Vinton, "because you were going to limit us to 85 feet. We took the lesser of two evils."

John Gill, representing the Bricklayers' Union, attacked reinforced concrete, and said that he would file a list of these buildings with the committee which have collapsed in various parts of the country. "I think this committee is taking a great deal of responsibility upon its hands in allowing these buildings to go to 100 feet," said he.

Mr. Turner replied that a great many reinforced concrete buildings have been put up in this city in the last few years and that none of them has collapsed. "There has been some trouble," he said, "in other parts of the country, but it was due to faulty construction, and the buildings collapsed while they were being put up. There never has been a collapse after a building has been turned over completed."

The committee was on the new fire-protection sections when it adjourned for the day. No opposition was made to the clause, which compels the opening outward of all doors to stairways in buildings used for manufacturing purposes.

John J. O'Connell, representing several piano manufacturers, opposed the section which compels the installation of automatic sprinklers in most buildings used for manufacturing purposes. Mr. Kenneally explained that this section has the approval of ex-Fire Chief Croker.

"But he testified before the Commissioners of Accounts two years ago that they were of doubtful efficiency," replied Mr. O'Connell, "and he may have had reason in the last few weeks for changing his opinion."

The hearing will be continued to-morrow.

W. R. Morgan Ill from Paralysis.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 22.—W. Rogers Morgan is very ill at his Summer residence, Tudor Lodge, where he recently arrived from New York for a short visit with his family, intending to sail June 2 for six weeks' visit in England for the coronation and to occupy his home in England, but his plans have been cancelled. A consultation of physicians was called to-night at the request of Dr. Alexander J. Anderson.

Remington Leadership

The Visible Models 10 and 11 and the Remington-Wahl Adding and Subtracting Typewriter

The demand for these latest Remington productions has resulted in the breaking of all Remington sales records, has compelled the Remington Works to operate day and night, has necessitated an immediate extension of the Remington plant, and has led to the expansion of the Remington sales organization to over 500 salesrooms, the vastest typewriter organization in the world.
